RIVER STAND SUBMITTED

Chamber Given Study Findings

National Organization Urged to Oppose Government Power Monopoly

Discrimination Detrimental to Arizona Asserted Before House Committee

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States was advised today by a committee appointed to study the Boulder Canyon dam project of the Colorado River to oppose any legislation not giving to private enterprise such opportunity to develop and distribute power as is provided under the Federal Water Power Act.

This, the chamber was told, to in line with its position that the government should refrain from entering any phases of business which can be successfully carried on by private interests.

A statement issued tonight by the chamber follows:

"A special committee of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States recently was constituted to study the problems involved in the Boulder dam project and report to the chamber's board of directors what if any action it might properly take in connection therewith. This committee now has submitted a report making a recommendation only as to the government's relation to the water power which may be developed and its report now goes to the chamber's board of directors for consideration.

COMMITTEE REPORT

"The report of the special committee follows:

"You have asked this committee to consider proposals which are pending in Congress for a large project on the Colorado River, usually described as the Boulder dam project, and to submit to you our recommendations as to the course which you should take either in inaugurating the chamber's procedure or arriving at a position with respect to subjects on which it as yet has no declared policy or in interpreting existing policies which already have been given to the chamber by the organizations in its membership as these policies may apply to any feature of the project in any of the forms which have recently received prominence.

"Examination of the Boulder dam project discloses its great importance and the purposes of national character which it serves. These purposes involve questions of preparation for adjustment of international relations with Mexico, flood-control and apportionment of such resources, and compensation, if any, to States in respect thereto.

MATTER OF REFERENDUM

"Upon some of the questions which arise in connection with these purposes it might be appropriate under other circumstances for you to have the studies made which are preliminary to the chamber's referendum system. It appears, however, that hearings before Congressional committees are at hand and that the time for legislation decision may arrive before determination of new policies could be completed. For this reason we are not recommending to you that you should begin the procedure leading to referendum as to any of these questions.

"One of the features of the project is of such a nature, however, that we believe and recommend that the board should take action with reference to a policy which already has been de-

MINE BLAST KILLS MORE THAN SCORE

Gas Explosion Blamed for Disaster in Illinois Shaft; Eight Workers Rescued

WEST FRANKFORT (Ill.) Jan. 9. (AP)—Twenty-one miners were killed outright in a gas explosion which wrecked a one-mile chamber in the Industrial Coal Company's Mine No. 18 here today. Twenty-one bodies, burned and mutilated by the force of the blast, were found late today and identified by the numbers on the safety lamps attached to their clothing.

The bodies were located by mine-rescue teams from Herrin, Valier and Benton. The teams, working with gas masks, cut their way through fallen walls more than a mile from the shaft. Officials of the mine said that all employees have been accounted for.

The cause of the explosion is undetermined tonight, and State mine inspectors under the personal direction of A. D. Lewis, director of the Illinois Department of Mines and Minerals, are conducting an investigation.

The position and condition of the dead miners indicated that death was caused by the violence of the explosion, although gas was present in the mine when rescue workers descended.

Eight miners were brought out of the mine alive and uninjured.

Final Tribute Paid to Hughitt

CHICAGO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Every wheel stopped and every employee of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad paused a minute today as tribute to Marvin Hughitt, for fifty-five years an executive of the road, who was buried here.

Not a train moved on the more than 10,000 miles of the system, built up largely through the efforts of Mr. Hughitt. In shops, on trains, in offices and in yards the 60,000 employees interrupted their work to honor the 90-year-old pioneer.

GREEK LOSES ON APPEAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (AP)—A Federal Court order providing that Nonda Caranica, a native of Greece, be deported was affirmed in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here today. Caranica was arrested in a Marysville vice raid recently.

WINNING THE EAST COMPLETELY

First reports from near points East reveal an unprecedented triumph for the 1928 edition of The Times Midwinter Number as the avalanche of copies mailed out from here sweeps on across the nation.

"The whole family is taking turns reading it," writes a Kansan. "Why didn't you tell us this before?" asks a Texan. "Please send a copy to ———," says a letter from Des Moines. "He's got the European bug." And this from Omaha, "A beautiful edition! Makes me want to catch the first train out for California."

Have you overlooked any Eastern friends to whom this superbly pictured story of the West would be equally enjoyable? Six magazines, in rotogravure and colors—hailed everywhere as the greatest exposition of western attractions ever put into print. Extra section contains pictures and full description of Rose Tournament and Stanford-Pittsburgh football game.

FORD PLANS BRAZIL FLIGHT

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Henry Ford announced today that he is planning an airplane trip to Brazil to inspect a rubber plantation which his automobile company will develop as a private enterprise.

While he did not elaborate on the announcement, or set a date for the flight, his son, Edsel Ford, said the plantation is about 800 miles from Para up the Tapajos River, a branch of the Amazon.

Ford's announcement was made during an interview in which he was asked if he were a billionaire. He waved the question aside, saying: "I don't know about that." Pressed to state the amount of his fortune, the magnate shook his head again, saying "I don't know and I don't give a damn."

He said that he is working on the development of a Diesel engine for airplanes. Edsel Ford explained that the Diesel airplane engine at present is planned only on paper, but that a "sample" engine is to be built and tested shortly. This engine, he said, will weigh about a pound and a half a horsepower. His father explained that the goal he is working for along this line is a 1000-horsepower engine, weighing about a pound a horsepower.

The elder Ford declared himself an aviation enthusiast but said he does not believe the airplane will supplant the automobile, adding that each will have its place when transAtlantic flying is established. He said he will make his trips to Europe by airplane.

FORTY RADIO PLANTS OFF WAVE BANDS

California Stations Cited to Federal Board May Get Disciplinary Action

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—Forty California stations are deviating from their assigned radio wave bands and were named in reports forwarded today to the Federal Radio Commission at Washington by Bernard Linden, sixth district supervisor. The deviations were determined in checks conducted at the instance of the national body.

Linden said no disciplinary action was suggested in his report, but suggested that all California stations recheck their bands and if they have no modern type of frequency meter to test their own power to get one at once and avoid possibly severe corrections. Because of the nature of the report and the lack of information as to what the Federal Radio Commission will do, Linden did not make public the names of the stations.

CREDITS TAX ATTACKED

New State Law Basis of Suit

Intangible Property Measure Faces Test Sponsored by Los Angeles Woman

Holdings of Five Billions Over State Affected; Action Friendly

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—Suit to test the constitutionality of the new State law governing taxation of intangible property, including stocks, bonds and solvent credits, and said to involve more than $5,000,000,000 worth of such property owned in California, will begin before the State Supreme Court here on the 17th inst.

Dorothy M. Arnold, Los Angeles taxpayer, as petitioner for an alternate writ of mandate, filed today, contends that the measure passed by the 1927 Legislature conflicts with sections of the Political Code providing for equitable distribution of such taxes to counties, cities and districts where such intangible property is taxed.

FRIENDLY SUIT

The action is a friendly one and was initiated by the California Taxation Improvement Association and filed by Mrs. Arnold with interveners in behalf of several southern municipalities and school districts. It names Ed W. Hopkins, Los Angeles County Assessor, and others, as respondents.

The petition sets forth that the new measure sets an "in lieu" tax rate of $1.45 per $100 valuation on solvent credits, such as book accounts of a merchant, and on foreign securities, stocks and bonds of companies in other States, and mortgages and trust deeds held by California residents on property outside of this State.

Much of this class of property, it is said, was declared following the enactment of a law in 1925 assessing such intangibles at 7 per cent of their value.

DISRUPT MARKET

The 1927 Legislature, advised by Young administration leaders, changed the law to provide for a rate of $1.45 on a 100 per cent valuation of such intangible property. This, if enforced, Mrs. Arnold and assessors throughout the State have pointed out, will more than double the tax of 1926-27. Its effect, it is contended, will be to disrupt the California securities market.

No provision being made for proportionate disbursement of revenues from the tax to cities and school districts, all taxes collected under the new law, its opponents declare, will go directly into county treasuries.

It is on this and similar points that the validity of the latest enactment will be tested by the Supreme Court.

Insane Lawyer 'Crazy Like Fox' Court Declares

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (AP)—After a wait of more than a year the law reached into the insane asylum at Agnew today to bring Charles L. McEnerney, an attorney, to court here to tell how the $100,000 estate of John Quinn, a miner, disappeared.

McEnerney answered all questions put to him in court today concerning numerous legal transactions in which he had been involved before he was committed to the insane asylum, but when the question reached the pivotal point: "What became of the $100,000 estate?" the insane attorney said:

"I am nonplussed. I have no recollection of it whatever."

After Quinn had left the witness stand the court informed a special attorney for the estate that he believed "all the foxes are not in Los Angeles."

The judge expressed the belief that McEnerney is sane and the case was one for the criminal courts.

Will Rogers Remarks:

GARRETT (Ind.) Jan. 9.—[To Editor of The Times:] Just passed through Chicago today. Wanted to go up and see my old friend Mayor Thompson but had had English Breakfast tea for luncheon and was afraid he would smell it on my breath. You can kid about Chicago and its crooks, but they have the smartest way of handling their crooks of any city. They get the rival gangs to kill off each other and all the police have to do is just referee and count up the bodies.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

ANGELENO CHEATS DEATH IN MEXICAN BANDIT DEN

Lyman Barber Tells of Killing Four Guards, Fleeing on Blind Horse and Escaping Kidnap Gang

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 9. (AP)—An adventure story of an American engineer and his faithful Mexican servant getting their bandit kidnapers drunk, killing four of them, and then escaping was related tonight by Lyman F. Barber, Los Angeles mining engineer. Weak and almost at the point of collapse, Barber related his story to friends who were authorized to pass it on to eager newspaper men who were not allowed to enter the sick room.

Barber's once powerful body—he is more than six feet tall—is so shrunken from three weeks of confinement and hardships, and his face so haggard and bearded that he seemed fifteen or more years older than his true age of 35 years. He told his story in rambling, disconnected fashion, even contradicting himself at times. He was unable to talk long at a time or give a connected account of his exploits because of the hardships he underwent.

AMAZING STORY

Earlier in the day Mrs. Barber had refused to talk because of a request by the Mexican government that she not reveal anything which might be construed as military secrets, thereby possibly handicapping Federal troops in efforts to catch the bandits. Later Barber himself gave the story, through intermediaries, of his adventure in killing four bandit guards with stones and an old bottle.

Pieced together, Barber's story was:

"Saturday night my mozo (servant) Pedro, who was kidnaped with me from the Monte Carlo mines near Zacuappam December 15, heard our guards talking among themselves around the campfire in the mountains where we were held prisoners. He signaled me and we overheard them say that their officers had decided Pedro and I would both be killed Tuesday unless our ransom was paid before that time.

DESPERATE PLAN

"Six thousand pesos had already been paid—1000 at one time and 5000 at another—and another 15,000 ($7500) was being demanded.

"When we heard this I told Pedro we would have to make a final desperate effort to escape as soon as possible. We were doomed to die anyhow, and it was better to die fighting if we had to. Pedro, always a faithful servant, agreed.

"I had a bottle of cognac which had been smuggled to me by couriers, who, all during my imprisonment, went back and forth from the bandit camp to the mines to negotiate my release.

"I passed this bottle of cognac around among the four bandits or rebels who were guarding Pedro and me—others of our captors being some distance away wrapping themselves in blankets in preparation for sleep. We sat around the campfire, the guards continuing to drink the cognac until finally all four were drunk. They completely passed out—they lay back on the ground and went to sleep.

SHOTS FIRED AT THEM

"All this time I heard a horse walking about among the dry stalks of an old cornfield near the camp which was upon a mountainside. Every step of the horse crushed the dry stalks, and they sounded to me like pistol shots. My idea was to get that horse as soon as we finished with the guards.

"About 11 o'clock I signaled to Pedro in question as to whether he was ready and he responded 'yes' so we took the cognac bottle from which the guards had been drinking and some large stones and pounded in their heads. We then rushed away into the cornfield. Both Pedro and I jumped upon the horse's bare back and urged him away as fast as possible.

"We were pursued by some of the band from the camp and some shots were fired at us, but we were not hit.

HORSE DIES FROM FALL

"The horse blundered and stumbled about in the darkness and we soon discovered that he was blind; but we rode him as fast as he could go as long as possible. I do not know how long, but it was several hours. The horse then stumbled into a ra-

LINDBERGH IN PANAMA

Air Tourist Gets Royal Welcome

Lands on Field Especially Prepared and Named in His Honor

Still Another Medal Pinned on Breast as Throngs Pay High Tribute

PANAMA, Jan. 9. (AP)—Another triumph awaited the good will ambassador from the United States, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, when he landed on the field here today named in his honor, Campo Lindbergh. He came sailing through space from the direction of Balboa and settled down to earth at 1:51 in the afternoon. It had taken him a little more than four hours to span the distance between San Jose, Costa Rica, and the capital of Panama, 310 miles.

The flying field was well thronged with spectators, who immediately made a rush for the spirit of St. Louis, which taxied swiftly to the grand stand where President Chiari and numerous high officials of the government, Col. Harry Burgess, acting Governor of the Canal Zone, and Brig.-Gen. William S. Graves, commandant of the United States Army forces here, awaited him.

President Chiari took the youth cordially by the hand, saying to him: "Col. Lindbergh, others have secured the liberty of America. You, with your ability of shortening distance, are establishing a basis of fraternity and are bringing together all the American countries on a basis of real understanding."

The President then conferred upon him the National medal.

Through the streets of the city Col. Lindbergh proceeded atop an automobile. Crowds lined the roads and streets for a distance of seven miles and cheered the aviator as he passed. Schoolgirls in white dresses and panama hats, school children in various picturesque attire, firemen in red shirts and white knickerbockers formed a solid wall against the Avenida Central, Panama's main street.

All the shops were closed and the city was in holiday dress with flags flying and bunting adding color to the scene. At the Cathedral Plaza, where the ancient churches stand half hidden by royal palms, Col. Lindbergh was presented with the golden key of the city by the Alcalde, Mario Galindo. The national band played the anthems of the two republics from a flower bedecked kiosk.

HINDU WINS SEATTLE GIRL

American Arrives in Bombay to Wed ex-Maharajah Who Left Throne After Slashing Dancer

LONDON, Jan. 9. (AP)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Bombay says that an American girl, a Miss Miller, has arrived at Bombay for the purpose of marrying the former Maharajah of Indore, whom she met while he was visiting in America. The American Consul is said to have failed in an attempt to dissuade Miss Miller from the marriage, which is to occur at Indore, after which she will adopt the Hindu religion.

In November, 1925, when the former Maharajah was in Salt Lake City, Miss Nancy Ann Miller of Seattle, and her mother were members of the former ruler's party. He was traveling incognito as "Mr. T. Raje."

Recent reports from Bombay that the former Maharajah intended to marry an unnamed American girl brought from the mother, Mrs. Jennie Miller in Seattle, the statement that the match was a possibility. She disclaimed all knowledge of her daughter's plans.

The Maharajah of Indore gained notoriety in January, 1925, when Mumtaz Begum, a dancing girl, was slashed in the face and her escort, a wealthy Bombay merchant, killed by nine Indians, later identified as having connection with the Maharajah's train. Mumtaz had been a former favorite of the Maharajah and it was declared that the Indians were seeking to kidnap her. The incident later led to the abdication of the Maharajah.

Mumtaz Begum was rescued from the kidnapers by the intervention of a party of British officers, who happened to be passing. Later three of the attackers were sentenced to death and four deported. In March, 1926, Mumtaz was married to Abdur Rahman, a wealthy merchant and a municipal commissioner.

MOTHER SAYS PLAN OF DAUGHTER UNDISCLOSED

SEATTLE, Jan. 9. (AP)—Mrs. Jennie Miller, mother of Nancy Ann Miller, who is reported to have arrived in Bombay, where she will marry the former Maharajah of Indore, said here today that she had heard nothing from her daughter in regard to her marital intentions.

Mrs. Miller said she received a letter a week ago from Nancy, written in Southern France, but that the girl had made no mention in the letter of reports she was to marry the Indian Prince. This letter probably was written before she sailed for Bombay.

Several weeks ago when it was first reported that she was thinking of taking the Prince as her husband Mrs. Miller said she had not been told by her daughter of her plans, but that such a marriage would not surprise her.

DELAY GRANTED FOR FALL TRIAL

Oil Case Set for April 2 to Let Him Recuperate

If He Can't Appear, Hearing of Sinclair Will Go On

More Witnesses Appear on Intimidation Charge

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—Retrial of the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy case, growing out of the leasing of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve, was postponed today to April 2. If Albert B. Fall, one of the two defendants, is unable to appear then, the government plans to proceed against Harry F. Sinclair, wealthy oil operator, alone.

Delay of the new trial, which had been set to begin next Monday, was asked by counsel for Fall on the ground that his life would be endangered if he is forced to come to Washington before warmer weather arrives. Fall's attorneys requested a delay until the latter part of May, at least, but Atlee Pomerene, special government prosecutor, opposed this and countered with a proposal that the retrial be set for March 12.

ONE CASE GOES ON

Fall's counsel told the court that he has been out of his home in El Paso, Tex., only once since his return after the mistrial of the oil case here last November. They said he needs two months at his ranch at Three Rivers, N. M., before he will be in condition to come here for trial.

While a date for the new trial was being determined today, Asst. Dist.-Atty. O'Leary, charged with having intimidated witnesses in the criminal contempt proceedings against Harry F. Sinclair, William J. Burns and their four associates, continued to present witnesses intended to disprove the assertions.

A. M. Lowry, a detective sergeant on the Washington police force, testified he shadowed a Burns detective, a witness in the contempt proceedings, at direction of O'Leary. The detective said the Burns man knew he was trying to follow him, so he dropped the surveillance.

Lowry's evidence, brought out on cross-examination, was the first tending to show that the government shadowed any one connected with the mistrial of the conspiracy case or with the contempt proceedings.

INQUIRY ORDERED

Another inquiry into the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve lease was ordered today by the Senate in approving the resolution of Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, directing the Public Lands Committee to investigate the extinct Continental Trading Company, Ltd., of Canada, which figured in the lease.

A bill to transfer to the Navy Department jurisdiction over oil and gas leases issued by the Secretary of Interior on lands in naval petroleum reserve was approved today by the Senate Lands Committee.

Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, introduced the bill at the request of Secretary Work. It does not affect any of the oil leases which have resulted in long litigation.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Mrs. Doris Mercer Kresge today was granted a jury trial of her divorce action against Sebastian S. Kresge, multimillionaire chain store owner, by Supreme Court Justice Levy.

Her motion for a jury trial was uncontested, in keeping with the recent statement of Max Steuer, Kresge's counsel, that his client would not contest the suit.

The stevedores who have been on strike at Corinto, have returned to work pending an investigation by a special committee of their complaints. MARINE PLANE CRASHES IN FLAMES

MANAGUA (Nic.) Jan. 9. (AP)—An American Marine Corps airplane crashed in flames within sight of Gen. Sandino's sharpshoters today.

The plane, piloted by Lieut. Vernon M. Guyman, developed engine trouble over Sapotillal Ridge, scene of the most recent battle between marines and rebels, but was brought down by the flyer without injury to himself or his observer.

EMERGENCY FIELD

The landing took place on the tiny emergency field laid out at Quilali, primarily to enable men wounded in a battle December 30 to be removed through the air instead of being forced to make an arduous trip on mulback over mountain roads to Ocotal, where the nearest fair-sized landing field is situated.

The plane was on observation duty. The observer was Sergt. W. M. Arnold.

Reports of the crash received at headquarters here expressed the belief that the plane had not been struck by bullets from Sandino's sharpshooters.

News of the crash came almost at the same time as publication of a citation for gallantry at Sapotillal Ridge January 1 of Lieut. Merton A. Richal, U.S.M.C., of Minneapolis. Lieut. Richal was cited yesterday for gallantry in the capture of Quilali two days before this second fight.

BRAVE ACTION

Today's citation says that when Lieut. (Sergeant U.S.M.C.) Thomas G. Bruce of the Nicaraguan national guard, commanding the advance guard of reinforcements approaching the captured city of Quilali was killed, Richal, commanding the column, rushed forward into the thickest of the fight personally to direct the action. Richal was shot through the face and totally blinded, but remained at his post in an effort to direct the fire and action of his command until he was forcefully taken to the rear for first aid, when he collapsed.

Charles E. Turner of Terre Haute, Ind., and Herbert B. Lester of Rosehill, Ky., have been promoted from private to corporal for bravery at Sapotillal.

MARINES PURSUE NICARAGUAN DESERTERS

MANAGUA (Nic.) Jan. 9. (AP)—Marines are pursuing ten enlisted men of the Nicaraguan National Guard who deserted Sunday, taking a machine gun, some rifles and some ammunition, it was learned today.

The deserters are led by a corporal who had been punished for a military offense and persuaded the others to join him in an attempt to reach the camp of a Honduran general across the border. They left their organization at Somotillo, a town in the department of Chinandega, near the Honduran frontier.

MARINE TRANSPORT FOGBOUND AT NORFOLK

NORFOLK (Va.) Jan. 9. (AP)—More than 400 men, comprising four companies of the Eleventh Marine Regiment, newly organized for duty in Nicaragua, still are in port here early tonight, their ship fogbound. Their transport, the Ogala, was scheduled to set sail this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, but shortly before that hour the fog swept in from the sea, blanketing the harbor, Chesapeake Bay and the ocean.

clared, and which has been considered by the membership to be so important that it has been reiterated. This is the position that the government should scrupulously refrain from entering any phases of business which can be successfully undertaken and conducted by private enterprise.

ACTION SUGGESTED

"This action on the part of the board should be taken with reference to provisions in any proposed legislation as to the utilization of the water power which will be made available by the project and the distribution of electricity which is generated. We believe that any legislation which is enacted with respect to the Boulder Dam project should expressly and affirmatively provide that all proper effort shall be made to have private enterprise receive such opportunity to generate and distribute power at Boulder Dam as provided for under the Federal Water Power Act as to the utilization of water power at government dams elsewhere in the country and as will be consistent to the other purposes for which this dam will be constructed. The Federal Power Act not only provides for opportunity to private enterprise, but for opportunity to States and their municipalities as well as to the Federal government.

CHAMBER PRINCIPLE

"The committee recommends that the board of directors authorize presentation to committees of Congress considering the Boulder Dam project the opposition repeatedly declared by the chamber's membership to the government undertaking any of the phases of business which can be successfully undertaken and conducted by private enterprises. This presentation should include a suggestion that in any legislative authorization for the Boulder Dam project the power provisions will be contrary to the principle to which the chamber is committed unless they contain clear and distinct recognition that private enterprise is to have the opportunity above described. We also recommend that the board of directors authorize the president of the chamber to take such other action as it deems consistent with its report and desirable."

ARIZONA MAKES DISCRIMINATION CHARGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—The charge that Federal officials in granting power permits on the Colorado River were discriminating against Arizona because of its opposition to the proposed Boulder Canyon dam development was made today before the House Irrigation Committee by H. S. McCluskey of Phoenix, a member of the Arizona-Colorado River Commission.

At the same time the Chamber of Commerce of the United States received from a specially appointed committee a report advising that the organization, in line with its policy of keeping the government out of business that can be carried on privately, oppose any Boulder Canyon legislation not giving private enterprise the opportunity to develop and distribute water power generated there.

STATE BOYCOTT CHARGED

Before the House committee, Mr. McCluskey declared that recently the applications of several Arizona corporations for power permits on the Colorado River had been refused by Federal officials but that the application of a California corporation had been granted. Every effort is being made, he added, to force the Boulder Canyon dam upon Arizona over its protest, even to the extent of a "boycott" against the State.

McCluskey charged that a "pernicious lobby" had been operating in Washington on behalf of the Swing-Johnson bill, aided by Hearst and Scripps-Howard newspapers, and advocated a hands off policy by Congress on all Colorado River legislation until the seven Basin States should agree on a compact.

His argument for this was mainly against California, charging that State with seeking drouth protection under the guise of flood control.

QUESTION OF COST

McCluskey testified after Representative Douglas, Democrat, Arizona, had declared that the "capital structure" was "economically unsound and that the actual cost of the dam would far exceed the $125,000,000 figure proposed by the measure."

He declared that it will be 1942 before there will be a market for the total amount of power that can be generated at the dam and that the price for which this power could be sold would not pay for the cost of the dam, if interest on the initial investment plus maintenance charges were included.

In addition to Douglas's testimony the committee today received from Secretary Work, but did not discuss, the individual reports from four of the five special advisers appointed by him last April to consider various aspects of the proposed Colorado River development. The four advisers are William F. Durand, engineer of Stanford University; former Gov. Seugham of Nevada; Gov. Emerson of Wyoming, and James R. Garfield, a former Secretary of the Interior.

DURAND'S REPORT

The proposed development at the Boulder or Black Canyon site was declared by Durand as the best and first step to make in the general plan of ultimate complete river regulation, control and utilization. He said that, due to seasonal floods, a "definite flood menace" hangs over California's Imperial Valley; that the present methods of levee control cannot be viewed as a permanent or lasting solution; that the proposed all-American canal is a practical engineering project, and that the proposed development at the Boulder site will fit in effectively as an element in the best apparent general plan for the ultimate development of the river as a whole.

Scrugham said that both the "floods and silt menace can best be minimized by the construction of a large dam and reservoir at the lower end of Boulder Canyon at the site called Black Canyon.

"It is the opinion of eminent constitutional authority that the Congress of the United States, through its constitutional prerogative of regulating commerce, has full authority to construct such works of river control without further permission from the interested States," he said. He added that the engineering plans for the all-American canal "appear practical."

Emerson, in answer to Secretary Work as to "whether the Federal government, by control of water rights, has power to allocate the unappropriated waters of the Colorado to the basin States and make unnecessary a compact," replied: "No, except by determination of the Supreme Court of the United States, properly presented." He added that the most feasible site for a high dam is at "Black Canyon, some forty miles from Las Vegas, Nev."

"The present international situation," he continued, "is a menace to the interests of the large area of land now irrigated by Imperial Valley, principally by reason of the agreement entered into many years ago between the Imperial Valley interests and the Mexican corporation.

"The situation has many complications adverse to land in the United States. The best solution of the situation would be the construction of the all-American canal."

Mr. Garfield held that the question for Congress to decide is whether the time now is at hand for authorizing this construction.

POWER PLANT URGED

"I submit that the United States is not justified in constructing a dam solely for flood control," he said, adding that "it is justified in constructing a dam at Boulder Canyon which will impound approximately 26,000,000 acre feet; that it construct a power plant and dispose of the power at a switchboard; that the entire revenue derived from the water users and from the sale of power be first used to repay the United States government its total expenditure, and that the question of action the government will take when that expenditure is repaid be made at the time when that payment is completed."

He said the question of constructing the all-American canal should be left to the Interior Secretary's discretion and that an agreement be made with Mexico "at the earliest possible moment."

The Arizona representative said he had asked the Federal Power Commission for a report on the Swing-Johnson bill and upon the basis of the commission's report he could state that the total amount of power will not find a market until 1949 and that it would be unprofitable to sell power under the plan proposed in the Swing-Johnson bill. He declared that the market for Boulder Canyon power would be confined principally to Southern California and that none of the power would find a market in Arizona.

Kidnapers Foiled in Wild Chase

vine, and died. We were shaken up but unhurt by that particular fall, although my eye was suffering from an injury received previously when thrown from a horse while moving with the bandits from one camp to another.

"After losing the horse Pedro and I tore along on foot as fast as we could. We ran most of the remainder of the night, sometimes, when utterly exhausted, halting for breath.

VILLAGE REACHED

"We reached an Indian village after daylight, where we were treated kindly. We rested a little, asked directions and started afoot again toward Cuernavaca. We reached there Sunday afternoon. I tried to telephone to Mexico City, but failed.

"I then got an automobile and Pedro and I came on to Mexico City, arriving Sunday night."

All references to camp localities and number of rebels and bandits were omitted from the account transmitted to newspaper men because the Mexican government had requested Mr. and Mrs. Barber not to reveal such details. As a matter of fact, Barber was very vague himself as to localities. He knows only that after he was kidnaped he was shunted about from camp to camp in the mountains, and finally escaped from some place not far from where he was kidnaped.

MANY BANDITS

Information from other sources is that about 1200 rebels and bandit forces are in the mountains in the States of Mexico and Guerrera, the region in which Barber was kidnaped. Part of this force is believed to have captured and held him for ransom.

These rebel or bandit troops are commanded by a leader who calls himself Gen. Mendoza. Another outlaw leader, calling himself Gen. Barcenas, is believed by some well-informed authorities to have commanded the forces that actually made the capture, later delivering his prisoner to Mendoza, with an agreement to divide the ransom.

For three weeks, ever since Barber was kidnaped, Federal troops had been skirmishing in the region attempting to locate his captors. The Mexican government has issued orders for renewed efforts by the pursuing Federals.

The American Embassy believes the Mexican government is and has been making every possible effort to locate the band and thinks the Federal campaign will be successful, although it is realized that the undertaking is extremely difficult because of the wildness of the mountain region, where, in many places, it is impossible for troops to make their way in military order.

Barbar had been in Mexico about six months before his kidnaping. He came from Los Angeles as an employee of the Monte Carlo silver mines, owned by a Spaniard, Andres Hernandez, who lives in Mexico City, and in whose home Barber and his wife are staying at present.

Mrs. Barber has a baby about a month old, born here shortly before her husband was captured at the mines. All who have seen Mrs. Barber since her husband's return are filled with admiration for her composure. She is calm and unexcited, and has received official visitors, correspondents, friends, attended her baby and supervised the care of her husband.

Barber may not be able to leave his bed for at least a week and probably will require medical attention much longer. He suffered an abdominal injury while the bandits were taking him as a prisoner from one part of the mountains to another and was forced to continue riding and tramping despite his injury.

The engineer's future plans are in doubt, Mrs. Barber said.

BARBER SENDS NEWS OF ESCAPE TO MOTHER HERE

News that Lyman Fay Barber had escaped Mexican bandits reached Los Angeles in a telegram from Barber to his mother, Mrs. M. A. Barber, 926 West Sixty-second Place, yesterday forenoon. It was sent from Mexico City Sunday and said:

"Escaped last night. Had a most exciting time. Am a physical wreck but only slightly injured. Had to murder four men to keep Mendoza from executing me last Tuesday. Will be in bed here a few days and then make plans for the future. Thank the world for sympathy shown. Love from Fay."

Mrs. Barber was almost beside herself with joy at the good news. Shortly after this message, John W. Luter, attorney for Barber, received a message from Mexico City signed American Ambassador which said:

"Barber escaped Saturday night, arriving safely in Mexico City yesterday."

Barber was in Los Angeles last in August. At that time he took his bride of a year and returned to the Monte Carlo mine. The baby was born there. Mrs. Barber was taken by Indian servants from the mine camp to Mexico City after her husband was made prisoner, according to Barber's mother.

Despite the fact, the mother said, that he was held prisoner, he continued to send mail to her here and received some, including copies of The Times, sent to him by his folks here.

California Law Attack Halted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (Exclusive) The United States Supreme Court today refused to review the case in which Floyd Richardson, convicted of first-degree robbery, attempted unsuccessfully to challenge the constitutionality of the California indeterminate-sentence law.

Richardson came to the tribunal asking a writ of certiorari, but Chief Justice Taft announced the court could find no grounds under which such a writ could be issued. This in effect sustains the action of California courts in holding against Richardson.

The petition in the case contended that Richardson was entitled to a specific prison term as he would have been, it said, if he had been convicted of attempted robbery.

TWO INDICTED ON FEDERAL CHARGES

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9. (AP)—H. K. Beresford, formerly postmaster of Mineral, Tehama county, was indicted today by the Federal grand jury on forgery charges involving a check belonging to an employee of the United States Department of Agriculture. Similar charges were voted against Harsden E. Keyes, Stockton, in connection with a United States Veterans' Bureau check transaction.

NEW CRIMINAL TRAP PROPOSED

State Commission Favors Employing Teletype

Radio Broadcast Station at Capital Advised

Session Considers Measures to Check Outlawry

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—State-wide expansion of the police teletype machine, now in use in Los Angeles and San Francisco, and establishment of a radio-broadcasting station in the State Bureau of Criminal Identification at Sacramento are measures proposed to the California Crime Commission today as a means of reducing major crime. Other suggestions made are that all persons arrested for major crimes be examined by mental experts at once.

The first two proposals were submitted by Duncan Matheson, chief of San Francisco police detectives. The teletype is an instrument which reproduces at distant points descriptions and other data regarding criminals at the same time it is typed at the source. Under existing arrangements in Los Angeles and San Francisco, the teletype functions from central headquarters to all branch stations.

LONG STEP AHEAD

Matheson believes if the system is made State-wide a long forward step will have been taken in acquainting all police officers simultaneously, and with a minimum of time with the essential facts of all major crimes and the suspects sought. In direct proportion will be the efficiency of making arrests, he argued.

As an example he cited the recent flight of William Edward Hickman, Los Angeles slayer and mutilator of Marion Parker. Matheson averred that if the teletype had been in operation at that time, Hickman never would have gone beyond San Francisco. He was here for more than twenty-four hours before he fled north into Oregon and Washington.

The efficiency of the radio broadcast station at Sacramento would be to acquaint all officers immediately of the scientific means of identifying all suspects in event they have previous criminal records. It would enable the immediate transmission of Bertillion measurements and distinguishing marks and serve also to make of every citizen a prospective criminal hunter. In this again the Hickman case was cited as an example of public co-operation never before suspected.

FAVORS APPOINTMENTS

Matheson also recommends the appointment rather than the election of prosecutors.

"As it is," he states, "when a prosecutor steps into office he cannot be ungrateful to those who put him there. Federal judges are able to deal out justice swiftly because they do not have to be careful about whom they offen." He also is opposed to parole, he said. Matheson was the principal speaker.

Police judges who have had a thorough study of sociology and criminology would be of far more benefit than "ambitious lawyers" on the bench, according to the contention of T. B. W. Leland, San Francisco County Coroner.

Examination by doctors and psychiatrists was advocated by William H. Nicholl, adult probation officer for this county.

Atty.-Gen. Webb, a commissioner, stated in that connection that he questions whether leniency should be shown an accused person found mentally deficient, which brought from Nicholl the observation that "all criminals are mentally deficient."

The action taken by the crime commission at the conclusion of its meeting will be forwarded by its chairman, James A. Johnston, former warden of San Quentin prison and Folsom penitentiary, to Gov. Young for submission to the next Legislature.

PANAMA GREETS COL. LINDBERGH

welcome here has been just as friendly and whole-hearted as any I have received at the other capitals of the Central American countries visited before reaching Panama.

I believe it was thirteen years ago when I was 13 years of age that I first came to Panama. In this case thirteen is a lucky number because I have always wanted to come back to Panama.

My first trip by water, over 2000 miles, took seven days from New York without stops on the way. This time, coming via airplane, my actual travel time has been about two days and I have visited Mexico, British Honduras and five Central American capitals and have traveled over 4000 miles.

I left Costa Rica this morning. I soon passed over Cartago and then encountered low-lying clouds which covered the tops of the mountains. Due to these clouds I had to follow the valley of the Reventason River, which took me twenty miles north of my course, before reaching lower ground.

MET BY AIR ESCORT

The next point I recognized was Almirante. Then I flew across the Chiriqui Lagoon and Bocas Del Toro. Striking the Atlantic Coast at Mosquito Bay, I followed the shore line about twenty miles; then struck across country toward Panama.

By this time the country changed, and was less wild and broken. The small plantations and palm-thatched huts became more numerous, and were always in view nearing Panama. I passed between Gatun Lake and Chorrera, seeing Taboga Island in the distance in Panama Bay.

Near Panama I met the escort of several squadrons of army and navy planes. I circled over Panama three times and then flew to the field.

Although my plane has done 407 hours of flying the engine apparently is in perfect condition. But before leaving Panama it will be inspected thoroughly again.

I appreciate the cordial receptions I have received at all the capitals I have visited, and especially in Panama, where there are many of my own people.

I was pleased to accept the invitation of President Chiari to fly to Panama, and I am glad to be here today because of the close and cordial relations between our countries. The Panama Canal has established relations between Panama and the United States that always will be very close, and I hope always will be friendly.

HAS AIR POSSIBILITIES

Many people know too little about the Canal and too many do not know any more about Panama. Not many people appreciate the part Panama played in making the Canal possible. Much credit is due the co-operation of Panama in the building of the Canal and the co-operation that has made its operation as successful as the feat of building it.

In the future when big airplanes are built, flights through Central America, like the one that has brought me here, will be made regularly. Then air tourists may not be uncommon.

I am sure that such tourists would find few trips more interesting and more entertaining than the one I have just completed in the Spirit of St. Louis.

EIGHTEEN PRISONERS RUN AWAY

Guards of County Gang Overpowered; Sixty-two Refuse to Make Break

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—Apparently by prearrangement, eighteen of the eighty prisoners in the county camp in Lytle Creek Canyon escaped early today. The prisoners overpowered the three guards on duty when Supt. Welst was in San Bernardino for a conference with Sheriff Shay, and fled down the canyon.

More than a score of officers from the sheriff's office immediately were assigned to rounding up the prisoners, all serving sentences for misdemeanor offenses.

According to word received by the sheriff, sixty-two of the inmates of the camp, all of whom are employed in building county roads, refused to flee. The law provides imprisonment in the penitentiary for escaping from prison camps.

Two Murderers Sent to Chair

BELLEFONTE (Pa.) Jan. 9. (AP)—Raymond Winter and William Meyers at the Rockview penitentiary today paid the death penalty for murder.

Winter, a street-car motorman of Pittsburgh, was executed for the slaying of Helen and Alex Sabo, two children found in a creek with fractured skulls.

Officers of Paulding Tell Version of Crash

Life Saver Death Agent by Irony of Fate

BOSTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—A picture of the collision that drove the submarine S-4 to the bottom of Provincetown Harbor on December 17 was painted today for the naval court of inquiry investigating the disaster by two eyewitnesses. They were Lieutenant-Commander John S. Bayliss, commander of the Coast Guard destroyer Paulding, which rammed the submarine, and Ensign C. M. Phannemiller, officer of the deck on the Paulding.

Commander Bayliss closed his testimony with an address to the court in which he referred to the irony of his position as a Coast Guard officer concerned in a disastrous collision.

"I feel deeply concerned over this accident, as my whole life has been devoted to saving life and property at sea," he said. "When a thing of this kind happens, the first in my experience, I cannot help but feel it deeply."

STORY OF CRASH

Ensign Phannemiller, the first man on board the destroyer to sight the periscopes of the submarine cleaving the water as the Paulding rounded the buoy marking the outer end of the measured mile of the Provincetown trial range, reconstructed the accident, using wooden models of the two vessels involved.

Manipulating the models on a table set before the three members of the naval court, the youthful officer, who left the Coast Guard school last February to join the Paulding, told the story of the few seconds which elapsed between his sighting of the periscopes only 200 feet distant, one point off the port bow, and the crash already described by Commander Bayliss.

The Paulding was putting into Provincetown to identify two sailing vessels sighted in the blight of the harbor, Phannemiller said. At 3:33 o'clock the course was changed to round the buoy marking the outer end of the trail course and to proceed parallel with that range.

PERISCOPE ARISES

"At 3:37," the witness said, "I sighted an object one point on the port bow. It was brown in color, as if weatherbeaten. It might have been a stake or a marker such as fishermen use for nets. There were two sticks about two feet apart and my first impression was that they were stationary. The water was choppy with whitecaps.

"Immediately upon sighting the object I gave the order, 'Right full.' Then I identified the sticks in my own mind as the periscopes of a submarine. They were projecting from the water about two feet but they rose as we approached until they were up four or five feet."

"I jumped back behind the helmsman to the starboard engine-room telegraph and signaled 'Full astern.' The captain had already signaled on the other telegraph. I started out on the wing of the bridge to see as much as possible. Before I got there I could see that we were getting closer. I saw the periscopes at a distance of about seventy-five feet still on the port side.

"I started to the starboard side to ring the general alarm but the captain had already done that. But I saw the clearing wires of the submarine breaking water on the starboard bow. One second later the impact came. Then I saw what I believed to be the extreme tip of the stern disappear on the port side between the forecastle and the No. 1 stack of the Paulding. My impression was that the submarine went down at an angle."

The witness said that the crash was a "solid hit" which almost threw him off balance. The Paulding rose by the bow and then began to settle. He first was sent by the captain to ascertain how much water the destroyer was taking in and then he was sent out with the destroyer's whaleboat to search for possible survivors and wreckage.

The third witness heard today was Rear-Admiral L. A. Bostwick of Washington, chief of the Board of Inspection and Survey. He testified as to the orders under which the S-4 was carrying out standardization trials on December 17. He said that he never had had any specific duties in connection with submarines and that Lieutenant-Commander W. F. Callaway, who lost his life on the S-4, was the submarine member of the inspection board.

SENATE STAND ON DIGNITY BLOCKS INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—The administration's plan for an investigation of the S-4 disaster by a special Presidential commission, which was approved Saturday by the House, encountered such determined opposition today in the Senate Naval Committee that further consideration of it was deferred until Thursday.

While approving the naming by the President of a commission to study improved methods for the protection of submarines and their crews, leading Democrats on the committee objected to what they termed the Senate abdicating its own function of investigating matters coming under administration of executive departments.

DEMOCRATS OBJECT

Senator Swanson of Virginia, the ranking Democratic member, and Senator Walsh of Massachusetts were particularly outspoken in their criticism of Secretary Wilbur for suggesting to Congress that a special commission and not a committee of the House or Senate inquire into the sinking of the S-4.

While the Senate Naval Committee was considering the resolution of inquiry, the bodies of two officers who lost their lives when the Coast Guard destroyer Paulding rammed and sank the S-4 were buried in Arlington National Cemetery with the highest military honors. They were those of Lieutenant-Commander R. K. Jones, commanding officer, and Lieut. Joseph McGinley.

DIVERS HAMPERED BY SNOW IN AIR LINES

PROVINCETOWN (Mass.) Jan. 9. (AP)—An oil-stained gas mask and a heavy jacket worn by submarine men in bad weather floated to the surface and were recovered today when divers, working on the sunken Submarine S-4, pried open the hatch leading to the motor compartment and entered that section of the ship.

Although the divers believe more bodies of the crew may be found in the motor compartment, none was recovered today. Diver Thomas Campbell entered the compartment but was able to remain inside only about ten minutes when he reported difficulty with his air lines caused by the formation of snow from the excessive moisture in the air. Operations then were suspended for the day.

Court Annuls Adoption of Young Woman, Paving Way for Marriage of Marland and ex-Ward

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9. (AP)—On the ground of "good and personal reasons," Miss Lydie Roberts Marland, adopted twelve years ago by E. W. Marland, wealthy oil operator, whom she will marry shortly, today had the adoption annulled by Common Pleas Court.

The engagement of Miss Marland, now Miss Roberts, became known last week. She is 26 years of age and was a niece of Mr. Marland's wife, who died in 1926.

In her petition for annulment she set forth she was adopted by Mr. Marland and his wife, Mary Virginia Marland, in 1916, principally because of her love and affection for her aunt and the desire to live with her. Since Mrs. Marland is dead the principal reason for the adoption no longer exists.

GIVE GOOD HOME

It also was stated in the petition of adoption that Mr. Marland and his wife could give the girl, then 16 years of age, more advantages than if she remained with her own parents. At the time the young girl became a foster-daughter her brother, George Roberts, then 18, also was adopted.

He is a director in the Marland Oil Company.

The petition for annulment was handed directly to Judge J. Willis Martin, president judge of Common Pleas Court No. 5, last Friday. No public announcement was made until this afternoon, when the annulment was placed on public record.

BLOCK COMPLICATIONS

"The "good and personal reasons" also given in the petition for annulment are said to be a desire to have the marriage take place without any legal complications. It is said there might be some misunderstanding or confusion if identical surnames of the contracting parties appeared on the marriage record and the same document included the relationship under the adoption decree.

Mr. Marland is the brother-in-law of Miss Roberts's mother, Mrs. George V. Roberts. Mrs. Roberts lives with her husband at Flourtown, just outside of Philadelphia.

LONDON OUT OF PERIL BY TIDAL BORE

Thames Board Believes River Will Subside to Normal After Today

LONDON, Jan. 9. (AP)—The port of London authority announced this evening that no further overflow of the River Thames need be expected if the rain and wind hold off. The river, it is believed, will subside to normal after tomorrow.

Thousands of persons paraded the banks of the Thames through London this afternoon at high tide and watched the swollen stream as it lapped near the top of the reinforced defenses. The water retired without renewing the violent torrent of Saturday, when fourteen persons were drowned.

For many hours gangs of men had been at work piling bags of sand along the threatened district of Grosvenor Road, and as a protection for the Famous Tate Gallery. At 3 a.m. the tide reached its flood and receded without damage. The residents along the Thames side went off to rest with the knowledge that they would not be menaced by the waters for another twelve hours. And again the danger passed.

While the refugees, mostly the poor, who were routed in terror from their homes, returned to dig among the wreckage and slime for their belongings today, the borough mayors under the central Lord Mayor organized a relief fund. Several thousand pounds sterling already have been contributed for the aid of the destitute, both the King and the Queen forwarding contributions from the royal purse.

That the North Sea, rather than flood waters, was responsible for the disaster is advanced by Lord Desborough, chairman of the Thames Conservancy Board. Explaining his view, Lord Desborough said: "What happened was that the tidal Thames almost amounted to a tidal bore rushing in from the North Sea."

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Irving Robinson of San Francisco, and N. R. Cordish of Los Angeles were arrested here today by police detectives on complaint of the State Corporation Commissioner who said the pair continued to operate a brokerage house without a license after they had been warned against such a practice.

The men have been operating the Stock and Bond Guarantee Company with offices in Los Angeles, Pasadena, Bakersfield and San Francisco, officers said.

Prisoner Wins Slander Suit

BOSTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—Jesse Pomeroy, Massachusetts' oldest life prisoner, was awarded $1 damages today by the Suffolk county jury which heard his $5000 suit against Alice Stone Blackwell, leader in women's movements.

The suit was based on Miss Blackwell's charge that he had been cruel to animals during his fifty-one years of confinement in State prison.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (AP)—The East Side Canal and Irrigation Company filed an application here today with the Railroad Commission for permission to sell water rights near Herndon, Fresno county, to the Southern California Edison Company for $300,000. The company is a Miller & Lux concern.

FIRE DAMAGES PLANTS AT MOUNTAIN VIEW

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Fire, believed to be incendiary, damaged to an extent estimated at $100,000 plants of the Mountain View Manufacturing Company, Foothill Canning Company and Earl Minton's box shook factory at Mountain View today. In the Foothill Canning Company's warehouse about $40,000 worth of canned fruit was stored. This was damaged.

TWO MURDERERS IN VANCOUVER HANGED

VANCOUVER, Jan. 9. (AP)—The double execution of Kenneth R. Bailey and Tuichi Yaoki took place at Oakalla Jail here today. Bailey was hanged for the murder of Charles Jury at Trail, B. C., in June, and Yaoki for the murder of a Japanese woman in Vancouver last fall.

WOMEN APPROVE DRY DEMOCRATS

National League Denounces Wet Candidates

Jackson Day Dinner Will Denote Line-up

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—Resolutions pledging support to candidates for public office who are friends of the prohibition amendment and urging a widespread educational undertaking with respect to what is termed the "present dangerous conditions" arising from corrupt politics were adopted today by the National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement League.

Another resolution which received approval recommended the league send a deputation to the Democratic National Committee to urge that "only men who have clear records for observance and enforcement" of the laws be considered at the coming national convention in connection with negotiations for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency.

Prohibition and its relation to national politics was the principal topic of discussion at today's session. Several speakers declared the Democratic party will be ruined by the nomination of a "wet" candidate for the Presidency.

Col. Patrick H. Callaghan of Louisville, Ky., outlined improvements in the industrial world which he said are traceable to prohibition. He quoted Secretary Hoover as saying the law has resulted in a 10 per cent increase in the individual productivity of labor throughout the country.

Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson of Maryland, president of the league, in her keynote address, asserted the Democratic women had before them an opportunity to emphasize their independence by prevailing on the leaders of the party to select a dry Presidential candidate.

Other speakers included former Senator Owen of Oklahoma, Mrs. Edward Thurman Smith of Missouri, Dr. David Mitchell of Tennessee, and Mrs. J. T. Bloodsworth of Texas.

CONVENTION CITIES PLAN SKIRMISH AT JACKSON DINNER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—The Democratic national headquarters here has been flooded with more applications for attendance at the Jackson Day dinner Thursday night than it can accommodate, and is preparing for a battle between the six cities which today appear major contenders for the 1928 convention.

About 1200 Democratic adherents will be on hand to hear a group of leaders define their outlook for the party, virtually all Democrats mention as Presidential possibilities being slated to speak except Gov. Smith of New York.

The backbone of this audience will be composed of minority members of the Senate and House and their party workers in home districts. Aside from these more than 5000 requests for seats at the traditional dinner have been sought in vain.

An effort will be made, it was apparent today, to strike a harmonious keynote for the forthcoming campaign, and especially to make recurrence of the prolonged deadlock in 1924 impossible. The outcome of this is expected to have a bearing on the real business of the national committee, selection of a convention city, which is expected to begin Friday.

Clem Shaver, national chairman, said today that "some corking good bids," will be made, but refused to anticipate the outcome. San Francisco, Cleveland and Detroit have all been mentioned, and Miami is reported to be raising more than $200,000.

WESTERN SMITH BOOMERS START ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

TWIN FALLS (Idaho) Jan. 9. (AP)—Democrats of four and possibly five western States represented in the Smith-for-President Club, will instruct their delegates to stand by Al Smith in the Democratic convention next summer.

This was the opinion of W. H. Chapman, Idaho member of the general committee of the club and other members of the clubs' executive committee meeting here today to plan a campaign to round up the Democrats in the Smith movement.

Representatives of Utah, Idaho, Wyoming and Montana branches of the Smith club pledged attendance at the meeting here. The club was organized at Ogden last fall and a boom started for Smith.

Colorado representatives were expected but had not pledged attendance.

SOUTH DAKOTA GOING DEMOCRATIC, GOVERNOR SAYS

OMAHA, Jan. 9. (AP)—About the most worthwhile result of the President's visit to the Black Hills was the advertising South Dakota received, W. J. Bulow, Governor of that State, today told politicians gathered here to attend a Jackson-day banquet.

Gov. Bulow prophesied South Dakota will go Democratic at the next general election.

Remus Becomes Member of Choir

LIMA (O.) Jan. 9. (AP) — George Remus, acquitted by a Cincinnati jury of slaying his wife Imogene and committed to the State Hospital for the Insane here, has entered into life at the institution as a model inmate and is proving popular with other members of his ward, according to Supt. Vorbau.

He joined the choir yesterday, his first Sunday there.

"BREAKFAST TWINS" ASSURED OF MEALS

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Warren Larson, 60 years of age, and Fred Thompson, 65, known to the police as "the breakfast twins," were sentenced to sixty days in the County Jail today by Police Judge Lazarus. It is asserted the two men got their breakfast every morning by stealing milk and doughnuts from doorsteps.

Mackenzie of Collon Airport will leave in a few days for Denver to get an Eagle Rock plane which Mr. Scott has purchased. When Pain Comes
Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

Announcement
California Botanic Garden

AS THE RESULT of an idea conceived some forty years ago to make Los Angeles the home of a great botanical institution, the California Botanic Garden has been created. In January, 1927, the civic, scientific and educational forces, which had collaborated in furthering the movement, formed Garden Foundation, Incorporated. Through purchase and donation, three thousand two hundred acres of land in and contiguous to Mandeville Canyon were acquired by the Foundation. A Trust was drawn dedicating in perpetuity eight hundred acres of the floor and slopes of Mandeville Canyon to the sole uses of the California Botanic Garden. The remaining two thousand four hundred acres were set aside as an endowment fund from which development and maintenance costs of the Botanic Garden are to be met. The Trustee, Metropolitan Trust Company of California, is charged with Administration of the Garden properties for the benefit of the California Botanic Garden. Development work was immediately begun and has continued over the past eight months.

Garden Foundation, Incorporated, is a non-stock, non-profit corporation chartered by the State of California for educational and scientific purposes. Its duties deal with the sponsorship and business transactions of the California Botanic Garden. The personnel of its Board of Governors emphasizes the sincerity of its objects and purposes.

Mandeville Canyon, located on the illustrative map, was selected as site of the Botanic Garden as a result of careful research.

This canyon's area provides the physical and climatic conditions essential for assembling and growing botanical specimens from tropic, sub-tropic and temperate zones. Furthermore, the canyon site is easily accessible to metropolitan Los Angeles, adjoins the site of Occidental College and is but three miles from the new University of California at Los Angeles. The Foundation owns its properties in fee simple. Resources in excess of one million dollars mark the present financial strength of the Foundation.

The California Botanic Garden, with ownership of two thousand four hundred acres of land in excess of actual Botanic Garden needs, should become the most richly endowed institution of its kind in the world under the present organization plan. The plan provides for support of the Botanic Garden entirely from conversion of the endowment acreage. Conversion of the land endowment into a cash endowment will take place as the needs of the Garden may dictate.

In no phase of this conversion, is there any profit to individuals. The project is entirely of a community nature, the far reaching benefits of which will be shared nationally and internationally. The first step has been taken toward conversion of Botanic Garden endowment acreage. Details of the Garden, its plans and personnel may be had upon request from the offices of Garden Foundation, Inc. An illustrated folder, depicting the Botanic Garden of tomorrow, is now available for anyone who may be interested.

NEVERS, IMLAY DUE HERE SOON

Coast Grid Stars to Play Grange's Yankees

Former California Captain May Steal Show

BY BRAVEN DYER

Two of the greatest football players the West has produced will be in Los Angeles soon. They are Ernie Nevers of Stanford fame and Talma "Tut" Imlay, the former California captain. The two gridiron stars head what is known as the Nevers - Imlay Giants and they are coming to oppose Red Grange's Yankees in next Sunday's professional game at Wrigley Field. As a result of last Sunday's exhibition at the local apple orchard it is expected that more than 30,000 fans will be on hand this week-end to see what the battered Yankees can do with the Giants. The Yankees took their second beating in as many starts, George Wilson's wild-eyed Wildcats trimming Grange and Company at San Francisco a week ago and then repeating the dose here Sunday. Naturally, the Yankees are in no playful mood, and Coach Ralph Scott will have them hard at work today in an effort to properly prepare them for Nevers and Imlay.

Last Sunday's game was one of the toughest battles ever staged here, and the fans were yipping and yelling nearly all afternoon. It was more like a college contest than any pro game ever staged here, the bugs displaying plenty of enthusiasm.

Nevers has a tremendous following in these parts and thousands of fans will undoubtedly be on hand today just to see what Ernie can do with the Yankees. Imlay is the same type of player as "Rabbit" Maranville, whose sensational runs and

BOXING GAME TAKES SLUMP IN CALIFORNIA DURING 1927

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—The boxing game in California took a decided slump in 1927, according to figures of the year made public today by Walter Yarwood, secretary of the State Athletic Commission. During the year, 1,897,510 people paid $2,452,934.61 to see 1039 fight shows, as compared to 1,721,388 fans who paid $2,329,102.07 to see 1153 shows in 1926.

The receipts for the State commission for 1927 total $135,273.72 as against $146,294.80 in 1926.

The commission's report does not attempt to account for the falling off in public interest in fights.

PYLE'S TRANSCONTINENTAL FOOT RACE MARCH FOURTH

"March forth March fourth!"—that's "Cash and Carry" Pyle's notice to the many athletes who are planning to participate in the "Bunion Derby," a transcontinental run of 3400 miles from Los Angeles to New York. Such was the announcement made yesterday by the ironhatted manager of the Red Grange Yankee pro footballers. The news was broadcast by the popular promoter at a joint buffet luncheonette and gabfest at the Ascot speedway. At the same time Harian Pengler, very youthful racing impresario, told his hearers that Ralph De Palma, veteran motor pilot, and George Souders, winner of the last Indianapolis race, will stage a gasoline duel at Ascot Sunday for money, marbles or chalk—the attendance determining the stakes.

C. C. PYLE

Mr. Pyle stated that the runners would start from the Ascot speedway in Los Angeles and finish at the Yankee Stadium in New York. Each contestant will be required to run from forty-five to seventy-five miles a day and will rest at control stations to be established along the route.

Secretary of State Jordan and Undersheriff Biscailuz were honored guests at the Ascot meeting. William Pickens, demon publicist for the Pyle organizations, in a brief speech, asked the newspaper men present to amputate his middle name, Hickman, in the future articles. The noted Saturday Evening Post contributor has also engaged a tree surgeon to operate on the Hickman branch of the Pickens tree, it was disclosed.

George M. (for Morris) Adair, member of the contest board of the A.A.A. was the only silent person present.

The drivers were winding up yesterday afternoon for Sunday's Ascot auto races while the athletes were running down for Pyle's $50,000 international circus of flying feet.

Jake Schaefer Leads Cochran

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Jake Schaefer led Welker Cochran, 600 to 508, at the conclusion of the second block of their 3000 - point 18.1 balkline billiard match here tonight. The play consumed twenty-five innings, in the afternoon block Schaefer was victor by 300 to 146, having a high run of 105 in the first inning. Both players had high runs of 91 in the evening block.

WELKER COCHRAN

Wales Wins at Own Game

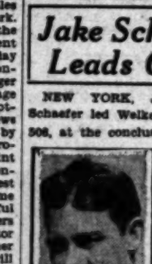
MELTONMOWBRAY (Eng.) Jan. 9. (AP)—The Prince of Wales, deprived of his favorite pastime because restrictions to prevent spread of foot-and-mouth disease have banned hunting in Leicestershire, today originated a promising substitute for the entertainment of his hunting friends.

Wales organized a mounted paper-chase course of almost four miles over ideal country, mapped with paper signals affixed to hedges. Thirty riders participated in the novelty. Speedy changes of mounts were made at the halfway stage and toward the end of the course the run developed into a steeple-chase race in which the Prince excelled. He won in an exciting finish by a scant half-length.

The new sport was pronounced decidedly enjoyable.

Hawaiian Dons Giant Uniform

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—For the first time in history of the game, a Hawaiian may cavort about the infield of a major-league club next summer.



The New York Giants announced today that they had agreed to give William T. (Buck) Lai, a tryout during the spring training season. Lai formerly played with the University of Hawaii and showed great skill when his college team made a tour of the United States several years ago. He was signed by the Bridgeport club of the Eastern League, but later was released.

Just Another Golfing Story

WAXAHACHIE (Tex.) Jan. 9. (AP)—A remarkable golf story was being told here today.

Arthur Curry, druggist, and Floyd Carroll, grain dealer, played a two-some at the country club. At the eighth tee a considerable drive is required to clear a lake. Curry cleared it.

When Carroll smacked the pellet the ball struck the water, bounced twelve times on the surface of the lake, in its swift flight and landed in the fairway beyond.

Joe Dundee in Win Over Reno

HOLLYWOODERS PLAY TROJANS

Injuries Force Kearney and George to Quit

Calland Works Quintet for California Tilt

Minus the services of Coach Chuck Kearney and Bud George, star forwards, the Hollywood Athletic Club five faces Coach Leo Calland's Trojans in the U.S.C. pavilion tonight at 8 o'clock.

LEO CALLAND

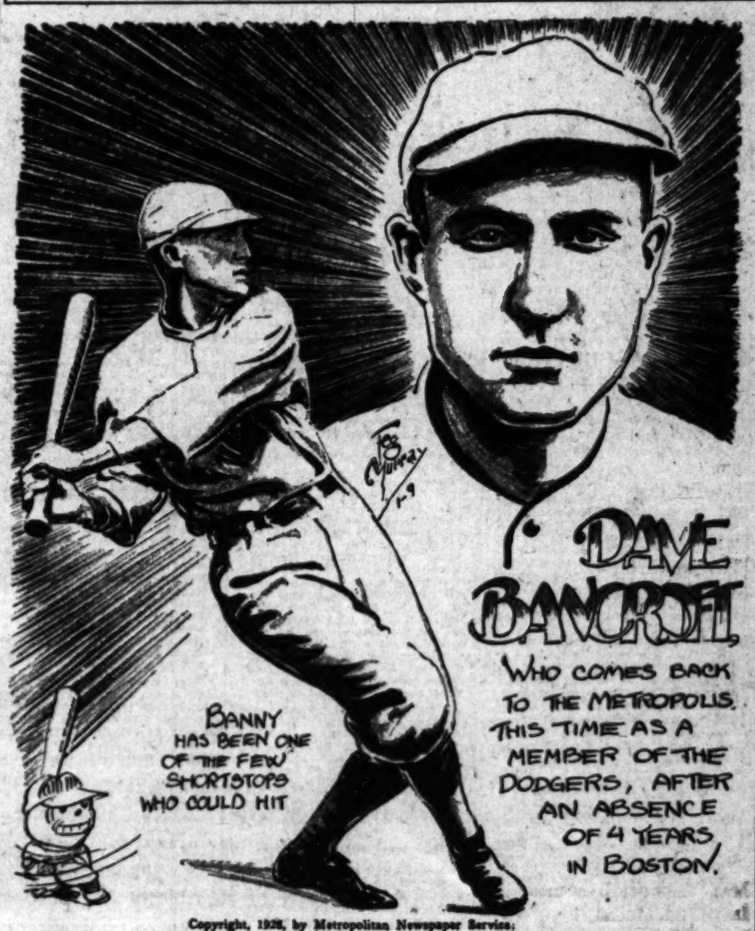
George is suffering from a badly twisted wrist and Kearney chafed his legs with the result that both stars will watch the game from the bench. George Millnard and George Harris will replace them.

The Trojans are all tuned up for the game which will be their last practice tilt before they tackle Coach Nibs Price's University of California five on the Olympic floor Saturday night. Calland has a title contending team in the making despite a recent set back at the hands of the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Calland will probably start his regular line-up with Jess Mortenson and Lowry McCaslin, forwards; Tommy Lewis and Johnny Lehners, guards, and Jack Bruner, center. Bruner may play forward in which case Mortenson will be pivot man. With the exception of the forwards, Hollywood will line up as usual with Kenny Pagans at center and Gene Dorsey and Jimmy Armstrong, guards.

The Trojans should be ready to go tonight after their recent trimming and they will be favored to take the clubmen down the line. Capt. Bruner has been playing a pretty game as a forward and Johnny Lehner's work at guard has been outstanding. The Trojans have a smooth passing team and may even upset the dope and give the Bears a close battle.

BROOKLYN'S BANNY - - By Feg Murray



Copyright, 1928, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service.

Banny, having been banned to the Beantown Braves for the space of one Olympiad, is coming back to the Big Town, this time to play for Brooklyn. You can't say that Dave was a great success as a manager, but, then, who is there who could do anything with those Bobbling Bostonese?

During Banny's four-year regime as boss, the once great Hub machine finished in last, fifth, seventh, and seventh positions. Bancroft himself batted .279 in 1924 (the year he was laid up so much of the season,) .317 in 1925, .311 in '26, and .342 last year. But Dave gave the leading clubs in the league a merry time of it each season, it seeming to be Boston's chief delight in knocking off the pennant contenders just when they thought they were about to have

DALLAS ACTION IS RESCINDED

Methods of Former Years to be Continued

"Modified Draft" Plan Still to be Employed

Minor Leaguers Protected in Sale of Stars

CHICAGO, Jan. 9. (AP)—The draft war among the minor leagues came to a sudden end today. The resolution adopted at Dallas last month, ordering the five big minor leagues to cease their "modification" of the draft, was rescinded by unanimous vote of delegates, representing all the minors, both big and little.

JUDGE LANDIS

Today's resolution, in addition to annulling the Dallas action, provided that the methods of former years should continue during the incumbency of Kennesaw Mountain Landis as baseball's $65,000-a-year commissioner.

Commissioner Landis did not attend the meeting today and neither did the various major-league representatives who conferred with the minor-league magnates before the executive session began.

In less than two hours the five big minors—International, Pacific Coast and Three-Eye leagues and the Southern and American associations, had presented their opposition to the Dallas resolution and had won their right to continue under the modified draft. This system permits the major leagues to draft only those players who have come down from the major leagues, and protects the clubs of the big five in possession of their rookies they have developed themselves—for sale to the majors at fancy prices.

President Thomas J. Hickey assembled the American Association club owners this morning to agree upon their stand. Cowed by the threat of the major leagues, the little minors did not insist upon any concessions in the peace terms but voted to go back to the former system.

The major leagues had served notice that peace must be effected between the big five and the little minors by the 16th inst., or the major-minor agreement would become a scrap of paper and the minors would lose the protection of Commissioner Landis's authority.

The only public notice the commissioner took of the minor meeting was to send a list of suggestions which the major leagues adopted at their meeting last month which the minors promptly adopted. The suggestions provide, among other things, a three-year suspension for any umpire or official caught "spotting" for a club in his league, and permanent suspension for any player, umpire or official found betting on baseball games.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWER

AFTER hearing about the thunderous deeds of the pro footballers at Wrigley Field the other day it will be unnecessary for "Cash and Carry" Pyle to submit any further publicity this week about the clash between the Grange eleven and the Nevers-Imlay Giants next Sunday.

Each of the 10,000 who attended the Grange-Wilson game last Sunday will have his brother or somebody else's brother along for the forthcoming struggle, which will enable "Cash and Carry" to cut down on his publicity agent's salary and enable the newspapers to conserve space. Of course, I haven't talked to "Cash and Carry" about this matter, but when the saving features are pointed out to him his fine Scotch nature undoubtedly will cause him to react heartily to the schmee. You know, when it comes to football games "Cash and Carry" is a tough loser, so tough that he will bet his brother's spart shirt on the outcome of the battle. And the funny part is that "Cash and Carry" didn't figure to lose any games out on the Coast. After the pro season closed back East he cut adrift the guys who hadn't showed much on his club and signed star players from other clubs. As a result he has a swell eleven, but so far the boys haven't got any breaks, and dropped a close 6-0 game to Wilson's Wildcats in San Francisco and the one Sunday, 7 to 0, when Rabbit Bradshaw ran back an intercepted pass.

The loving friends of the boxing game will be glad to know that it has been saved for another year, at least. Harry Carr, stern critic and an A-1 expert dating back to the days of long-distance bouts, has finally been convinced that the fights are getting better.

He went out to Hollywood the other night, and his soul was appeased by a savage battle between a crafty Jew and a determined Irishman. In this case Sammy Rothstein, a little Hebrew southpaw with the cunning of his race, took the measure of Mickey Erno, who lived up to all the traditions of the fighting Irish by refusing to admit he was licked. Incidentally, Harry

DUCKS PICK SANTA ANA

The Portland baseball club of the Pacific Coast League is to hold their 1928 spring training camp in Orange county, according to announcement made by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. The club is to train at the Orange county fair grounds for a period of six weeks.

According to members of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, who are handling the details, Manager Ernie Johnson of the Portland club is bringing about thirty-five or forty stars to the spring camp. They are scheduled to arrive not later than February 15, next.

A number of practice games will be played by the Portland club while they are in Orange county. Two series with major league clubs have been arranged. One series is to be played against the Chicago Cubs, who train yearly at Catalina and the other is to be played against the Pittsburgh Pirates, last year's National League champions, who will hold their 1928 spring training at Paso Robles.

Members of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday that, before final contracts were signed with officials of the Portland Baseball Club it was necessary to guarantee the club $5000 for training expenses. This fund was promptly raised, however, and all details concerning the arrangement have been completed.

DR. OTTO PELTZER, GERMAN DISTANCE STAR, VISITS HERE

Dr. Otto Peltzer, famous German distance runner, is here in Los Angeles for a short visit in the interest of athletics in his native land. Peltzer arrived here yesterday and immediately repaired to the Los Angeles Athletic Club, where he was welcomed by a delegation of local A.A.U. official and clubmen headed by Charley Keppen, athletic director of the Mercury organization.

Peltzer went to Bovard Field in the afternoon and worked out with Charley Paddock, L.A.A.C. star while a large crowd of track bugs looked on. Peltzer may remain here a day or so but his present plans call for a visit to Stanford University tomorrow. Boyd Comstock, L.A.A.C. track coach, was among those at Peltzer's workout at Bovard Field and the local mentor seemed much impressed with the German star's form. Peltzer has conquered Pavo Nurmi and Edwin Wide in track duels and is considered the best runner in Europe today. He holds the world's records for 500 meters, 1m. 3 2-5s.; 800 meters, 1m. 51 3-5s.; 1000 meters, 2m. 34 4-5s., and 1500 meters, 3m. 51s.

BEARS GET OFFER FOR PENN GAME

Quakers Want to Play California in East in 1929

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9. (AP)—Another football duel between the University of California and the University of Pennsylvania is sought by Ernest B. Cozens, graduate manager of athletics at Pennsylvania. The game would not be in the Golden Bears' back yard, but at Franklin Field, Philadelphia. A pressing invitation for the Bears to come to Philadelphia in 1929 is in the mails.

Climatic conditions, Cozens thinks, impose a great handicap on elevens that journey to the Pacific Coast and his chief desire is to meet the Californians here during the regular college season.

WEATHER PROVES GAME OBSTACLE

BERKELEY, Jan. 9. (AP)—The football game played December 31 between the universities of Pennsylvania and California was a resumption of athletic relations between the two schools, started in 1925 when grid teams of the two institutions first met.

Alumni and students of both schools have often expressed a desire to see those relations continued, but weather conditions prove to be an obstacle. The two games played thus far have been near the first of the year, but such a contest would be out of the question in Philadelphia, California grid officials believe. On the other hand, a game played in the East by the Golden Bears during the regular football season would need the sanction of academic officials, and because of the two weeks schooling that would be lost in making the trip to play the game, permission may be difficult to obtain.

KILRANE COPS BOUT FROM WILL MATHEWS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9. (AP)—Jake Kilrain, California negro, won from Will Matthews of Baltimore, on a foul in the eighth round of their ten-rounder at the arena tonight. Ringside critics said Matthews had the better of Kilrain up to the time a wild swing caught the Californian in the groin. Kilrain weighed 187, Matthews 190.

STRIBLING WINNER IN BOUT WITH WIGGINS

WICHITA (Kan.) Jan. 9. (AP)—Young Stribling led the fighting through a ten-round main-event bout with Chuck Wiggins here tonight to win the decision. The Georgia boy had just a shade the best of every round.

HARD PUNCHERS CLASH IN BOUT

Sergt. Sammy Meets Tough Negro Scrapper

Thompson Groomed for Mix With Top Kick

Mike Watters Has Second Spot on Card

SARGT SAMMY BAKER.

The bout figures to produce some terrific hitting. Long proved he was a dangerous bit of ebony when he knocked out Bert Colima and gave him a rather fearful bodylacing in a rematch.

The match also shows Clyde Hudkins as he blossoms out for the new year with a black stable of fighters that is hard to match.

With Long as a middleweight buffer Hudkins also has annexed Jack Thompson, star lightweight, and Young Harry Wills. Great things are expected of Thompson especially.

If Baker defeats Long then Hudkins will try to get the army topkick to meet Thompson. After a lay-off Thompson is more nearly a junior welter than he is a lightweight.

But Long is not to be eliminated without a hearing judged on his two Colima fights. Digging back in his record it is found he fought Dave Shade a draw, showing that he is no fly-by-night swallow.

The battle is in some respects a revenge duel for the entire Hudkins family. Baker is the boy who knocked the Wildcat out in New York and then came to Los Angeles to lose a decision which was dearly bought.

Although Ace was the winner here, the fight took a great deal out of him, many believe. The Wildcat even considered retiring after the last Baker fight.

The picture of that harrowing battle, which drew California's record gate—$60,000—will always live. Few champions of the ring come along like that one.

Long is tough. He is also tremendously rough. If he doesn't whip Baker it will not be because he hasn't merit at his particular style.

But Baker has been placed on such a high pinnacle that Angelenos can't see how he could lose to anybody. Hudkins, himself, would be no better than even money against him in a third match.

Baker has been idle for a few months. Most fighters would have picked a softer opponent to tune up on than Long. But the sergeant picked Long himself. He saw him whip Colima and asked for a chance to try his hand against devastating Charley.

"Long will have to come to me to get in a clinch and I can knock out any fighter who comes in," says Baker.

The black fighter is in good shape. Clyde Hudkins has him keyed up to a million.

The semi-wind-up features 135-pounders—Mike Watters and Bobby Fernandez. Down in the Mexican colony Fernandez is regarded as another Dario Barron.

Louis Andrews clashes with Billy Rinks in the special. The two fours show Bobby Corbett vs. Charley Summs and Al Neef vs. Willie Fausto. Fausto has been making some nice fights.

Baker is making his first start under his own management. He will be handled by the veteran, Jerry McCarthy, who is also chief second for Hudkins.

In the hubbub and the flurry of the closing rounds of the $10,000 open there were a lot of things I forgot to mention, namely and to-wit: Willard Hutchison's fine closing laps of 74 and 71, which put together with something better than 76-76 on the first two laps when he couldn't get hot with his putter, would have landed him higher than a tie for twelfth; little Vic Dalberto's steady golf which put him across the line with 300 flat, a lot better golf than turned in by many a pro with far more reputation; young Alan Moser's 296, which was the second best amateur score and only one stroke back of the man who was national amateur champion a year ago; the remarkable consistency of MacDonald Smith's golf, which did not vary more than two strokes on any of his last three rounds; the fact that if Al Watrous had taken a par 3 on the tenth the other day instead of a horrible 9 he would have finished second to MacDonald Smith with a total of 286 strokes, and last but not least, H. Politz's remarkable costume showings during the course of the tourney—green the first day, maroon the second and brown the third.

INTERFRATERNITY MEET FOR SAFEHENS

CLAREMONT, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—An interfraternity track meet, with all varsity letter men eligible for competition, was today made part of the annual intramural track program at Pomona College. The first annual meet will be held on Alumni Field, the 20th inst., according to an announcement made here today by Coach Bob Strehle. It will be the first of a series of meets scheduled for the Sagehen trackmen this season. Departing from the customary procedure of intramural track, Strehle has allowed varsity letter men and wearers of freshman numerals to compete.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER
BILL HENRY

HONORABLE RABBIT BRADSHAW, the scrawny delegate from Nevada, has the football attribute which corresponds to "it" in the movies. Not all great football players have this attribute, and a lot of football players who have it are not great. But Bradshaw is the combination of the players who is really great and at the same time possesses that quality of electrifying the crowd the minute he gets his hands on the ball. Tom Denny of Whittier had it, so did Talma Imlay of California; the last Trojan we can remember who had it was Frenchy Le Febvre. The quality is hard to define. But the players who have it are the makers of football as far as the public is concerned. You don't know what they're going to do when they grab the ball but you know that something is going to happen if it's only a 19-yard loss.

If you didn't notice it in the paper on Sunday, Lloyd Hahn ran a half-mile indoors in 1m. :53 4-5s. on Saturday night. That is rambling right along, in fact is the fastest half-mile ever run indoors. Hahn is a business-like individual who went into temporary retirement almost a year ago in order to rest up for a great campaign on the board and cinders in 1928, culminating in the Olympic games. From the way Hahn has started off his campaign for the year his rest has done him a lot of good. Boyd Comstock thinks Nick Carter will give Hahn a real chase in the Olympic 1500 meters.

Golfers may annoy non-golfers with their conversation but anyone who saw the huge gallery which clustered at the eighteenth green at Wilshire during the $10,000 open must admire the real sportsmanship of the fans. The way they all invariably pull for the players is great. Every long iron shot that appeared to be headed for the barranca (translation—ditch) found 2000 rooters all hollering "Whoa!" If the pill stayed on the green there were hearty cheers and if it rolled off into the gulley—pardon us, barranca—mournful moans filled the air.

The death of Dr. Alvin Kraenzlein, former Penn athletic star, removes one of the really great track athletes of all time. He was a great sprinter, a great jumper and a still greater hurdler. If he had had the benefit of modern coaching with its better form, his records, one of which stood for twenty-six years, might not have been beaten for many years more.

HOCKEY LEAGUE GETS HOST OF NEW PLAYERS

Ice hockey, "the world's fastest sport," has been reinforced by the addition of fourteen big league professional stars of the American League and Canadian leagues, and game locally has reached its highest standard, according to Mel Malwick, former owner of the Duluth Hornets, the American League champions, who is now one of the owners of the Hollywood "Millionaires" in the California Hockey League. Malwick and Kennie McKenzie purchased the Hollywood franchise and wasted no time in purchasing eight new players for their squad.

"Letty" Coumber, former Winnipeg boy, the Carrigan brothers, Tym and Gene and Ben Ward of the Kenora "Thistles" are four newcomers who shoot from all angles of the ice and are exceptionally fast skaters. The Carrigan brothers were former members of the Edmunton "Eskimos" and a fancy price was paid for their release.

NOVICE TRACKFEST AT OXY NEARS END

Coach Joe (Timberwolf) Pipal, veteran Occidental track mentor, will bring the annual novice trackfest to a close at the Eagle Rock institution Thursday afternoon when several remaining events will be staged and final standings counted to decide the interclass and interfraternity championships for the year. To date the Delta Beta Taus and the sophomores are the leaders in their respective divisions by a large margin. The remaining events left for completion and competition are broad jump, 100, 220, 440, relay, and hurdles.

DAN JONES INVITED FOR EASTERN SQUASH

Dan Jones of the Hollywood Athletic Club, the national senior A.A.U. squash champion received an invitation from the New York Athletic Club to compete in the Atlantic seaboard squash championship. The eastern club is confident that there are a number of exceptional squash players representing eastern clubs who will make the senior champion step to win. The game of squash was originated at the Hollywood club four years ago and since that time has replaced handball as the big indoor sport.

MIDDLEWEIGHTS TOP MAIN-STREET PROGRAM

Middleweights will top the weekly boxing card at the Main Street Athletic Club Saturday night, Manager Carlo Curtis of the club announced. Ray Still, of Sacramento, who defeated Joe Gardena in a great fight at Main Street a few weeks ago, will take on Tom Moore in the eight-round feature. Moore should give Still a tough battle for the full eight rounds. He is a slugger and has beaten both Joe Roche of San Diego and Eddie Gill.

He has decided to refill his personal coffers with more cash before returning to the books and his favorite diversion, rowing.

YOUNGS TO BE HONORED

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—The memory of the late Ross Youngs, famous outfielder of the New York Giants, will be honored by a bronze tablet on the right-field wall at the Polo Grounds, the section where he performed from 1918 through 1926.

BROOKLYN BAN BY FEG MURRAY

a three or four-game rest with "those lowly Braves."

Dave Bancroft should make himself very useful in Brooklyn. Having played with all of the other eastern clubs of the older circuit, he naturally wanted to have a fling at calling Ebbets Field "home" before he quit the so-called national pastime. He will be 36 years of age next April, and has played thirteen seasons under the big top, so there probably isn't much good baseball in the old boy, but he has enough brains to make up for his fast aging legs, and plenty of fight, and he should regain his old batting eye, for a time, anyway.

Dave made thirty-nine errors in 1927, but Wright of the Pirates made forty-five, and Farrell of the Giants and Braves forty. Anyway, what's an error to dear old Brooklyn.

all-around playing had the fans wild-eyed Sunday. Last year Imlay played quarterback for Brick Muller's Los Angeles team. When this outfit met Bradshaw here last year Imlay and the "Rabbit" stole every act in the show. If Imlay can show the fans more football than Bradshaw did Sunday he's a wonder. But that's just exactly what "Tut" did a year ago, when he appeared a week after Bradshaw and wrote his name indelibly all over Wrigley Field.

Nevers and Imlay have a fine supporting cast, a much better team than they displayed here a year ago. In fact, those who have been in the pro racket for say three decades declare that Nevers has a better club than George Wilson, which is yodeling plenty.

There are four Stanford players in the Giant line-up. They are the Shipkey brothers, Ted and Harry, Fred Swan and Chuck Johnston. The first three compose the left side of the line, reading from end through guard. "Pete" Schaffnit, former California end, appears on the wing opposite Ted Shipkey.

In the backfield Nevers has Cobb Rooney and John Blood in addition to Imlay. Both were stars on Nevers's team a season back. Blood is an old Notre Dame player.

George Wilson's team is leading the Pacific Coast pro standings with two victories and no defeats. Here's how the clubs stand after two weeks of play:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Wilson's Wildcats	2	0	1.000
Friedman's Bulldogs	1	0	1.000
Nevers' Giants	0	1	.000
Grange's Yankees	0	2	.000

DANNY KRAMER MEETS LOMELI AT PASADENA

Manager Morrie Cohan has a tip-top match for his weekly feature at the Pasadena arena Thursday night, the boy matchmaker pulling a neat one when he signed Danny Kramer and Marcelino Lomeli for the main event of ten rounds, according to fistic wiseacres. Kramer needs no introduction to California fight fans, being one of the finest little men that ever stepped into a ring in these parts. Danny is veteran now but still ranks with the best featherweights. In meeting Lomeli he is taking on a young fellow who is on his way up in the fight game. Lomeli will certainly know how far he is going to go after he tackles Kramer and Danny is bent on making a clean-up in the feather ranks along the Coast. There are four other good bouts on the bill. In the six-round semi-wind-up Billy Clark meets Bobby Waltman. Al Sing and Bobby Rodriguez collide in the special event. In two four-round preliminaries Mike Holland clashes with Oriello Mision and Sunshine Ellis meets Bobby Payne.

LINCOLN MAKES CITY LOOP BOW

Railsplitters Meet Poly in Opening Contest

L. A. High Quintet to Battle Foothiller Five

Toilers Tackle Jefferson; Franklin Byes

GAMES TODAY

L. A. High at Hollywood.
Manual Arts at Jefferson.
Polytechnic at Lincoln.
Franklin, bye.

Lincoln comes out of retirement this afternoon to make its debut in the City League basketball race against Polytechnic in the Broadway-street gym. L. A. High and Hollywood having won their opening games, will clash on the Foothiller court which will leave one less undefeated quintet in the race. In the third game scheduled, Manual Arts is an odds-on favorite to wallop Jefferson.

Coach Voyle Brennan's Mechanics are expected to give the Railsplitters a battle after trouncing Jefferson, 30 to 4, in their opening game. Unfortunately, "Swede" Sorenson, star Blue and Gold center, will be ineligible. The Lincoln quintet is reported to have plenty of pepper again this year. Every year the Railsplitters come as close as it is possible to winning the championship without actually winning the silverware. Last season they had a great team, but lost to Hollywood and their title hopes went glimmering.

L. A. High narrowly beat out Franklin by a 16-to-15 score Friday, while Hollywood trimmed Manual Arts, 24 to 13. The Romans and Foothillers always stage a struggle, however, and the game should be worth seeing. For the past two years, Hollywood has won by two-point margins. Last season the count was 18 to 16, and two years ago, it was 17 to 15.

The Clem Sultenfuss - Bobbie Forbes combination is working in tip-top form for the Foothillers. Much depends on their efforts if Hollywood expects to remain in the running. Lemcke and Blodell, guards, and Green, center, will be the likely starters.

The Toilers are easily favorites over the Democrats unless Jefferson shows a complete reversal of form. "Doc" Woods at guard, and Strum, forward, are the big guns on the Manual Arts team, although Piper at forward has the makings of a fine tosser with a little more experience.

Lightweight teams will clash in the preliminary games scheduled to start at 3 o'clock.

M'DONALD WILL REFEREE LONDOS-SAUER MAT GO

Don McDonald of Long Beach will be the third man in the ring when Jim Londos clashes with Pete Sauer in the feature event of Lou Daro's wrestling show at the Olympic tomorrow night.

The appointment of McDonald as referee by the State Athletic Commission was announced yesterday. He is not a new man at the job, having refereed bouts here for more than two years. He officiated at the wrestling shows when Daro was staging them at the Philharmonic Auditorium.

There is one thing the fans like about McDonald's ring work and that is he makes the grapplers keep stepping. When the bone-benders are slow in getting together again after a lively skirmish, he pushes them together. He is very good at keeping the matmen away from the ropes.

In a few of the bouts he refereed here last year, McDonald always managed to get his body between the ropes and those of the grapplers when the latter were headed for the ringside seats.

McDonald was the third man in the ring in a Londos bout about six months ago. He kept the Greek in check so successfully that he had Londos peeved. He expects to keep just as close a watch on Londos tomorrow night. Sauer believes he would have defeated the Greek in their first bout had the Greek been kept away from the ropes.

This battle promises to be better than any held here in the last year, and reports from the downtown Olympic box office in the Spring-street arcade, indicate a large house will see the opening mat show of the new year.

Y. Fujita and Marian Zikovich will tangle in the one-hour special, a ju-jitsu, while Leo Papiano and Chris Michaels will furnish the excitement in the opener.

RACKETERS TO DROP SCHOOL TITLE EVENT

Occidental tennis officialdom has barred the annual school championships for the year, and in its place will be a ranking and challenging method for selection of the varsity and freshman net teams for the 1928 schedule. Already the varsity lettermen and upcoming freshmen of last year have been rated according to abilities. Challenging for regular berths will start immediately after final exams at the close of the present month, while nonranking players will be given their opportunities simultaneously. It is doubtful at present whether the Oxy institution will place a freshman racket squad in the conference race this year.

Tex Rickard Worried Over Conduct of Jack Sharkey

EX-SAILOR HAS HIM PERTURBED

Promoter Fears He is About to Get Run-Around

Boston Boy May Defy Orders of Boxing Board

Tip Out That He Will Not be on Time Today

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Tex Rickard today was visibly perturbed by the conduct of Jack Sharkey and for the first time in his life admitted that he feared he was being given a run-around.

Tex waited all day to hear from Sharkey, relative to the time of his departure from Boston for New York, but the lad scheduled to fight Tom Heeney in the important heavyweight elimination bout on Friday night didn't give Tex even so much as a telephone call as Jack's manager, Johnny Buckley, had promised he would.

Sharkey is due here before noon tomorrow to appear at the office of the state Athletic Commission for a physical examination. The tip is out that Sharkey doesn't intend to leave Boston until tomorrow night. Such action would be construed as deliberate defiance of the official notice served on him by the commission last week and if the commission got an idea that its orders were being defied by a mere fighter, it might take steps to punish the offender in a way that would not be helpful to either the fighter or the promoter.

If Sharkey doesn't make his appearance before the commission as scheduled and fails to explain that shortcoming satisfactorily, he may be suspended.

After Tex Rickard had signed Tommy Loughran, world's light-heavyweight champion, to a contract today whereby Tommy gives the New York promoter exclusive rights to his services up to November 1, next, the discovery was made that when Manager Joe Smith signed for Loughran, he really had no standing with the New York State Commission inasmuch as he and his fighter have been working under nothing more than a verbal agreement since November 26, 1927.

This situation, of course, nullified the contract but a similar document probably will be drawn up and signed tomorrow when Manager Smith negotiates formally with his fighter and files a new contract with the commission. A five-year paper binding Smith and Loughran is in prospect. Incidentally, it develops that Smith signed Loughran for three fights here after his old contract, which was on file at the commission, had expired.

Gene Tunney will leave again tomorrow for the South. He will stop off at Dover Hall in Georgia, for a brief sojourn and then proceed to Miami there to start training for a busy campaign in the ring next summer. The world's heavyweight champion has agreed to box an exhibition bout at Houston, Tex., on February 11.

Bruins Jaunt to Palo Alto

U.C.L.A.'s light, but fast, basketball squad leaves Los Angeles Thursday evening on the Lark for Palo Alto, where they will make their Pacific Coast Conference debut Friday night against Stanford's five. A second game will be played the following evening on the Cardinal court. Coach Caddy Works is still undecided as to how many Bruins he will take on the northern jaunt.

Notes of Fleet and Personnel

BY FRANK T. HARVEY

Battleship division's baseball competition, as was the case with football, has been divided into two groups, according to the distance involved, announced yesterday by Lieut. H. C. Alexander, battle fleet athletic officer aboard the flagship California, now at San Francisco.

Group 2 competition starts a month earlier than Group 1, the schedule shows. Gunnery and engineering training requirements of ships in the fifth squadron explain the reason.

The baseball finals, both in the battleship divisions and in the battle fleet will be played at Honolulu next spring, instead of San Pedro as was originally planned.

Teams have scheduled independent games for the most part, and should be ready for competition when the season opens. The first official eliminating tilt will bring together the crack battleship Pennsylvania nine and the ball tossers from the U.S.S. Mississippi on February 5. The Keystone ship is the champion of the fleet, and has Jim Vaughn and Jim Bagby, Jr., on the mound staff. Vaughn is a former big league star, and Bagby is the son of the veteran pitcher of the same name.

Following is the complete schedule for both groups:

GROUP 1

March 19—U.S.S. West Virginia vs. U.S.S. New York.
March 21—U.S.S. Tennessee vs. U.S.S. Idaho.

May 7—U.S.S. Colorado vs. U.S.S. Arizona.

Bobby Near, flagship California boxer, and former middleweight champion of the fleet, will be given the chance tomorrow night at the Wilmington A.C. to stage a comeback in the ring which got him to the skiff for more than a year and who cost him his fleet title, when he tackles Billy Lane, Wilmington fighter.

Last year Bobby, who was going great in the fleet eliminations, went over to Wilmington to fight Lane. He returned to the ship the following morning with a broken jaw and was forced out of the ring until a few months ago, when he announced his comeback. Since yesterday, the ring Near has fought five times and on each occasion has emerged the victor by a knockout.

Tomorrow night he will attempt to put away Lane and will have a host of his shipmates on hand who are confident that he can take Lane's measure, as well as the present fleet title-holder.

HOLLYWOOD CAGERS BEAT L. A. HIGH, 12-11

Coach Horace Bresee's 110-pound L.A. High basketball team lost a close 12-to-11 game to a fighting Hollywood High squad yesterday afternoon on the Romans' court. With the one-point defeat went the Pioneers' chance for the Class C casaba title, which they have held for six consecutive years.

A foul called on L. A. in the last two seconds of play gave the Sheiks a hard-earned victory. Keen, Hollywood guard, won the game for the Redskinis when he tossed the sphere through the loop for the one-point lead.

M'GRAW BUILDS UP HIGH HOPES FOR NEXT SEASON

JOHN McGRAW

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Barring some sling and arrow practice by outrageous misfortune, John McGraw believes the New York Giants will have considerable to say before the National League's 1928 champions are crowned.

The Giants had a lot of luck last year, but it was mostly bad. Injuries during the early part of the season kept baseball's "Napoleon" busy trying to devise some sort of a line-up that could keep him from being left at the post before the race really got under way. Finally the jinx departed and the McGrawmen started an upward climb that threatened to bring both major league pennants to New York. The drive came too late, however, and the Giants were forced to trail both Pittsburgh and St. Louis.

Probably considering himself lucky to finish as high as third place McGraw began his plans for the 1928 campaign. The addition of Lefty O'Doul, crack Coast League outfielder, and of a flock of new pitchers have given the Giants "paper power" that seems the equal of that of any of their rivals.

In Terry, Hornsby, Jackson and Lindstrom, McGraw has one of the best infields in the league. The "Andys"—Reese and Cohen, are the principal reservists. Cohen starred in the International League last summer while Reese was filling in at third base for McGraw. The other infielders include Baxter Jordan of Charlotte, N. C., and C. R. Crawford, Greenville, N. C.

With Harper and Roush as two sure starters, McGraw is depending upon O'Doul to fill out his quota of fly chasers. Once a pitcher with the Yankees, O'Doul experienced a change of heart and took up the business of snaring flies and hitting them far and often. He comes to the Giants from San Francisco. The other outfielders include Leslie Mann, that terror of southpaws; Art Jahn, once with the Chicago Cubs, and Melvin Ott, pinch-hitter extraordinary.

Indications are that the chief burden on the mound will be carried by Larry Benton, who led the league on a won-and-lost basis last year; Burleigh Grimes, Fred Fitzsimmons and Virgil Barnes. McGraw hopes to develop at least one more starting hurler from, among Dutch Henry, Ben Cantwell, Jacksonville right-hander; "Lefty" Faulkner, Toronto star; Bill Walker, Denver southpaw, and Arthur Johnson, purchased from Norfolk. All of these saw service during the latter part of the 1927 campaign.

Hockey Tilt Ends in Tie

Despite the allowance of an overtime period of ten minutes the Richfield Oilers and Lloyd Cook's Maroons finished their hockey struggle last night at the Palais de Glace in a 2-2 tie. The Maroons chalked up a lead of two goals in the first period on goals made by Buster Smith and Dave Smith but the Oilers tied the score by shooting across a goal in the second and third periods.

The referee ordered an extra period at the end of the regular time allowance for the game and although both teams skated like demons neither side was able to score. Louie Coupez and Jack Lawrence played star roles for the Oilers, Coupez made a goal in the second session and Lawrence shot the puck into the net for the tally that tied the score in the third period. The Maroons and the Oilers are tied for the lead in the California hockey loop with three wins apiece and the same number of games lost.

HOLLYWOOD MERMEN FACE TROJAN SQUAD

Clyde Swensen's Hollywood Athletic Club water-polo team is on edge for a tank battle with the fast-swimming Trojan team tonight at the Plum City Club pool. The Trojans bowed in defeat before the Hollywood mermen several weeks ago and are out to get revenge. Capt. Charles Fletcher will lead the Hollywood swimmers and Capt. Ralph Smith will direct the Trojan team. In a preliminary game the Hollywood High School squad tackles the Inglewood High team. Friday night the Hollywood swimmers play the Venice water-polo squad at the Movie City Club.

JOEY KAUFMAN WINS OVER LUIS VICENTINI

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Joey Kaufman of Brooklyn was awarded a judges' decision over Luis Vicentini, Chilean lightweight, in a six-round bout at the new Broadway arena in Brooklyn tonight. Kaufman weighed 135½ pounds, Vicentini, 133.

Rene De Vos, Belgian boxer and claimant of the European middleweight championship, knocked out Willie Walker of New York in the sixth round of another six-round contest. De Vos weighed 164, Walker, 177.

DEMENTRAL DEFEATED BY JOHNNY MEYERS

CHICAGO, Jan. 9. (AP)—Johnny Meyers defended his middleweight wrestling championship successfully tonight against Jimmy Demetral, persistent challenger from Madison, Wis., throwing Demetral twice in matches that lasted nearly an hour each. Meyers was superior throughout the match, but had difficulty in putting on his double wrist lock, with which both falls were obtained. The first fall came in 47m. 45s. and the second fall in 32m. 39s.

ACE GROOMS WILD FELINE FOR SHOW

The Nebraska Wildcat will enter a ferocious feline in the "Foreign Legion Class" especially made for those cats whose feats on the backfence battlefields have made them prominent figures in catdom.

OXY CAGERS BACK AT WORK AFTER TOUR

After a successful invasion of San Diego last Saturday, where Coach Eddie Kienholz's Occidental hoopsters opened the Southern California 1928 basketball schedule with a victory over the Aztec quintet by a count of 39-22, the Bengal cagers have settled down to an earnest bit of practice work in preparation for the second big game of the season against the Redlands Bulldogs. The Tigers will enjoy a second short journey for the game is scheduled for the Redlands gym next Saturday at 8 o'clock.

POMONA PLAYS ENGINEER FIVE

Rival Conference Teams to Meet Saturday

Sagehens Out to Score Win Over Court Foes

Coach Heath Satisfied With Present Line-up

CLAREMONT, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—"Beefy" Heath's Pomona College basketball tossers opened work tonight for the second of their Southern Conference opponents — the Caltech Beavers, who entertain Pomona Saturday. Both teams are playing in the second round of their schedule, and both were defeated in the opening engagement, Pomona losing a surprise contest to La Verne after an extra five-minute period had been played and Caltech dropping a game to Whittier.

HAROLD MERRITT

Drill on plays and defensive work will occupy the main portion of the week's program at Pomona. The Sagehen offensive has just started to function in something of the manner Heath has planned and needs a lot of polish, it is possible that the Sagehen mentor will change the style of guarding from a man-to-man to zone although he rather favors the method.

Chaffee Junior College, which was overwhelmingly beaten by Pomona during the Christmas holidays, is on the week's practice program. The blue cagers journey over to Chaffee on Wednesday night for a return engagement and probably will have a much tougher time. There may be other practice dates for Pomona this week, Heath having decided on work in large gobs as the thing they need most.

After no little trial and trouble, it seems that Heath has at last hit the best combination. He has Clarence Bishop at center with Jack Manildi and Frank Dyer playing forwards and Capt. Harold Merritt and Stew Nagestad, guards. That team will undoubtedly start against Caltech on Saturday. Al Cramer, scintillating forward, is the star of the Beaver quintet.

TIGER CAGE FROSH TO MEET REDLANDS

Bill Anderson's peagreen Oxy five lost a 1-point decision to the Aztec frosh in their opening game last week-end, the score reading at 28-27 in favor of the home crew. Anderson's charges will journey along with their big brothers of the varsity to engage the Redlands Bullpups in the preliminary to the varsity encounter Saturday. Present plans call for the departure of the Oxy athletes Saturday morning at 7:45 o'clock.

THERE shouldn't be so much argument about the best family car. The best is the one you can best afford but afford the best you can.

The real family should precede the real family car, so the first one should be a baby buggy. After that, always have one big enough to put the whole family into, but not so big you'll have to put the house and lot into it, too.

Many people who have no children have the latter kind, but most of the time the back seats are as empty as their lives. Of course, you can always fill a car or a life with free-ride seekers, but that isn't like carrying your own.

The big, fine cars have wonderful springs and cushions and shock absorbers, but even they can't prevent family jars if the car isn't loaded properly.

Motor cars have brought many good roads, but the path of virtue still is the only safe one for even the cleverest driver.

Yes, Palomino, if you'll take my advice—but what's the use, when I know you won't?

DELAY FOR TAX BILL FORECAST

Smoot Says Revision Measure Will be Sidetracked

Deliberation to Wait Until Returns March 15

Condition of Treasury Can be Determined Then

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—A prediction that the $290,000,000 tax-revision bill would be sidetracked until after March 15, when first tax returns of the year are due, was made today by Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance Committee.

Administration leaders have declared that after March 15 it will be possible to show by figures the condition of the Treasury's finances and determine just how far tax reduction should go. The figure of $290,000,000 fixed by the House is held by Secretary Mellon to be too high.

Although the Finance Committee has not been called into session, Chairman Smoot declared that when it meets it will take up the House bill providing for the return of seized alien property.

If Democrats oppose this move, the chairman said he has enough votes to force the delay.

Administration leaders are confident of being able to defeat any move to take the bill from the committee.

Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the committee and spokesman in tax affairs for the minority, had planned to bring his forces together today for consideration of the tax matters, but he was detained at his home by a slight illness.

SENATE TARIFF BATTLE BEGUN

Resolution for Reduction Looses Oratory

Vote on McMaster's Plan Balked by Smoot

Fireworks Futile as House Must Act First

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—Informed that the administration will not sanction a revision of the Tariff Act for at least two years, the Senate nevertheless gave this subject its first real airing in years today and indulged in an old-fashioned row of oratory on the resolution of Senator McMaster, Republican, South Dakota, declaring for a general reduction of import schedules.

The move of the South Dakota Republican stirred the ire of Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, who quoted President Coolidge in defending the high rates of the present act against the attacks from farm-bloc Republicans and the incessant jibes of the Democrats, who listened with obvious joy to the Republicans quarreling over the tariff.

A vote on the McMaster resolution finally went over until tomorrow, as Senators Smoot and McMaster became entangled in a lengthy argument growing from an accusation by the South Dakotan that Senator Smoot was interested in high tariff because of his interests in sugar factories.

Senator Smoot replied he did have 400 shares in a South Dakota sugar factory which he offered to sell McMaster for $1.50 a share, but the South Dakota Senator declined with the remark that the people of Mr. Smoot's State wanted him to remain in business there.

Regardless of the vote on the McMaster resolution, the Senate is powerless to act in actually revising rates until after the House, which has the sole right under the Constitution to initiate such legislation, does so. The resolution was described as a "threat and an attack in the dark" by Senator Smoot, who is chairman of the Finance Committee which handles tariff legislation.

Democrats did not join wholeheartedly in support of the McMaster resolution, Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, suggesting that it be amended to provide merely for a "revision" of tariff rates, while Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland, declared he cannot support a resolution that declares for reduction of all tariff schedules.

Opening the fight for his proposal, Senator McMaster assailed the contention that farmers are protected under the present law because most of their implements are on the list free of duty. He described this contention as a "sham and a fraud" and insisted that prices for farm implements are controlled by trusts.

"An examination of the list of articles on which the farmer pays duty," he declared, "not only shows that he pays on the necessities of life but on everything he uses except on farm implements."

ONION TAKES ON ROLE OF SEER

Cobbler Cuts One Up and Then Predicts Weather We'll Have During Year

MARSHFIELD (Wis.) Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—Ewald Bensch, local cobbler, who forecasts the weather a year in advance by consulting the layers of a raw onion, has announced his "findings" for 1928.

The predictions are made by cutting up an onion and carefully studying each layer. This must be done, Mr. Bensch says, between 11:30 p.m. on December 31, and 12:30 a.m., January 1.

The forecast for this year shows: January, much snow and cold; February, cold, but not much snow; March, wet and thawing weather; April, medium wet and not so cold; May, very wet; June, much rain and warm.

July, mostly dry and very warm; August, wet and warm; September, mostly dry and warm; October, medium wet and slightly cooler; November, wet, much snow; December, partly wet, snow and cold.

MERCHANT SHIP BILL APPROVED

Senate Committee Favors Jones Measure

Provides Keeping Marine Under Board

Huge Fleet Building Fund May be Advanced

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—The Senate Commerce Committee today approved the bill of Senator Jones, Republican of Washington, to build up the merchant marine and keep it under government supervision through the Shipping Board.

The measure will not only provide for an extensive replacement program of vessels but will require the unanimous consent of the Shipping Board for the sale of any ships.

AGAINST COOLIDGE

President Coolidge repeatedly has called for early disposal of the merchant fleet, but the measure approved today won the support of a substantial number of both Democrats and Republicans on the committee. Senator Copeland, Democrat, of New York, reserved the right to oppose it. The bill will "reaffirm" that the policy of the United States is "to maintain permanently a merchant marine adequate for the proper growth of the foreign and domestic commerce of the United States and for the national defense."

While no specific sum is mentioned, it is understood by Chairman Jones of the committee that the Shipping Board has mapped a plan calling for $200,000,000 expenditures over a period of years in building the government fleet.

REPORT ON BILL

In his report of the bill to the Senate, Chairman Jones declared, "There seems to be no way by which we can get an American marine privately owned."

Senator Jones reports it was the opinion of the committee that Congress will not favor a ship subsidy to maintain the merchant fleet and in this he saw the only alternative to the scheme advanced by the committee today.

In his report he also served notice that the La Follette Seamen's Act "will not be repealed," taking cognizance of the argument that this will help build up a merchant marine in private hands.

EVANS SETS MAGRUDER AT RIGHTS

Congressman Replies to Admiral on Pacific Coast Naval Building Costs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—Charges by Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, naval critic, that naval construction costs on the Pacific Coast are exorbitant and greatly exceed those on the eastern seaboard were effectively refuted before the House Naval Affairs Committee today by Representative Evans of California.

Evans developed by presentation of statistics which Admiral Magruder could not deny, not only that construction charges on the Pacific Coast are no higher than on the Atlantic, but that in some instances they are very much lower.

As an example he cited the case of three submarines recently built at Mare Island at an average of $500,000 below the average cost of three identical submarines constructed at the same time at eastern shipyards.

In charging extravagance and waste on the Pacific Coast, Admiral Magruder stressed the expense of transporting materials, but Representative Evans was able to show that these costs were so proportionately small that they formed an inconsequential item.

Moreover, he told the committee that any increased cost in moving materials on the Pacific is more than offset by favorable climatic conditions which bring about material savings in time, labor and housing of workmen.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—Rear-Admiral Magruder testified under questioning today before the House Naval Committee that he had paid several junior naval officers "very handsomely" for information supplied by them for his published articles accusing the Navy of waste and overorganization in administration.

Magruder, during his testimony, opposed creation of a separate department of national defense and denied that he ever had said the Navy was wasting $100,000,000 annually.

DIPLOMATIC IMMUNITY DENOUNCED

Senator Blease Protests Freeing Son of British Envoy Who Injured Girl

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—As Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador, was expressing regrets to Secretary Kellogg over the accident on Saturday in which a 12-year-old girl was injured by an automobile driven by the Ambassador's 14-year-old son, Senator Blease of South Carolina, entered a protest in the Senate against allowing the plea of diplomatic immunity.

The Ambassador explained the accident to Kellogg and declared himself and his son ready to assume responsibilities for it. It was not clear whether the immunity plea entered yesterday will be withdrawn.

The law here prohibits driving of automobiles by persons under 16 years of age, and Senator Blease asks the administration "bring the troops home from Nicaragua where they do not belong to protect the lives of children here and enforce the laws."

"Let's enforce the laws alike," he said, "on all persons."

Beatrice May De Forest, the injured girl, suffered a brain concussion and loss of memory. She is showing improvement. The Ambassador and Lady Howard paid a visit to the girl's home yesterday and left flowers.

AMERICAS PUSH PEACE HIGHWAY

Binding of Countries in Friendly Tie Aim

Great Trunk Route Will Reach to Chile

CLEVELAND, Jan. 9. (AP)—Good roads from Canada to Chile, in the greatest highway project ever planned by world engineers, will do more to establish friendly relations between nations of the Western Hemisphere than the combined strength of the world's greatest armies, Jose Rivera, secretary of the official Mexican delegation to the American Road Builders' Association, said here today.

Latin-American delegates attending the convention backed Senor Rivera's opinion that scores of misconceived ideas on life and habits in the nations to the south will be wiped out with the completion of the great international highway.

NEW ERA OF PEACE

They visioned a new era of lasting peace and prosperity with the completion of a trunk highway to extend from Montreal, Can., through Detroit, Mich., to Laredo, Tex., Mexico City, Guatemala, Panama, Colombia, Peru and Valparaiso, Chile, on the west coast of South America.

Antonio Madrazo, head of the Mexican delegation, said the first link of the highway from Laredo, Tex., to Mexico City and Guatemala will be completed and open to American tourists in the summer of 1929.

Delegates from Latin-American countries will spend most of the week in conference here to complete plans for further extensions.

The project may not be completed for a score of years, with ten years given as a conservative estimate before the highway is extended into South American territory.

OFFICIALS ELECTED

While the Pan-American delegates were conferring on their problems, county highway officials elected T. J. Wasser, Supervising Engineer of Hudson county, New Jersey, as president of a newly formed division of the American Road Builders' Association.

Believing that co-operation between the more than 3000 counties in the United States is the most important factor in planning a great system of good roads, the county officials have formed a separate division to consider their peculiar problems. Their meeting today is the first under the new organization.

Charles M. Upham of Washington, managing director of the American Road Builders' Association, was re-elected secretary and James H. MacDonald of New Haven, Ct., was again named treasurer.

EVIDENCE BY WIRE TO BE CONSIDERED

High Court Reverses Its Stand on "Tapping" Lines in Rum Cases

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—The Supreme Court reversed itself today and decided to consider the validity of evidence obtained in prohibition cases by wire tapping.

Three cases from the Pacific Coast brought by Roy Olmsted, Charles S. Green, Edward S. McInnis and others challenged the right of the government in prohibition cases to use evidence obtained by listening in on telephone wires.

In all three, the Supreme Court had refused to grant reviews, but today it announced that it will go exhaustively into the subject to determine whether the government has been violating the constitutional rights of individuals.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its action recently declining to review the action of the Colorado health officials in canceling the license held by Leo L. Spears of Denver to practice as a chiropractor. It changed its order of dismissal to read that it is based on the ground that no Federal question was presented in the lower court.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—Dr. Milton A. Nelms, convicted in Eastern Washington for violating the Harrison Anti-Narcotic Act, was refused a review today by the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—The New York Central and other railroads, which recently lost in the Supreme Court in a case brought by the News Syndicate Company involving rates on print paper from Canada, were refused a rehearing today.

Matsudaira May Get London Post

TOKIO, Jan. 9. (AP)—The vernacular papers today said that Tsuneo Matsudaira, Japanese Ambassador to Washington, will return to Japan in June to make final preparations for the wedding of his daughter, Sethu Matsudaira to Prince Chichibu, brother of the Emperor. Afterward, they asserted, he will be appointed ambassador to London replacing Baron Matsui, who is expected to retire in April.

At the Foreign Office the Associated Press correspondent was told that so far nothing has been decided about Matsudaira's return or who would be appointed ambassador to London.

The vernacular press also insisted that Katsui DeBuchi, Vice-Foreign Minister and one-time secretary to the Embassy at Washington, will succeed Matsudaira at Washington.

Captives Held by Mongolians

LONDON, Jan. 9. (AP)—A Tien-tsin dispatch to the Daily Express today says that the Belgian mission at Tien-tsin has received a smuggled letter saying four European priests, six nuns and numerous Chinese and Mongolian girl students have been held captive by bandits at Santaoho, Inner Mongolia, for three months. The captives feared that their massacre was imminent.

The letters complained bitterly of indifference of northern troops which are within striking distance of Santaoho.

DOTY TASTES PRISON LIFE

Deserter From Foreign Legion Finds Rank Food and Invisible Foe Worst Features

This is the fifteenth of a series of articles by Bennett J. Doty, American boy, whose valiant service in the French Foreign Legion, and his subsequent assertion, imprisonment and release have made him a figure of world interest. Doty relates his remarkable experiences, and describes life in the famous Legion from the "inside," as it is lived by the private.)

BY BENNETT J. DOTY

[Copyright, 1928, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

After eleven days in the guardhouse at Deera, following our capture as deserters, we were taken out and chained two by two, one man's left wrist to the other's right, and sent up to Damascus in care of a company gendarme.

We were marched to the citadel, searched, questioned again. The prison was a large room cut into cubicles with wooden partitions. John Harvey and I were put into one of these, Weisser and Lass into another.

BENNETT J. DOTY

The building was the old Turkish citadel. It must have dated back to the Middle Ages. We were in one of the towers. There were no windows. Light and ventilation came through deep loop-holes used originally by archers defending the citadel.

It was 2:30 in the afternoon when we were put into our cells. It was stifling hot. The place was crowded with Syrians, Arabs, Druse, Senegalese, Tunisians, Algerians, Moroccans and Frenchmen. The Legion was well represented. There were thirty of us there.

JOKE AT DEATH

This was the central prison of the military police. Hence the crowd. They were in for every conceivable crime. One Syrian bandit told me proudly he had killed twenty gendarmes. He was only 16. They hanged him a week later in the public square. A couple of Syrians were serving 100-year sentences for furnishing information to the enemy, for rebellion and other military crimes.

Outside the main cell was the death cell. There were twelve men in it. They were all Syrians from Damascus. They had been mixed up in fighting in The Gardens. They were all very cheerful about it, and seemed to regard approaching death lightly.

Like all prisons in Syria, the place was infested with all the insect pests. Our routine was simple. At 4:30 in the morning a gendarme got us up by beating on the wooden walls with his riding crop. We had coffee and were driven up onto the roof for exercise. At 9:30 a twenty gallon bucket of soup appeared, with four inches of grease on top of it. This soup generally contained a few beans or lentils, and if you were lucky you drew a couple. It was ladled into our gamelles with a piece of foul-looking meat. We had a half loaf of bread. Bad as it was, it was the best of our food. I couldn't eat the stuff. I managed to buy with my remaining money some chocolate the cook boiled for us.

INVISIBLE FOE

We remained on the roof until 4:30. Then we had the same meal again, and at 5 o'clock we were taken down for the night. Theoretically we were taken down to sleep. Actually, we spent a great part of the time pursuing the invisible enemy. Once a week we were taken down to the river which runs beneath the citadel, and allowed to wash our clothes. Once a week we had a hot shower. Harvey and I were glad enough about this, but the natives didn't share our enthusiasm. The gendarmes used to have to drive them to it. I believe some of these bandits got the first bath of their lives the day they went to prison.

NO PERIL OF LIFE

I had been in the citadel about a week, when Mr. Keeley, the American Consul, looked me up. A newspaper correspondent I had met at Sueida had sent a story announcing that I was to be shot by the council of war. We never had any such fear. Nobody will believe me when I say that neither the Legion nor the French in general shoot deserters except in cases of desertion in the face of the enemy. We knew we would be punished if we were caught, but we never expected it would be anything worse than a couple of years in prison.

The first news my parent had of my plight was through the correspondent's dispatch. My father had cabled Mr. Keeley, who himself thought we were in imminent danger of the firing squad. Accompanied by his guard—everybody went guarded in Damascus—Mr. Keeley went immediately to the office of the general commanding the Damascus area to save us if he could. The general assured him we were not going to be shot.

At that, Mr. Keeley arrived in the nick of time. We had no more money and none of us could eat the prison food. What was most welcome, he brought me a pile of old American magazines.

An Important GENERAL MOTORS Announcement concerning the New PONTIAC SIX

General Motors has always believed that it could render the highest form of public service by satisfying every motoring need... by building a car for every purse and purpose.

Five years ago there became apparent the growing necessity for a low-priced six which brooked no compromise with quality and which offered those elements of size, stamina, and beauty on which enduring owner satisfaction so vitally depends. And the development of such a six at once became an objective of General Motors.

Into its original design went the experience, not only of Oakland-Pontiac engineers, but of all the engineers working on all General Motors cars—all the scientific discoveries of the General Motors Research Laboratories. There followed long and rigorous testing at the General Motors Proving Ground. And in January 1926, the first Pontiac Six made its appearance before the public . . . to encounter a reception of spectacular proportions.

Immediately there arose a public demand which has grown with every passing month. As rapidly as possible the original Pontiac Six design was improved by the benefits of engineering advancement. And the economies of steadily growing production were returned to the public in the form of lower prices.

The success of the Pontiac Six, during those twenty-four months, constitutes one of the brightest chapters in automotive history. Yet now there is offered a new Pontiac Six which bids for even greater success by virtue of vivid new style and marked improvement in design at no increase in price.

This impressive enrichment of Pontiac Six dollar value is an impressive example of General Motors' policy of constant progress.

It is a direct reflection of General Motors belief that the public is best served by the development of constantly better automobiles.

And it reveals with unmistakable clarity the influence of those five great General Motors resources which have made Pontiac pre-eminent among the low-priced sixes—

1—the pooled experience of all General Motors engineers, who, with the background of scientific research afforded by General Motors Laboratories, constitute one of the greatest groups of engineers ever devoted to a common cause.

2—the testing facilities of the General Motors Proving Ground which, with its 1245 acres of roads and hills, is the largest outdoor laboratory ever devised for the proving of automotive products.

3—the benefits of General Motors wide engagement in diversified automotive manufacture, for General Motors manufactures both for itself and the industry at large a great variety of specialized automotive products ranging from starting, lighting and ignition equipment and radiators to spark plugs, bearings and speedometers.

4—the advantages in appearance and construction inherent to Fisher bodies, for Pontiac Six bodies are Fisher bodies . . . styled with all the mastery of Fisher craftsmanship, finished in genuine Duco, and embodying those principles of staunchness, solidity and safety that the public has learned always to expect from the world's largest builder of fine automobile bodies. And—

5—the economies of General Motors vast purchasing power which enables General Motors to acquire materials in huge quantities and thus to effect annual savings of millions . . . which are passed back to the buyer in the form of more advanced engineering, more distinctive beauty, more satisfying performance and more pronounced economy.

GENERAL MOTORS
CONSTANT PROGRESS — BETTER MOTOR CARS

In keeping with General Motors' policy of progress, the Pontiac was introduced in 1926, thus adding to the General Motors' line a low-priced quality six. The fact that it established a world's production record during its first year reveals the soundness of the policy—which now finds further expression in a new Pontiac Six, vitally improved in appearance, performance and comfort.

General Motors looks confidently forward to the reception of the New Series Pontiac Six, for this new car embodies all those basic elements which inevitably win public approval——quality in design and construction—staunchness that survives the months and the miles—appearance that induces owner pride—comfort based on ample dimensions and scientific weight distribution—with prices so low as to establish an entirely new measure of value!

HOUSE DEBATES FLOOD EXPENSE

Chamber Says Government Should Pay All

View Arrived at Through National Referendum

Committee Accused of Being Prejudiced by Business

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—Payment of the entire cost of flood protection in the Mississippi Valley by the Federal government was advocated today by spokesmen for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States before the House Flood Control Committee.

The chamber reached its view through a nation-wide referendum, Frederick A. Delano of Washington, who headed the chamber's group, which studied the problem, told the committee.

PREJUDICE CHARGED

About 80 per cent of the membership participating in the vote favored the Federal government's shouldering of the total cost, which President Coolidge believes should partly be borne by localities benefiting.

Representative Kopp, Republican of Iowa, questioned the value of the referendum as not representative of the real views of the organization's members.

He charged that the chamber's flood committee was "prejudiced in favor of the full Federal payment," because most of its members were from the valley States or interested in that region for business reasons.

POLICIES REVIEWED

After hearing the views of the Chamber of Commerce, the House committee delved into the past financial policies of the Mississippi River Commission. Col. Charles L. Potter of St. Louis, president of the commission, said it had been without sufficient funds to meet local contributions for levee building.

During the day Representative Sears of Nebraska, a Republican member of the committee, introduced a bill to create a Missouri-Arkansas-Red River flood and drought control commission and district. The commission, to be appointed by the President, would be empowered to build flood control reservoirs on these streams at the expense of the government.

PENNSYLVANIA FAVORS HOOVER

Poll Made of Congressional Delegation

Longworth and Curtis Each Have Partisan

Willis and Lowden Arouse No Interest

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (Exclusive) Herbert Hoover is the personal choice of not less than half the thirty-four Republican members of the Pennsylvania Congressional delegation, constituting the largest Republican delegation from any State, for the Presidential nomination of his party.

About one-third of the Pennsylvania members are noncommittal, preferring to say nothing at all for the present concerning their Presidential preference.

Longworth, Curtis and Dawes each has at least one partisan in the Congressional group, and possibly more among those now silent.

These are the chief conclusions to be drawn from an exclusive poll made today to ascertain the drift of sentiment on the Presidency among the Pennsylvanians in the House. In the course of the canvass more than half of the Pennsylvania delegates—all who could be reached at their offices or in the House chamber—were personally interviewed. Most of those seen, including members who themselves are not for Hoover, agreed that the Secretary of Commerce unquestionably is the ruling favorite in the delegation. They based this belief, they said, in conversations with other members.

DAWES HELD UNSTABLE

Several volunteered the information in addition that Hoover is the popular favorite in their Congressional district. The one Pennsylvania member who was found to be hostile to the Hoover candidacy—and there was only one—expressed the opinion was if Hoover's friends were to make a fight for delegates to the national convention they could get at least half of them because of his personal popularity with Pennsylvania voters.

"And I'm not for Hoover and never will be," this informant added by way of emphasis.

It was he who voiced a preference for Vice-President Dawes.

Subsidiary conclusions suggested by the canvass include the following:

President Coolidge undoubtedly would be the first choice of practically all the Pennsylvanians if he would accept the nomination. The only reason he is no longer discussed in this connection is that the Pennsylvania members feel he has finally eliminated himself from consideration.

Vice-President Dawes is well liked in some quarters, but in others is regarded as erratic and unstable, and too much given to "circus stunts" and sensationalism to make a desirable Presidential candidate.

Speaker Nicholas Longworth of Ohio has many friends in the delegation and likewise among Pennsylvania business interests and in event of a deadlock would not be at all unpopular as a candidate.

CURTIS DARK HORSE

Senator Curtis of Kansas is rated as a dark horse. He also has friends in the delegation, but is put down as third or fourth choice among candidates now in the field.

Senator Willis of Ohio and Former Gov. Lowden of Illinois were two entries whose candidacies seemed to arouse no interest whatever. Their names were only mentioned once in each instance and then unfavorably.

All those invited to name their personal preference for the Presidency did so with the understanding they would not be quoted. There were several characteristic expressions, however, on which no ban was placed.

Representative Thomas Darrow of Westchester, for example, dean of the Pennsylvania delegation, said:

"I'm not a king-maker. But I'll have something to say later on."

Representative Kelly of Pittsburgh and Shreve of Erie, already were known to other members of the delegation as Hoover partisans, although both wanted it understood they were wholly uncommitted on the Presidency in any direction. Representative Shreve in particular regards himself as a regular of regulars—an "organization man" who will accept the organization verdict and do whatever is decided to be best for Pennsylvania in the Republican convention. Personally, however, he does not hesitate to express his preference. Nor does Kelly, who is more independent.

SEVEN FOR HOOVER

Representatives Darrow of Philadelphia and Campbell of Pittsburgh, it appeared, were also known to their colleagues as partisans, although likewise uncommitted. Representative Darrow believes Hoover will make a highly desirable candidate and is one of his ardent admirers. He has told his friends so. Campbell, on the other hand, is now and has been for years a friend and admirer of Longworth's and would not be averse to the speaker's nomination.

One of the significant results of the canvass was the statement by no less than seven western Pennsylvania members that they themselves or their districts were for Hoover first—that the Secretary of Commerce is the popular favorite among their constituents, by a wide margin. One western member who thought Curtis would make a good candidate, questioned whether Hoover was a regular enough Republican and also the right type of individual to be President. He confessed, however, to an admiration for Hoover based on the comprehensiveness of his mind and his demonstrated ability as an executive.

Marine Dies of Rabies in China

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9. (AP)—The Navy Department was informed today by Maj.-Gen. Smedley D. Butler, that Harold George Franzner, Marine Corps private, died yesterday in Peking of rabies. Mrs. Elizabeth Franzner, his mother, lives in Seattle, Wash.

LINDBERGH MAY GAIN PANAMA NAMESAKE

PANAMA, Jan. 9. (AP)—Senora Guillermo Garcia de Paredes, eldest daughter of President Chiari of Panama, today gave birth to a boy. As the birth came on the day of the visit to Panama of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh friends are urging the family to name the boy "Lindy." It is said that the President is not disinclined.

To build a greater commercial Los Angeles, the first duty should be to fully develop those industries and commercial houses now here and secondly to bring in new and needed institutions.

To aid in this work in 1928, the earnest efforts of the Seaboard National Bank are dedicated.

SMITH STUDIES SNYDER APPEAL

Governor Refuses Comment on Plea for Death Stay

Official Greatly Worried by Illness of His Wife

Condemned Slayers Slated to Perish Thursday

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Gov. Smith declined to announce his decision today on the application for a stay of execution for Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray. They are under sentence to die in the electric chair Thursday night for the murder of the woman's husband.

The Governor, plainly worried over the condition of his wife, who was operated on for appendicitis last Saturday, spent most of the day in his suite at Hotel Biltmore.

His concern was apparent in his definite refusal to discuss the Snyder-Gray case.

"I'll talk about that when I'm good and ready," he said, "but there will be no decision today. I don't want to be asked about it again."

Meanwhile Warden Lawes at Sing Sing prison changed Mrs. Snyder's cell and posted extra guards over her, following the disclosure that her mother, Mrs. Josephine Brown, smuggled messages from the prison to be published in a newspaper as her last message to the public.

Mrs. Brown fainted while waiting to visit her daughter today. She refused to discuss her part in bringing Mrs. Snyder's story out of the prison.

Mrs. Snyder sent telegrams to Edgar F. Hazelton and Joseph Lonardo, two members of her counsel, asking that they come to the prison. It is believed she wishes to compose differences between the two which arose when Hazelton asked that Lonardo be prevented from seeing Mrs. Snyder.

Lonardo said he will confer today with Hazelton regarding his action in barring him from an interview with their client. He intimated that he may withdraw from the case.

ARIZONA EDISON UTILITY BOUGHT

Control Passes to Peoples' Light and Power

Deal Announced by Holding Company Bankers

Concern Already Operating in Thirty States

Purchase of all the common stock of the Arizona Edison Company, representing control of the property, by the People's Light and Power Corporation was announced here yesterday by Lynn Montjoy, Pacific Coast manager of G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., Inc., bankers for the People's Light and Power system. The controlling interest was acquired from the General Power and Light Company, in which the Condon interests of Chicago are the dominating influence.

People's Light and Power was already interested in the Arizona utility situation through the ownership of properties serving Globe, Miami and Safford. These properties, Mr. Montjoy said, will be combined under the operating management of Arizona Edison, which will become the Arizona operating subsidiary for People's Light and Power. This holding company controls utility properties in thirty States.

Under the former management, Arizona Edison serves light and power, gas and water service to Yuma and adjacent territory; light and power, gas, water and ice to Bisbee and Douglas, and ice to Florence. Several smaller communities are also numbered among Arizona Edison customers, and a large acreage of agricultural lands is served with power.

Prior to the purchase of the Arizona Edison common stock, E. C. Deal, president of People's Light and Power, made an extensive survey of Arizona conditions, visiting all the cities and districts served by Arizona Edison. Upon his return he reported that Arizona is enjoying a notable increase in population and an equal, if not greater, growth in agricultural, industrial and commercial activities.

To improve the Arizona Edison properties, a budget of approximately $750,000 has been authorized for 1928, Mr. Montjoy announced. Part of the proceeds from forthcoming financing will be used for this purpose.

Holiday Month in Corporation Bureau Active

That December holiday diversions were without effect on the spirit of progress in Southern California is the showing made in statistics just compiled for J. M. Friedlander, State Corporation Commissioner, covering business transacted in the Los Angeles office of the department for that month.

The figures show that 174 new enterprises received permits during the month to dispose of their securities for the purpose of financing. Of these concerns thirty were manufacturing enterprises, compared with eighteen in November and sixteen in October.

New concerns receiving permits in November numbered 101, and in October 104.

The total capitalization of all companies receiving permits in December was $20,517,475, compared with $27,003,156 in November and $70,-653,000 in October, while the aggregate value of stock permitted to be issued was $14,801,027 in December, $13,077,515 in November and $13,926,-181 in October. The comparatively large total capitalization for October was explained by the fact that one company filing an application in that month was captialized at $50,000,000, of which it was permitted to issue $3,177,840.

Retirement of Third Liberty Issue Pending

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. (AP)—Holders of the 4 1-4 per cent Third Liberty bonds will be asked on the 16th inst., to accept in their stead Treasury notes bearing 3½ per cent interest to facilitate the Treasury redemption of the bonds.

The notes will be of special issue, solely for exchange for the bonds, and no subscription will be accepted. Their amount will depend on the bond total offered in exchange.

The Liberties mature next September 15, and to compensate holders in view of the premium at which the bonds are now selling, the Treasury will accept them as of the 16th inst., with interest in full to March 15. The Treasury notes will bear interest from the date of issue and will mature December 15, 1932, but will be callable in 1930.

Issuance of the special notes will mark a Treasury campaign to redeem the Third Liberties without upsetting the money markets.

Title Company Offers Rights

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—California Pacific Title and Trust Company is offering rights to its stockholders on the basis of two shares of new stock at $75 a share for each three shares of old stock.

The stock has been selling in unlisted markets around 90 and has been paying $4.60 a share and yields over 5 per cent. Par is $100.

Through the action of the company, capitalization is being increased from $2,000,000 to $2,800,000.

Behind the move is the plan to complete expansion of this bay district title insurance company, which now covers every county in the district.

The immediate purpose is to enlarge the substantial interest that the California Pacific now holds in the Oakland Title Insurance and Guaranty Company.

ARIZONA BUSINESS CONDITIONS BETTER

PHOENIXV, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—Prosperous conditions in Arizona are indicated by a report from State Treasurer J. C. Callaghan that the first installment of 1927 taxes shows a better percentage of collection than ever before known within the State. Of a possible collection of $2,995,416, the counties have turned over to the Treasurer $2,717,795. Another indication of prosperity lies in the annual receipts of the Phoenix postoffice, which reached in 1927 the sum of $428,622, compared with $403,349 in 1926 and $357,111 in 1925. December was the largest month ever known here in the Phoenix office, with receipt of $58,336, compared with $50,-926 in 1926.

GLOBE ICE CREAM SALE REPORT HIT

Rumors stating that the Globe Ice Cream Company has sold its business to the Western Dairy and California Dairies, Inc., are entirely unfounded, according to A. A. Comey, vice-president and general manager of the Globe Ice Cream Company. Mr. Comey stated that his company has not been sold to any concern, nor is it affiliated or connected with any other ice-cream concern in Los Angeles or elsewhere.

UNION OIL PROFITS LARGE

BY EARLE R. CROWE

If the necessity for setting up reserves for depreciation, depletion, and drilling expenses were ignored, the forthcoming annual report of the Union Oil Company of California would stand out in bold relief against the gloomy background of the 1927 petroleum year. But good accounting demands reserves of this kind, and it is well-known that the Union Oil management is particularly severe in its interpretation of depreciation and depletion policies.

Before charges for depreciation, depletion and drilling expenses, the prospects are, on the basis of the nine months' report, that Union Oil will report earnings of approximately $5.75 a share for 1927. The profit subject to depreciation and similar charges should run better than $20,-000,000.

EARNINGS ESTIMATED

After segregation for reserves against these items, the net profits for the year should figure out at approximately $2.75 a share on the outstanding stock. This compares with $3.12 for 1926 after all charges, and with $2.78 for 1925. Considering the unsatisfactory state of the oil business last year the Union Oil report will probably rank as one of the best on the Pacific Coast. Many of its competitors will do well to show a margin above dividend requirements.

Few oil companies write off so heavily for depreciation, depletion, etc., as Union Oil. For last year, it appears from the nine months' statement that the annual report will show a total of about $10,000,000 allocated for reserves against these items for 1927 alone. This is bearing down with a vengeance on profits, but some day there will be a time of reckoning. Stockholders probably can look for more liberal dividend payments when the cost of plants and equipment is entirely written off, and many of them likely are nearly covered by this time.

Reserves against depletion of lands and depreciation of plants and equipment totaled $131,560,000 at the end of 1926. The properties against which the reserves were carried were valued on the books at $268,541,-107.43. Reserves were approximately 49 per cent of the value of properties, a percentage that is unusually high, but is testimony of the sound character of the Union Oil management.

RESERVES LARGE

The total reserves, after the addition of the 1927 allocations, will probably amount to about $141,365,036. This amount would run higher if it were not for the curtailment of drilling in 1927, which decreased the amount written off and charged against income. The nine months' statement showed a decrease in depreciation, depletion and drilling charges of about $1,000,000 from the same period of 1926.

Union Oil stockholders may derive considerable satisfaction from figures showing the pro-rata interest of each share of stock in total reserves, compared with the market price of the stock. Assuming that the total reserves up to and including 1927 will stand at about $141,365,036, the interest attaching to each share of stock is approximately $37. Current quotations for Union Oil give the stock a market value of about $44 a share.

Possibly the question of extra dividends will come up for discussion some time this year. If the turn for the better in the industry materializes, the directors may resume the policy of paying a quarterly extra of 50 cents, which was suspended last year after one or two payments had been made.

Giannini Adds Hollywood Unit to Bank String

Purchase of the Federal Trust and Savings Bank of Hollywood was announced yesterday by the Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings Association, which will operate the bank as its Hollywood branch beginning Monday, next. The Federal Trust and Savings of Hollywood has been known as the "movie bank," and was affiliated with the Bank of Italy.

As part of the new arrangement, the existing Hollywood branch of the Bank of Italy at Cherokee and Hollywood Boulevard will be merged with the Federal Trust and Savings, and the business of both institutions will be conducted at the corner of Hollywood Boulevard and Highland, which has been the headquarters of the Federal Trust and Savings. The Federal office will be designated as the Hollywood main office of the Bank of Italy.

In Pasadena, the Central National Bank, which was recently purchased by the Bank of Italy, will become the Pasadena main office. The business of the existing Bank of Italy branch located at Colorado and Fair Oaks will be transferred to the new main office.

Addition of the Federal Trust and Savings to the Bank of Italy increases total resources by about $5,000,000. Joseph M. Schenck, president of the Federal Trust, and C. E. Toberman, who have been largely responsible for the growth of the bank, are expected to continue their Bank of Italy affiliations.

OUTLOOK BRIGHTENS

Optimistic Sentiment Reported in Electrical Trade Lines

Optimistic reports as to business this year are borne out by the encouraging trends reported by manufacturers as to current business, reports Electrical World, New York. Inquiries in New England presage good future sales, and electric illumination is attracting much attention.

Central station business closed in the eastern district includes the purchase of $500,000 worth of substation equipment by the Brooklyn Edison Company and inquiries for more of such material from other companies. The United States Shipping Board also has contracted for electric drive marine equipment totaling close to $500,000. Wire and cable business gives an indication of being a feature of the demand during the next few weeks. Industrial plant sales have been exceptional and there are indications that they will continue.

Two yearly contracts for $60,000 each were placed on the Pacific Coast. Extensive campaigns are planned by the power companies to cover home lighting, heating and cooking.

OLD THEORY SUFFERS JOLT

Forecasts on Trend of Business in 1928 Held to Dispel Fears Regarding Presidential Year Slump

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—If this year's 1928 forecast did anything, it was to dispel the old bugaboo that Presidential election years necessarily are periods of unsettlement in the stock market and business.

Wall street speculators in looking to the future sometimes still shake their heads and say: "But this is a Presidential year, you know." Approaching elections at times in the past have unsettled sentiment. Executives enter 1928 in the firm belief that the destiny of business this year will be determined by forces other than political. They definitely say that, in their opinion, the old bugaboo has passed.

Certainly from records of the last quarter of a century nobody could lay down the rule either that stock prices do better or worse in political years. Sometimes they rise as the election date approaches. Sometimes they fall. A declining market preceded the 1920 election. Advancing markets ushered in the 1916, 1912, 1908 and 1904 elections. Just before the 1900 election prices fell.

On a straight statistical average it could be argued from this record Presidential elections more often bring rising than declining markets, but obviously the forces behind the stock market nowadays lie deeper than political discussions.

If in entering the 1928 campaign this country were torn between two schools of thought, one conservative and one radical, the situation might be different. The campaign this year will bring differences of opinion on candidates, but not the bitter fight between opposing views on business that campaigns in years gone by sometimes brought. The political thought of this country has become conservative. We have become a nation of stockholders. The millionaire, the school-teacher, the workingman are joint owners in the same enterprises. Wages stand at their best levels in history. We have no unemployment problem.

The wise prophet of 1928, therefore, will give less and less thought to unimportant political contests and more and more to the powerful forces that now underlie business. So long as an upturn in production looms and so long as the farmers' purchasing power is improving business in 1928 can move forward. What the stock market will do is a matter partly related to the business flow, but more immediately related, perhaps, to the conditions of the money market.

REACTION IN STOCK MARKET

Early Selling of Industrials Starts Downward

Movement Leads Rails and All Other Groups

Bank Warning and Call Rise Aid Short Interest

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—The stock market turned reactionary today after an early session of irregularity. Many of the rails and industrials were heavy throughout the session, and several list did not come out of the sale trading. final quotations showing a long list of net losses ranging from 1 to 3 points. Trading was not quite restored to the pace of last week, although sales ran around 1,500,000 shares.

Selling was attributed to a variety of causes, not the least important of which was a realization by many that the market was due for at least a technical reaction after the recent spirited advance in prices. Meeting up of the call rate from 4 to 6 per cent with the ending of the year

REACTION HITS STOCK MARKET

Early Selling of Industrials Starts Downturn

Movement Later Broadens to All Other Groups

Bank Warning and Call Rate Rise Aid Slump

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—The stock market turned decisively reactionary today after an early period of irregularity. Many of the oils and industrials were liquidated throughout the session, but the general list did not turn heavy until late trading, final quotations showing a long list of net declines ranging from 1 to 5 points, although the volume of sales ran around 2,750,000 shares.

Selling was attributed to a number of causes, not the least important of which was a rather general belief that the market was entitled to at least a technical reaction after the recent spirited advance in many issues. Marking up of the call rate from 4 to 4½ per cent was coincident with the calling of about

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Trading continued in heavy volume on the curb market today, but prices drifted lower after an early period of irregularity. Failure of the market to rally further on President Coolidge's comment on brokers' loans undoubtedly caused some liquidation by disappointed speculators.

Several new highs were established during the session, but not all the gains were maintained. U.S.I. Battery soared 12 points to a new peak at 90 and then eased to 83½. Tubize Art Silk jumped 10 points to a new top at 805, but lost half the gain.

Cheese-roughit manufacturing closed 8 3-4 points higher at 121 1-4 after recording a new peak 3 points above that figure.

Unusually heavy activity again took place in several of the low-priced issues. Canadian Marconi was active around 9¢ a share. Engineers' Gold and Gold Center Mines practically doubled their prices of last week.

Oils were mixed. Standard Oil of Kentucky dropped 4 points to 129 and Gulf slipped back a point to 114, but Vacuum, Standard Oil of Indiana and some of the other active issues improved fractionally.

American Rolling Mills reacted nearly 4 points on the announcement of new financing. Midland Steel Products common broke 7 points to 107 on one sale. Conspicuous heaviness also was shown by Carnation Milk, Curtis Publishing, Firestone Tire, Mengel Company, New Cornelia and U. S. Gypsum.

Public Utilities moved within narrow and irregular limits Alabama preferred stocks, each rallied about 4 preferred stocks, each rallied about 4 points.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

How Do You Select a bond

OWNING BONDS is not half so much a matter of getting sound securities as it is of getting bonds that are suitable as investments for you personally. There are hundreds of good issues, but it's a mistake for any man to buy them indiscriminately, just hit and miss, with the thought that any good bond will do.

THE BONDS you already hold, whether or not you have an income aside from your investments, the provisions of your will, the matter of income tax, and many other factors must be considered when you buy bonds for yourself.

IT IS AN invariable rule of John S. Mitchell & Co. to offer every customer who comes to buy any bond our assistance in selecting one or more issues that—besides being sound—exactly fit his personal needs as an individual investor.

And there is a California security—the tax exempt Street Bond, marketed by a pioneer California Company—The Elliott-Horne Co. that offers this same kind of Service for a period corresponding to the life of every Street Bond we distribute. This Service is cheerfully rendered as a part of every sale and is without charge. A point well worth consideration.

LOS ANGELES-FIRST NATIONAL TRUST & SAVINGS BANK, Trustee

COMPANY Fontana Union Water Company is a mutual water company and was organized in California in April, 1912. Stock of the Company is sold only to landowners in the territory served in the ratio of one share of stock for each acre. It has recently acquired all of the property of Fontana Water Company. It owns all the capital stock except directors' qualifying shares of Fontana Power Company.

The Company supplies, without competition, water for agricultural purposes to approximately 15,000 acres of highly developed lands, principally citrus and deciduous groves, surrounding the town of Fontana, California. The Fontana agricultural region has been in the process of development for about 30 years. Based on the County Assessor's figures, the valuation of the lands served, exclusive of personal property, is in excess of $7,000,000.

WATER SUPPLY The Company obtains its water supply by diversion from the gravity flow of Lytle Creek, supplemented when necessary by pumping from 24 pumping plants. The water rights of the Company in Lytle Creek and its pumping rights in the Lytle Creek region have been definitely established by court decrees. The water supply available to the Company under these court decrees and from its pumping plants in the agricultural area is sufficient for all the needs of its consumers.

SECURITY These bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a direct mortgage on all the property of the Company now owned or hereafter acquired, including its very valuable water rights, and by pledge of all the capital stock except directors' qualifying shares of Fontana Power Company. A Guarantee Policy of Title Insurance in the amount of $1,400,000 will be issued by Security Title Insurance and Guarantee Company, Los Angeles, certifying these bonds to be a first lien on the real property to be pledged, subject only to the lien of current taxes. This policy will insure also the title of the Company to its water rights on Lytle Creek and its pumping rights in the Lytle Creek region.

Mr. J. B. Lippincott, Consulting Engineer, Los Angeles, has estimated the value of the water rights, land and physical property (after depreciation) which will secure this bond issue, as of October 31, 1927, to be $4,797,439, or more than 3 1/3 times the maximum amount of this issue. In addition, Mr. Lippincott has estimated the value of the Fontana Power Company to be $314,529, after deducting the $312,000 outstanding bonds of the Fontana Power Company which mature serially February 1, 1928 to 1947, inclusive.

INCOME Fontana Union Water Company, being a mutual water company, is not operated for profit. The Company's charges at the present time are based on a combination of flat rates and consumption, equivalent in all to $14.25 per share annually for 2 acre feet of water. This rate compares very favorably with the rate of other mutual water companies in the vicinity and does not average much over one-half the rate of water for most of the citrus area of Southern California. The Company is entitled to receive the net income of Fontana Power Company which, for the 10 years ended October 31, 1927, has averaged about $14,335 annually.

PURPOSE These bonds are being issued for the purpose of redeeming $105,000 bonds of Fontana Water Company, $737,000 bonds of Fontana Union Water Company, being all of said issues outstanding, to liquidate indebtedness and for other corporate purposes.

All legal proceedings incident to the issuance of these bonds are subject to the approval of Messrs. Fawcett & Thorn, Los Angeles, for the Underwriters and Messrs. Surr & Hellyer, San Bernardino, for the Company. Report and appraisal of the property of the Company made as of October 31, 1927 by Mr. J. B. Lippincott, Consulting Engineer, Los Angeles. Audit of the books and accounts of the Company made as of October 31, 1927 by Messrs. Arthur Andersen & Co., Certified Public Accountants.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (AP)—Buying of high-grade bonds appeared to taper off somewhat in today's market, and traders again turned their attention to mortgages with convertible features. A sudden increase in new offerings may have kept some buyers temporarily out of the market, but there were no indications of an imminence of stiffening money rates. In fact the Treasury Department's decision to offer 3½ per cent notes in exchange for third Liberty bonds, was construed as bearing out confidence in the credit outlook.

A few prominent railroad issues, such as Erie 5s, Atlantic Coast Line 4½s, Chesapeake Corporation 5s and Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis 5s, followed a firm trend. New Haven issues moved up smartly on a small volume of sales. Most of the rails, however, were fractionally lower.

Copper bonds were irregular, Chile 5s reaching a new high while Andes 7s fell back about a point. Interest in the oils centered in General Asphalt 6s, which sold at 115 for the first time in more than a year Julius Kayser 5½s again came into prominence with a gain of more than a point. Public utilities generally were quiet, although some of the New York transactions rallied from recent weakness.

Foreign securities were quiet, price changes being narrow and irregular.

New financing by the "Prisco" system is expected shortly, in connection with the maturing in about three weeks of $5,000,000 5 per cent notes, and the probable redemption of other securities. It is reported that the program may call for flotation of as much as $125,000,000 in new issues.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

600,000 in loans, and the note of warning against overexpansion of bank credit for speculative purposes by Albert H. Wiggin, president of the Chase National Bank, also had a tendency to chill bullish enthusiasm for the time being.

STEEL WEAKER

United States Steel common sold off 3 points despite predictions that the December unfilled orders to be made public at noon tomorrow might show an increase as large as 400,000 tons. Other steels moved within narrow and irregular limits. General Motors showed a net loss of 3 points at 153½, after dipping to 133, and most of the other motors sagged in sympathy. Hudson, which announced higher prices on several of its 1928 models, fell back 2 1-4 points to 80 1-4. Yellow Truck moved up 2 points in early trading, but lost half the gain.

Erratic fluctuations took place in Radio Corporation, which opened at 101 1-4, sold down to 99 1-8, rallied to a new record high at 104 3-4 and then fell back to 102, up 1 point net. Total transactions in that issue ran above 200,000 shares. American International Corporation, Corn Products, Kraft Cheese, National Bellas Hess and Devoe & Reynolds were among the issues to reach new high ground.

COPPER ISSUE DROPS

Acute weakness again developed in Greene Cananea Copper, which broke from 139 to 130½ and then rebounded to 132 1-8, off 5 7-8 net. The stock recently sold at 151½. Selling pressure was also effective against Adams Express, American Agricultural Chemical preferred, American Republics, A. M. Byers, Calumet and Arizona, Christie Brown, Coty, General Asphalt preferred, International Match preferred, Nash Motors, Dodge Bros. preferred, Peerless, United States Cast Iron Pipe, Reesia Insurance and Woolworth, all off 3 points or more.

Rails presented a few points of strength. Texas and Pacific ran up to a new record high at 107 and then slipped back to 105, and Bangor and Aroostook closed 5½ points higher at 70½ after selling slightly above that figure. New Haven sold off more than 3 points on reports that the resumption of dividends, previously scheduled for tomorrow, might be delayed.

Time money and commercial-paper rates were unchanged.

Except for a rally of about 25 points in Japanese yen to just below 47 cents, there were no changes of importance in the mixed foreign-exchange market. Sterling cables ruled firm around $4.87 9-32.

Sugar prices were slightly firmer, but the main trend in most of the other leading commodity markets was downward, although the losses were relatively small.

Corn Futures Turn Up; Wheat Off and Quiet

CHICAGO, Jan. 9. (Illustrated)—Wheat developed dreary tone, and with pressing from the American and Canadian Northwest prices declined around 1c from Saturday's finish, and closed with net losses of ¼@¾c. March finished at 1.29⅛ and May at 1.30⅝. Corn parted company with wheat and gained ⅛@⅜c, with March 87⅞@88 and May 91¼@91⅝. Oats were ⅛@⅜c higher and rye ⅜c lower.

With the wheat market in a rut, the realine news attracts little attention, and a good part of the fluctuations are due to local operations. Fit sentiment was inclined to be somewhat bearish, due to the easier tone in Liverpool and the increasing stocks in Canada. Visible supply at Canadian points and afloat is now 78,461,000 bushels, a gain of 2,181,000 bushels for the week and compares with 85,968,000 bushels last year. Domestic visible decreased 1,553,000 bushels for the week and is 94,619,000 bushels, against 61,-181,000 bushels last year.

Support to wheat came largely from short covering and buying against bids with some help given toward the last, due to the strength in corn. Liverpool finished ⅝@¾c lower and Buenos Aires and Rosario were unchanged as compared with Friday's finish. With heavy rains reported in the north, while in the southern sections it was cloudy. Export demand at the seaboard was only fair, with sales of 200,000 bushels reported in all positions.

Weather conditions in the American Southwest and West were generally favorable, although a good part of the snow covering has disappeared in some sections and another one was expected to be forming in Alaska. Fitzpatrick, however, was for generally fair, with moderate temperatures.

Local traders sold corn early, but later there was buying by commission houses and also buying of corn and selling of wheat by spreaders, and the former advanced readily. Sentiment is decidedly mixed and fluctuations erratic. Bryant was out with a summary of the situation, calling attention to the wide disparity between the government and the private reports. Country offerings remain small and spot basis firm, while the movement to terminals is relatively small for this season of the year. The trade is disposed to await the government report giving the commercial crop tomorrow before taking a decided stand on either side.

Nothing was heard regarding export business, with bids from abroad below sellers' views. Buenos Aires closed ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower and Rosario unchanged to ⅛c higher. Rain is needed for the new crop in some sections. Visible supply increased 1,629,000 bushels for the week and is 28,673,000 bushels, against 38,598,000 bushels last year.

Local traders sold oats early, but buying by cash interests and the strength in corn brought about a good upturn from the bulish figures. Visible supply decreased 325,000 bushels for the week.

Rye trade was light and scattered liquidation caused a lower range. Export bids were out of line.

A feature in lard trading was the buying of May by a western packer and comparatively moderate offerings, making a fairly firm market at the close, with net gains of 5@7½c. Short ribs were 15½@20c higher and bellies 5@7½c higher.

Cotton Futures Close Down on Bearish Mart

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. (Exclusive)—The cotton market developed further weakness today from a continuation of the profit taking movement of Saturday when prices left off with a net decline of about 20 points or $1 a bale. The further decline during the forenoon today was between 35 and 90 points. It brought January contracts down to 18 7-8 cents, March to 18.94 cents, May to 19.03 cents, July to 18 7-8 cents and October of the next crop to 16.25 cents. The selling was of a scattered character, with a mixture of liquidation by local traders and commission houses and southern selling. Current prices are near the low level reached on the 4th inst., after which there had been a rally of 45 to 50 points toward the close of last week.

Today's decline was influenced by less favorable reports from some of the southern mills and also at New England points. These indicate some of them are planning for a curtailment of the sheetings and cotton duck, as well as yarns, from recent overproduction. Liverpool cables are also less favorable today, with reports of considerable pressure of liquidation there and some fresh hedge selling by continental interests.

BOND BUYERS Investigate
MEXICAN "Assented Bonds"

A sharp advance in Government Bonds occurred last week due to interest payments forthcoming January 15 ... and further, to reports that American Bankers are expected to loan Mexico $7,500,000 during 1928.

Before such a loan is made we look for doubling and tripling in the market quotations of Mexican "Assented Bonds," now selling at 30c and 35c on the Dollar. Bought at these ridiculously low prices, bonds give a most remarkable income return.

Stern Brothers

6% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

Dated December 1, 1927 — Due December 1, 1947

Interest payable June 1 and December 1. Principal and interest payable at the principal office of Manufacturers Trust Company, in New York City. Coupon bonds in interchangeable denominations of $1,000 and $500, registerable as to principal. Redeemable at the option of the Company as a whole or in part upon 30 days' notice, on or before June 1, 1938, at a premium of 5% and interest; thereafter at a premium of 3% less ½ of one per cent per annum of bonds drawn. Interest payable without deduction for Federal normal income tax not in excess of 2%. Certain California, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Kansas, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Virginia taxes refundable upon timely and proper application, as provided in the indenture.

Manufacturers Trust Company, New York, Trustee.

A semi-annual sinking fund, beginning September 1, 1932, is calculated to retire 75% of this issue by maturity.

Descriptive circular, copies of which will be supplied upon request, contains a letter from Mr. Samuel Mundheim, President of the Company, from which he summarizes:

Stern Brothers, founded in 1867, is one of the oldest and best known department stores in the United States. It has exceptionally favorable leases, expiring in 1953, on a modern fireproof building, having a floor area of over 625,000 square feet, fronting 238 feet on Forty-second Street west of Fifth Avenue and extending through to Forty-third Street and to Sixth Avenue. This section between Times Square and the Grand Central Terminal is probably changing and developing more rapidly than any other district in New York. The completion of the Queensboro Subway extension, which will shortly have an entrance within the store, and the erection of several large office buildings have tremendously increased traffic and population in the neighborhood.

In order to profit by these opportunities for increased business, the Company is issuing these Bonds, its purpose being to reduce its fixed charges by acquiring its Class A shares and eliminating the dividends thereon, thereby making available additional funds wherewith to complete the extension and improvement of facilities now under way and to keep pace with the development of its neighborhood.

These Bonds will be a direct obligation of the Company and will constitute its sole funded debt. The Company's balance sheet as of January 31, 1927, as certified by Messrs. Arthur Young & Company, after giving effect to this financing, shows net assets of $12,806,157.60, equivalent to over $2,100 per $1,000 Bond. The leasehold alone has recently been appraised at a value substantially in excess of $7,499,600, the value at which Leasehold and Goodwill are carried in the balance sheet.

Net earnings after all charges except Federal taxes for the seven years ended January 31, 1927, as certified by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst for six years and by Messrs. Arthur Young & Company for the year ended January 31, 1927, averaged $1,202,422, or over 3.3 times the interest requirement of these Bonds.

We offer these securities when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to approval of counsel. Delivery will be made in the form of Interim Certificates of Manufacturers Trust Company, Depositary, exchangeable after December 1, 1928 (or earlier at the option of the Depositary) for definitive bonds of the respective denominations and the appropriate number of Stern Brothers Common shares (voting trust certificates).

We recommend these Bonds for investment

BY EDWARD C. KEOLEY

The Banks Bankers Production Co., the California subsidiary of the Ohio interests, is preparing for drilling two new wells in the Santa Fe Springs district, south of Los Angeles, according to unofficial reports. The report comes simultaneously with the starting of the pulling unit which will be used preliminary to a test of Union-Amerada No. 1 wildcat well in the east side of the most important new oil field in California for the past year.

It is announced that the Union-Amerada well has penetrated a new pay sand of about thirty-five feet in thickness at about 5185 feet, and that the oil is of good quality as well as quantity. It is said, definite information on the result is said to be well known, will apparently high-grade the property. The crew began reaming, it was reported, and drilling at 5160 feet. Bottom is said to be at about 5300 feet.

The Banks Bankers well has been shut down for the past week and in the last 1000 feet of drilling several of the oil sands have been encountered, but none to be good enough to warrant a test. It is understood that cores have been picked up from different depths, although only two of these were reasonably high to deserve the name of pay sand. The latest development is announced to be the rich-oil sand encountered at the bottom of the hole. Eastern's new well is drilled about 600 feet east of the Union-Amerada No. 1 well, and after has been staked about one-quarter distance to the southeast. It has not received as to the actual drilling operations at this writing, but it is thought that it will be only one of the wells drilled for the present, drilling of other well probably to be held up until a little more is known in the field.

Petroleum Corporation of California will deepen its Kerwin well in the Ritten Station district, according to reports. The well is now being pumped, test which will be for several days more, but there is no fear that the well will not turn out, and that a second job may be necessary.

The well landed up several days ago after pumping test, and is now on the bottom at about 5 ft. It is down 4000 feet, and a two-inch pump is being put in, with which the General Petroleum hoped to end the test.

Pacific Securities Company, 510 Ventura-avenue field in the Willett district, 2 well production parcels of that district, is the initial production of 10 barrels a day, according to reports. The well was completed at a depth officially and unofficially reported to be around 7000 feet. The oil is to be cleaned and to test by gravity.

Further development on the Willett field is a further indication to many County that the Willett pay sands were near the top, are altogether in the three of the best oil fields in the Ventura-avenue district. The past year was brought in some, although the depth of the Willett No. 1 was not en-

The Standard Oil Company has completed another good well on its property in the southeastern end of the Santa Fe Springs field, according to reports. The well was completed at a depth of 6200 feet, in the Pico sand, and is good for 2000 barrels a day. Gravity is 30 deg., and it shows

The Standard Oil Company is preparing for drilling of casing in its well at Seal Beach, the first of a number to be drilled in the district. It is reported to be ready to field re-test, but details from the company have been explored. It is not known what may be in the improvements in the well, but it has not been reported that discoveries to the Pico sand. The well is now 6000 feet, and the crew are making an attempt to reach the Pico sand.

The Standard Oil Company, and Standard Oil Company, and Petroleum in the Alamitos field are watching developments considerable interest, as the is regarded as likely to have some influence on the Signal lands have been drilling wells in this district. The Standard Oil Company, which has been brought back from the dead, and brought in as the former name with-out any particular curiosity as to what might have been.

KEYSTONE FAILS JULIAN DEFENSE

Trial Blast Hurls Lewis Plea Into Discard

Trial of De Mille on Usury Charge Postponed

[illegible] Lewis's plea to base a line [illegible] on the Julian Petro- [illegible] on the ground that spu- [illegible] issued by the corpora- [illegible] worth its face value was pre- [illegible] buried into the discard [illegible] by Superior Judge Doran. [illegible] later, in no uncertain terms, [illegible] that the fact that nearly [illegible] shares of the illegal stock [illegible] in excess of the limit set [illegible] State Corporation Commis- [illegible] stamped it as not stock at [illegible] mere scraps of paper, and [illegible] the end of the case he will [illegible] the jury.

AN OPEN LETTER TO HEARST

BY EUGENE BROWN

Dear William: All of a sudden it comes to me that you and I should do a lot of business together. You seem to have more money than brains while I have more brains than money. Also I have some of the most dazzling documents that ever dumfounded a diplomat. There is the combination for your life! Between us we should have this old world popping wide open in the next few weeks.

I can start a fight with any bunch you pick out and then you can stand on the edge and sell your newspapers. Some clean-up, what?

Maybe you have heard that the Mikado has written Trotzky offering to trade California for Siberia. The Japs expect to take the Pacific Coast with a flock of submarines and will want to use their holdings to the best advantage. There are a lot of them who get seasick on an ocean journey and so the Mikado will spread west as well as east. That is why he will give the Russians California for Siberia. I have the letter written on the Mikado's own typewriter and could let you have it for the trifling sum of $9000 or could possibly accept $15 in real money if the offer is accepted at once—this because of certain little embarrassments which are making themselves felt at this time.

Just imagine how mad the native sons would get when they heard that California was to be swapped for Siberia! Isn't that a knock-out? I bet you could sell 10,000 papers if you had big enough headlines.

If that isn't sensation enough I have plenty of other corkers. My sleeves are full of aces. You may imagine me as a drummer making his rounds with his samples. I come to your town, get a room at the best hotel and open up my line. I have the flossiest collection of secret documents you ever heard of—all done in real ink and tied with pink ribbon if desired. We can supply anything you want, but just think of having the chance at any of these samples:

(2.) Private letter of the German Kaiser to Lord Kitchener, dated April 1, 1914, and offering Kitchener the throne of England in exchange for the keys to the tower of London.

(3.) Certificate of nurse in Shanghai hospital to effect that Al Smith is a Chinaman and was born there in 1896 and is therefore ineligible for the Presidency.

(4.) Original Magna Charta as signed by King John and attested by Queen Elizabeth—into the hands of Baron Long.

(7.) Statement of Henry Clay that the cigars named after him are forgeries.

(8.) Affidavit of Andrew Jackson that the treaty of Ghent was signed under duress and that that part of America east of the Hudson River is the property of England.

(9.) Love letters of Apanias and Saphira.

Any of these papers would be a sensation and numbers of them would start a war. If these are not enough just let me know—in fact, if there is anything particular you would like I will get it for you. Even if I have to make it myself. If you want references write to the warden at Joliet. He will tell you that I have been indicted four times for forgery and that all the jobs were of the highest class. I take a great deal of pride in my work.

If we are able to start another world war with our documents I shall expect the usual commission. However, I would like to see you in the front-line trenches. You could get a lot of experience and maybe you could write something snappy about it and sell a lot of papers. That would be up to you.

If you want to do business with me I will be at the corner some Tuesday next week at 6 o'clock. You will recognize me by my high forehead and air of repose—in fact, they say I can sleep standing up. If you wish to communicate with me by wire or mail you may address me at the asylum where I now am stopping.

If there is any particular document desired in the list I have given just send a message like this: "I will be twelve next Friday." A stranger would think you were telling me when your birthday came but I would know that you wanted No. 12 document by the following Friday. That is what we call a code.

Between us we should stir up a lot of trouble in the world and give the newspaper business a big boost. You can save a lot of money by dealing with me instead of those grafters you found in Mexico. All they seemed to want was money. I take pride in my work.

Hoping you are the same,

Very insincerely,

ANANIAS MUNCHAUSEN.

BAR WILL SIFT BONDING FRAUD

Association Called to Act by Judge Hollzer

Contempt Charges Looming Over Allen Case

Statement by Jurist Scores Asserted Swindle

Investigation of asserted bail-bond irregularities in the District Attorney's office, which flared into importance last week when County Auditor Payne testified before the grand jury that the county has been defrauded of a $5000 bail bond in one instance, will be made by the judiciary committee of the Los Angeles Bar Association, Kemper B. Campbell, president of the association, announced yesterday.

Superior Judge Hollzer, upon whose court the asserted bail fraud was perpetrated in 1926 when a serious felony against Louis J. Allen was dismissed on asserted false representations that the defendant was in an eastern prison, requested the action of the Bar Association.

WHAT RECORDS SHOW

According to records in Judge Hollzer's court, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Murray appeared there June 4, 1926, and made a motion for dismissal of the Allen case on the grounds the defendant was in Joliet prison. The motion was granted and bail exonerated.

County Auditor Payne testified before the grand jury his investigation showed Allen never was in Joliet prison, was at liberty in Florida a year after the dismissal and that the county had been defrauded of the $5000 bail.

In connection with his request for an investigation Judge Hollzer issued the following statement:

"On last Friday a statement was made to this court, for the first time, claiming that certain representations, alleged to have been made to it as the basis upon which a felony prosecution against a defendant named Allen was dismissed and his bail exonerated, a year and a half ago, were false. These representations were to the effect that at the time referred to said Allen was incarcerated in prison in the State of Illinois.

NOT IN PRISON

"It is now charged, according to this statement made to the court on last Friday, that said Allen was not in prison at the time mentioned.

"The court is not now making any finding as to whether or not any such representations were false, nor, if they were false, as to who thus participated in imposing upon the court. This much, however, is obvious. A grave charge has been made, which, if substantiated, would indicate that a contempt of court has been committed.

"As the judge presiding here at the time these alleged false representations are claimed to have been made, and recognizing that the Los Angeles Bar Association is not only wholly free of any personal interest in this matter, but is the organized representative of the bar, aiding the courts in the administration of justice, I have asked the three ranking officers of the organization, namely, Mr. Kemper Campbell, president thereof, and Mr. Herbert T. Morrow and Mr. Leonard B. Slosson, vice-presidents, to appear in court for the purpose of calling this situation to the attention of the bar. The request is now made that a committee be appointed on behalf of the Los Angeles Bar Association to investigate all of the facts connected with this occurrence, to the end that if it shall appear a contempt of court has been committed, then contempt proceedings be instituted, to bring the guilty party or parties to justice."

CAMPBELL'S REPLY

In reply to Judge Hollzer's statement, asking co-operation of the bar association, President Campbell stated in court, as follows:

"May it please the court, speaking for the bar association, we fully appreciate the gravity of the charge that has been made, and we desire to assure the court of the willingness of the bar association at all times to co-operate with the court in matters of this nature.

"It occurs to me that a feasible plan would be, and I suggest, if it meets the concurrence of my associates, Mr. Morrow and Mr. Slosson, the appointment of a special committee representing the bar association of those who now constitute the judiciary committee of the association.

"The members of the bar who now constitute that committee are: Frank James, chairman; James A. Anderson, vice-chairman; A. W. Sorenson, secretary; John G. Mott, William J. Hunsaker, John W. Kemp, Louis W. Myers, Bert L. Cooper of Pomona, and Clyde Doyle of Long Beach.

REPORT TO COURT

"This committee will be designated as a special committee of the bar. We will present to them, acting as such special committee, the matter of Your Honor's suggestion to us, with the request to that committee to make a full investigation of the entire matter and to report to the court their advice as to further proceedings in the matter of contempt."

Meanwhile, the grand jury's only

Miss Hope, a passenger on the Panama Mail liner Ecuador, declared that despite her accomplishments as an equestrienne she always has desired to study music and that her trip is the fulfillment of a life-long dream.

Other passengers of prominence aboard were Capt. John Wieshofer, Panama Canal pilot, and Emilio L. Dominguez, head of the Central and South American department of the Bank of Italy, en route to Central America for a financial survey.

VALUABLE LAND SELLS FOR $64 TAX

Buyer Gets $15,000 Rent in One Year, but Owner Fights for Recovery

A piece of property, purchased by default on a street assessment of $64, returned its buyer $15,000 in rents during the first year following the purchase, according to testimony yesterday in Judge Crawford's court, where Mrs. Joanna Sanders is suing Mrs. Grace Warden.

Mrs. Sanders testified she and her late husband owned the property, located on South Main street, for a period of twenty years prior to the street assessment proceedings against it. She declared she had never received notice of the street assessment and as the tax rolls did not disclose her name the property was sold for the assessment and finally came into the hands of Mrs. Warden.

Judge Crawford denied a motion for a nonsuit interposed by the defendant and a decision is expected to be handed down today.

POWER BUREAU GRAB CHECKED

Ruling in Harbor-Plant Row Victory for Taxpayers

Court Permanently Blocks Using City Tidelands

"Jazzing" of Public Funds Also Disapproved

The Municipal Power Bureau's attempted "grab" of city-owned tidelands at Los Angeles Harbor to be used for a plant to generate electricity by steam was permanently prohibited by the Superior Court yesterday in an injunction handed down by Judge Tappaan. The voters, in 1926, already had disapproved of the Power Bureau's plan to build a steam plant on valuable city-owned lands at the harbor.

Judge Tappaan, in effect, also disapproved the Power Bureau including in its budget an item of $1,469,882 of bond money as part of a steam-plant appropriation. The court ordered that this bond money total "be subtracted from the lowest-ranking class contained in the appropriation," and further said "that the effect of that (subtraction) would be to reduce the appropriation as made for steam-plant and other purposes in the same class in like amount."

This $1,469,882 was represented in the budget as being cash balance on hand on July 1, 1927, giving the impression that represented surplus earnings for the year. Actually, this $1,469,882 was the balance of $4,000,000 of bond moneys which under the court's ruling yesterday, has been illegally transferred, and therefore, cannot be used in making the budget for the expenditure of money derived from operations in the power revenue fund.

DEFEAT ANTICIPATED

In the previous hearing on this case before Judge Shaw that judge criticised the Power Bureau for this mingling of bond moneys and revenues. During the trial of the case before Judge Tappaan much testimony was introduced as to this "jazz" bookkeeping by the Power Bureau in its effort to show that it was making millions of dollars. Judge Tappaan's injunction decision yesterday further added to the setbacks the Power Bureau has received as to its bookkeeping methods. The effect of the court's decision on the $1,469,882 item will be to reduce the budget appropriation for steam-plant and other capital purposes this amount and replace this money in the 1926 bond fund, where it belongs. The real purpose of this transfer of this $1,469,882 item from the bond fund to revenue fund, it developed at the trial of the case, was to show a favorable balance at the end of the fiscal year. For without it there would have been no favorable balance at all but on the contrary the Power Bureau's operations for the year would have shown a deficit.

Anticipating yesterday's defeat at the hands of the court and in view of the similar defeat by the voters in 1926, the Power Bureau, it developed at the trial, is proceeding to purchase privately owned land at the harbor to carry out its long-desired plan for a steam plant. The court's decision reducting the $1,469,882 item from the budget will reduce the Power Bureau's budget appropriations for the steam plant and other purposes and is expected to delay further progress on the steam-plant scheme.

EDISON SIGHTS VICTORY

Testimony was introduced at the trial before Judge Tappaan as to the series of the budgets for the fiscal year 1926-1927 and 1927-1928 adopted by the Power Bureau in an effort to "get by" with their steam plants and their mingling of funds. The court held that "there has been no diversion of the funds from the purposes for which they were voted."

Attorneys for the Southern California Edison Company, which applied to the court for the injunction against the Power Bureau, said that by the court's decision they have won all of their main contentions, had procured the injunction and prevented the use of valuable publicly owned tidelands for any but harbor-development purposes. Also, the attorneys, said, the court decision by ordering the $1,469,882 restored to the bond fund where it belonged, in effect, has disapproved of this mingling of bond and revenue funds. No announcement would be made either by attorneys for the Power Bureau or the Edison company, as to whether an appeal would be taken.

Chief Electrical Engineer Scattergood of the Power Bureau issued a statement yesterday declaring that the court injunction will not injure the bureau as it is planning to build its steam plant on privately owned land. He further said the court has declared the Power Bureau's budget legal and the bureau has the right to invest its money for a steam standby plant.

ECONOMIST OFF TO AID AMERICAN UNITY

DR. BARROWS DEPARTS ON PEACE TOUR

Will Visit Twelve South and Central American Nations in Travels

Unification of the entire social fabric of the Western Hemisphere toward a common sociological and economic goal is the mission on which Dr. David P. Barrows, economist and former president of the University of California, sailed yesterday for Central America. Dr. Barrows accompanied by his wife and son Thomas will be gone six months. He will traverse 12,000 miles and visit twelve Central and South American nations.

His tour is under the auspices of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace.

"America, with her immense national wealth and industrial prosperity, is in a peculiarly favorable position to help all of her sister American nations to prosperity and security," said Dr. Barrows.

"The Carnegie Foundation, like the United States government, would like to see the union of the five Central American republics into one great nation—with a common national program.

"I feel that I can best aid this plan by visiting the capitals and universities of all these countries, addressing representative gatherings, explaining the American idea of Pan-American goodwill and, in short, talking and acting like a good American. Besides the five Central American republics—Costa Rica, Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras and Panama—I am going to continue through South America to Venezuela, Colombia, Bolivia, Peru, Chile, Brazil and Argentine. In this time I hope to lay the foundations on which the men following me will be able to build definitely a lasting program of Pan-American goodwill."

Dr. Barrows was selected for his difficult mission by the Carnegie Foundation because of his long and varied experience with the Spanish peoples of the Pacific. In 1900, while still in his twenties, he went to the Philippines with the Taft Commission, between then and 1909 holding the posts of chief of the Bureau of Pagan and Mohammedan tribes and Director of Education of the Philippines. From 1910 until 1917 he was a member of the faculty of the University of California and from 1919 until 1925 was president of that institution. During the World War he was provost marshal of the Philippines and later went to Belgium as a member of the American Relief Commission.

HOMES TO TEACH BEAUTY

"Times" Educational Exhibit Seeks to Cultivate Esthetic Sense in Los Angeles

It is admitted that environment is a mighty force in shaping the life of every person. Children who grow up in good surroundings, with pretty home furnishings and comfortable living conditions, are trained to like those things. They can not be happy among ill-kempt, slovenly surroundings, for environment has taught them that pretty things are the proper surroundings and they will demand these things through life.

If grown persons can cultivate a sense of beauty by spending hours in museums or art institutions where furniture, pictures, rugs and statuary in beautiful form and color abound, surely a child whose early impressionable years are spent in a home where the furnishings are beautiful and in good taste, will grow up with an instinctive feeling for beauty which will abide with him or her forever.

The "Home Beautiful" educational exhibit arranged by the Los Angeles Times in co-operation with leading merchants of Los Angeles, has just this thought in mind in presenting to the people of this city six homes varying in type and price, and which will be completely furnished in perfect good taste, that everyone will be able to see homes in which harmony of color has played a big part in their make-up.

Beauty does not mean elegance or extravagance—this will be demonstrated very forcefully in house No. 6 in the exhibit. This house is the least expensive of the six models to be shown. That just as much beauty, charm and artistic effect can be attained in a home which is furnished with pretty but inexpensive furnishings will be demonstrated in this house in comparison with house No. 1, which is the most costly unit in the exhibit, and in which the furnishing investment will not have to be so much considered.

The Los Angeles Times and the merchants who are sponsoring this movement are trying to create reverence for beauty in the home, and a desire for these things. If the exhibit will accomplish this purpose and its effect will be to start a campaign of home improvement in Los Angeles, The Times and the merchants who are giving of their time

DRIVE BEGUN ON BARBERS WHO GIVE GULLIBLE "THE WORKS"

Moved to action by the number of complaints received at his office during the past week, City Prosecutor Lickley yesterday opened a campaign of prosecution against barbers who run up high bills on gullible patrons.

The arrest of Russell C. Baker, a barber of 4306½ Honuras street, on a charge of petty theft was the initial result of the drive, Dr. Lickley announced. Baker, who operates a shop at 506 East Fifth street, was taken into custody by Investigator George Crawford, working under orders of Chief Investigator Vail of the City Prosecutor's office.

Pat Gildea of 757 Merchant street complained to the investigator that he was forced to pay a bill of $5.35, though he ordered nothing more than a haircut and shave. The barber said he had dandruff and other scalp disease and ran up the bill in an effort to cure the ailments, the complainant charged.

After being forced to pay the bill, Gildea appealed to Chief Deputy City Prosecutor Concannon for a complaint against the barber.

Appearing before Municipal Judge Bush, Baker pleaded not guilty and demanded a court trial. Bail was fixed at $250.

At the same time, Prosecutor Lickley stated he has directed his investigators to clean up the barbers who resort to such practices.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

WITH just what emotions was young Hickman supposed to dilate upon perusing Oscar Wilde's poem, "The Ballad of Reading Gaol"?

This event—his reading of the description of the feelings of a jailbird while a hanging was going on—seems to have been one looked forward to with bated breath by Hickman's jailers.

Well, he has read the book, and thinks it is a pretty slick piece—which it is.

But what of it?

Some very bright young man in Pomona College—in their magazine—have been discussing the Lancer—pro and con.

So far as I can decide, the cons seem to be on the winning side.

HIGHBROW STUFF

What staggers me with confusion and dismay is to read in their dissertations the moods and reactions that are supposed to sway me hither and yon as I indite the burning words of this here column.

And that I can't pronounce most of the words whereby my inner nature is described.

The only soul agony of which I have ever been personally conscious, while writing, is to make the pieces fit exactly into a page and a half of manuscript paper. If I had some kind of thought meter which would save me this distress, then I wouldn't have any reactions at all.

SWEET MOTHER

The sweet-faced screen mother doesn't seem to pan out that way in real life.

One of the most dulcet and overwhelming of the sweet ones has recently hailed her two grown sons into court, charging them with having failed to support her.

At that, it must be an awful responsibility to try to be able to live up to a sweet stage mother.

BRILLIANT IDEA

Anything—even a submarine disaster—is likely to start the silly season in Congress.

One legislative gentleman rises in his place, with his face beautifully washed and his spats in place, to introduce a resolution to prohibit the Navy Department from sending any more submarines out to sea. He thinks they should thereafter inhabit calm southern waters, and doubtless the lakes in city parks.

In the event of war I suppose he would write a note to the enemy stating that we firmly but politely refused to fight them unless they would send their ships into still waters where we were practiced up.

Clark Ashes Scattered by Air Over Sea

As a tribute to a departed friend and at the request of his widow, friends of H. J. Clark, well-known business man, who died unexpectedly December 24, scattered his ashes over the Pacific from an airplane yesterday.

Mrs. Frank E. Lee and Robert J. Pringle, close friends of the Clark family, carried the ashes of Clark aloft and spread them on the bosom of the ocean. The party rode in a Ryan monoplane of the Mutual Aircraft Corporation, leaving Rogers Airport. Mrs. Clark was unable to participate in the ceremony.

Mr. Clark, who was engaged in the oil well supply business, was stricken with a heart attack the day following Christmas. He and Mrs. Clark resided on the Uplifters' ranch at Santa Monica.

WOMAN MUM IN APPLEBY DEATH

McMillan Pleads Not Guilty to Murder Charge

Mrs. Minnie Klock, central feminine figure in the investigation of the murder of Mrs. Amelia Appleby, wealthy widow of a Chicago inventor, went into seclusion yesterday and retained former Dep. Dist.-Atty. Joe Ryan to represent her.

That was the outstanding development in the case last night, after Dr. Charles McMillan, once Mrs. Klock's tenant in an apartment house at 881 South Western avenue, had pleaded not guilty in Superior Judge Hardy's court to an indictment charging him with the murder of Mrs. Appleby.

QUESTIONING HALTED

Mrs. Klock's retirement, it became apparent, was to frustrate further attempts on the part of deputy sheriffs to question her in regard to the case. A few days ago the officers said, they had information that she had been friendly with the doctor over a period of years, that he was living in her apartment house at the time of the murder and they took her to the Sheriff's office for questioning.

"I'm going to protect her rights," declared Ryan yesterday. "I can see no reason why this woman, whose health is impaired, should be questioned at all hours of the day and night."

"I'm not guilty," declared Dr. McMillan in a firm and almost indignant tone, when the indictment was read to him in court yesterday afternoon. His attitude was that of confidence, and he joked with the deputies who took him from the jail to the courtroom.

TRIAL DATE SET

Judge Hardy set Friday the 27th inst., at 9:30 a.m., as the time for trial. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Brayton represented the prosecution yesterday. The doctor was represented by Attorney Jerome J. Mayo, who declared the defense had no thought of presenting an insanity defense.

Mrs. Appleby's body was found trussed in a sack near San Fernando December 26, last. After several days she was identified as the widow of John Appleby, once a millionaire Chicago inventor, who left the bulk of his property to his widow when he died. Dr. McMillan was arrested shortly after by deputy sheriffs who asserted that a web of circumstantial evidence bound him to the murder.

CITY ASKS REFUND ON PEAT FIRE

Council Acts to Obtain $10,000 Used to Put Out Blaze from Landowners

On motion of Councilman Shaw the City Council yesterday started efforts to obtain from the landowners a refund to the city of the more than $10,000 spent to extinguish the peat-bed fire on the Baldwin-estate property at Jefferson street and Hauser Boulevard.

After burning two years and causing a nuisance in the West Adams and West Washington-street districts, the peat fire was extinguished by the City Engineer and a force of men by means of high-pressure "jetlying" and by turning Centinela Creek through the fire-bed area. The City Council appropriated $14,000 for the work, but the fire was extinguished for less than the appropriation.

Councilman Shaw's resolution declared the city's action was taken after the property owners had not obeyed the city's order to extinguish the fire. The Council's action was to instruct the City Attorney to take whatever legal steps are necessary to collect from the landowners the money spent by the city in extinguishing the fire on their land.

HISTORY OF MINCE PIE

Apropos of the Christmas season, an old English dish which has taken quite a hold on America was originally known by an entirely different name. Mince pies first came into popularity under the name of mutton pie, and were originally baked in a coffin-shaped crust intended to represent a crated manger or crib like that in which Christ was laid. In early English cookery books the crust of a pie was always known as the coffin

GRANDSIRE OF PARKER GIRL DIES

Announcement of the death of Dr. William Casper Parker, 80-year-old grandfather of Marion Parker, kidnaped and slain school child, which occurred Sunday at 2 a.m., was made yesterday. Dr. Parker died at his home at 1280 St. Andrews Place, after a long illness, death being attributed to old age and infirmities.

Funeral services will be conducted today at 11 a.m. at the Bresee Brothers' chapel, 655 South Figueroa street.

Mr. Parker leaves his widow, Mary Alice Parker; two sons, Frederick Willard and Perry Marion; three daughters, Helen, Mrs. Hazel E. Garber and Mrs. Edna Dawson, and three grandchildren, Perry Willard Parker and Marjorie Parker, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Marion Parker, and Robert Garber, all of Los Angeles. One brother, Perry Brown Parker, of McFarland, and one sister, Mrs. George J. Dalton of Los Angeles, also are left.

Interment in Evergreen Cemetery will follow the funeral.

Cleveland Folk on Tour Due to Arrive Today

The first in a series of special Pullman cars of eastern tourists scheduled to visit Los Angeles during the coming months will arrive over the Union Pacific Gold Coast Limited this afternoon. The first cars are occupied entirely by Clevelanders who are to spend several weeks in the Southland.

"This is the first of the big movement to the Pacific Coast," said R. B. Roberton, assistant traffic manager, Union Pacific system, yesterday. "Their visit is the result of the intensive campaign inaugurated by the Union Pacific to bring tourists in special cars to the coast. By inaugurating the special car service it is possible to get people from the same vicinity to make the California trip at the same time, thus keeping friends and acquaintances in a group, thus affording greater enjoyment to the tourist. Incidentally also it enables the railroad to provide special facilities. Our schedules call for a large number of such parties during the coming months."

Italian Consul Advised of New Lira Standard

Count Buzzi Gradenigo, Italian Vice-Consul for Los Angeles, yesterday received official advice from the Italian Ambassador at Washington of the monetary reform which places the Italian lira on a gold standard.

"The return of Italy to the gold standard represents a step of capital importance toward the rapid development of the country brought about by the sound policies of the Fascist government," said Count Gradenigo. "It offers another indication of the rehabilitation of the European continent."

This action was decided in full cooperation with the Bank of England and the Federal Reserve Bank of America. The Bank of Italy (the Italian national bank) as a result of the credit arrangements made with England and the United States for a total amount of $75,000,000 and with a banking syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. for an additional $50,000,000, has at its disposal for the defense of the new gold lira a total that is ample for the purpose.

Plane Carrying Actor Crashes

Ben Lyon, film juvenile, was slightly injured yesterday when a plane belonging to Reginald Denny, in which he was a passenger, crashed when attempting to land at San Bernardino. Others in the plane were Veron Wood, a friend of Denny, and Jimmy Maddern, pilot. They were able to proceed to Los Angeles in an automobile after having minor injuries treated. They were on a pleasure trip at the time.

'NOT GUILTY,' TO BE HUNT'S PLEA

Stands Ready to Help Hang Child Slaughterer

Both Sides Polish Weapons for Battle on 25th

Welby Hunt, 16-year-old confessed accomplice of William Edward Hickman, will plead not guilty to the indictment charging him with the murder of C. Ivy Toms, Rose Hill druggist, when he is arraigned before Judge Hardy today at 10 a.m.

The former pal of Hickman will prove an outstanding witness for the prosecution when the self-confessed kidnaper and slayer of Marion Parker is given his sanity hearing of the 25th inst.

At the arraignment today Hunt will place the entire blame for the Christmas Eve robbery and fatal shooting of the druggist on Hickman, and will stand on his confession of being present at the shooting, but fleeing when the firing started.

This became known last night following a conference between Hunt, his attorney, A. Gray Gilmer, and his step-grandmother, Mrs. Martha A. Driskell, in which Gilmer outlined the defense plan of his client, and the attitude of Hunt toward the slayer of the 12-year-old schoolgirl.

Hunt will stake his fate on his own testimony as against that of Hickman, Gilmer stated. He will make no insanity plea, nor will he ask for immunity, and his trial will be expedited as much as possible.

Efforts will be made, Attorney Gilmer stated, to transfer the trial of Hunt from the Superior Court to Juvenile Court, and a petition for a separate trial will be presented to the court without delay.

ALIENISTS AT WORK

Alienists representing both prosecution and defense will today start exhaustive examinations covering the insanity plea of Hickman.

Dist.-Atty. Keyes yesterday ordered three alienists, Drs. E. Huntington Williams, Victor Parkin and Paul M. Bowers, to examine Hickman in his cell at the County Jail and make an official report of their findings as to the mental condition of the self-confessed murderer.

The District Attorney also announced that Drs. Cecil Reynolds and Fred A. Mikels, both authorities on mental diseases, had made a report of their examination of Hickman.

The two brain experts spent several hours with Hickman shortly after his return from Pendleton, Or., and yesterday asserted that they were ready to pronounce the prisoner sane. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Murray declined to make public the report of the alienists but indicated that they would be placed on the witness stand at the Hickman trial on the 25th inst., and that they would testify that they found the kidnaper and slayer absolutely sane and mentally alert.

DEMENTIA PRAECOX

Attorney Jerome Walsh in Kansas City expects to start questioning witnesses tomorrow, and has announced that the depositions he is gathering will prove that Hickman is suffering from dementia praecox. This was the form of insanity made a basis for the defense of Leopold-Loeb, and is described by medical experts as a type of adolescent insanity.

Walsh also told Kansas City legal advisers of placing Hickman under a hynotic spell by alienists in an effort to shake his confession. The confession remained unbroken, Walsh announced, and it was after this demonstration that he decided that Hickman was alone in the kidnaping and slaying. The alienists told Walsh that Hickman would tell the truth while under the hypnotic spell. Hickman's attorney also asserted that he is now planning to follow closely the change in Hickman from an individual with a "superiority complex" to one with an "inferiority complex that led into the crime."

CAR DEMANDED

Attempts yesterday of a theft and insurance company to recover the "death car" of Hickman was without avail. The coupe was stolen in Kansas City and the owner there has been reimbursed for his loss, according to the insurance representative. The company now desire the auto so that it may be resold. According to the theft investigator the car needs practically no reconditioning or repair and shows mileage of a little over 7000. It can be placed on the second-hand floor and will bring a good price, the insurance representative stated.

George Contreras, chief of detectives of the District Attorney's office, declined to release the automobile until after the insanity trial. Contreras also stated that a great mass of evidence covering the Hickman crimes had been obtained and that his office was ready for the start of the hearing.

OBJECTIONS PREPARED

Attorney Cantillon, junior defense counsel, declared yesterday that he will make objections to mental tests of Hickman unless an expert representative of the defense is permitted to be present during the examinations. Cantillon, who received no instructions yesterday from Attorney Walsh, chief defense counsel, now in Kansas City, said that he would send a physician to Hickman today to make a blood test and a physical and medical examination of his client.

Any further moves of the defense, according to Cantillon, will be made only on instructions from Walsh and his Missouri associates.

Intimations from Kansas City that Dist.-Atty. Keyes had waived statutes of California governing the admission of evidence in order to permit a thorough examination of the sanity of Hickman were denied by Attorney Cantillon, as well as Keyes. Walsh left here with certain stipulated questions to ask certain stipulated witnesses, Cantillon said. There will be no attempt on the part of the defense to assemble data outside the stipulation, local defense counsel asserted.

REALTY MEN TO HEAR INDUSTRIAL REVIEW

What was accomplished industrially in Los Angeles during 1927, and what can safely be predicted for 1928 will be discussed by R. D. Sangster, manager of the Industrial Department of the Chamber of Commerce before a membership meeting of the Los Angeles Realty Board this evening in the board's assembly room on Flower street. The same ground, but viewed from a general commercial angle, will be presented by Arch W. Anderson, vice-president of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank. The Tuesday evening meeting will be the first of the regular weekly meetings of the board for 1928 and is open to members of the organization and their employees.

HOMES EXHIBIT IDEA CULTURAL and merchandise to promote this thought will be fully repaid for all the effort it has taken.

While pretty draperies have been selected and will be hung in each house, and the rooms will have attractive and appropriate furniture and floor coverings, this does not mean the houses are furnished to create the desire it is hoped this exhibit will stimulate in the minds of visitors. It is the little touches of personality which really make a home, and this phase will be looked after very carefully.

PRICES GRADED

The six houses vary in price from $20,500 to $75,000, and are located in the best residential sections of Los Angeles, will be furnished under the expert supervision of Mrs. R. H. Thomas of Richmond, Va. Mrs. Thomas has conducted a number of similar exhibits in many of the large cities in the country, under the sponsorship of leading newspapers, and it is said that her success has been remarkable from an educational standpoint.

The six houses will be open for public inspection the 22nd to 29th inst. The houses will be open from 1 to 10 p.m. daily during this period, and the public will be invited to visit them without charge.

The location of houses is as follows: House No. 1, valued at $20,500, 4954 Cromwell avenue, Los Feliz; house No. 2, valued at $25,000, 2317 Rock Lif Drive, Hollywoodland; house No. 3, valued at $21,000, 205 McCarthy Drive, Beverly Hills; house No. 4, valued at $12,500, 139 Hayworth avenue, Beverly Green; house No. 5, valued at $9650, Forty-third and Sutro avenue, Leimert Park; house No. 6, valued at $7950, 4150 Sutro avenue, Leimert Park.

much as the spurious stock comes under the category of a claim, arguments along that line will not be heard in this trial.

The court reprimanded Ford once for the attorney's desire to argue the point.

A forty-five-minute delay was experienced yesterday morning when the jury panel was exhausted.

Four of the original twelve drawn Thursday were in the box at adjournment last night. Five new tentative jurors, replacing those excused on peremptory challenge yesterday afternoon, are:

QUESTIONING RUSHED

All witnesses in the case were excused yesterday until next Monday morning, when testimony is expected to begin. The remainder of the week will be consumed selecting the jury, it was indicatd.

"Each attorney here is examining prospective jurymen as expeditiously as can be expected, and in a case of this kind seven says to obtain a jury is not too long," Judge Doran said.

The court further added that if interrogation does become a drawn-out affair he will take a hand.

"So far, each attorney has limited his questions to the minimum number that can be expected," the judge said.

Of the 120 peremptory challenges, only seventeen had been used at adjournment. Twenty-nine prospective jurymen have been examined.

CECIL B. DE MILLE TRIAL POSTPONED

Trial of Cecil B. De Mille, charged with usury in connection with the Julian Petroleum expose, was continued yesterday by Municipal Judge Blake until March 5. The motion was made by Deputy City Prosecuter Rosenblum because several of his principal witnesses are on trial in Superior Court on charges growing out of the wrecking of the company.

Rosenblum also told the court that his investigation of the De Mille case has not been completed.

I. Behrstock, also facing a usury charge, is scheduled to appear before Judge Blake tomorrow. Other trials scheduled are L. A. Leavitt, 17th inst.; J. Farbstein, February 27; Harry M. Haldeman, April 2; Charles A. Banks, April 9, and Jack Rosenberg, April 23.

There are 133 usury misdemeanor cases in Municipal Court.

apparent action on the grave charge has been the indictment of Bert Ramsey, an investigator, who unearthed and obtained affidavits referring to the asserted irregularity. Ramsey says the charge of driving-while-drunk against him was brought by the District Attorney's office in retaliation for his investigation.

Others who have been examined by the grand jury are Howell Richardson, local attorney and former Deputy District Attorney, who represented Allen at the dismissal proceedings, and Attorney Elconin, who once represented the now-missing defendant.

The gravity of the charge against the District Attorney's office has stirred judicial circles and Payne says there is a strong possibility that the County Efficiency Commission will be requested to conduct a public hearing in the matter.

Furthermore, the Auditor asserts, the county is legally entitled to sue Dist.-Atty. Keyes on his official bond for recovery of the exonerated $5000 bond. That action also is strongly contemplated, he says.

As the grand jury proceeded with its investigation yesterday, Attorney Richardson, who stood on his constitutional rights at his first appearance last week, went before the body. His secretary, Dolly Pritchard, also was called. Neither would comment on their appearances and the District Attorney's office likewise was silent.

COURT TRUMPS LOW DAM CARD

San Gabriel Ruling Sustains "High" Proponents

Judge Anderson Holds Board Erred in Change

Evidence Now to be Taken on "Conditions" Clause

The first victory in the legal battle between advocates of a high dam and proponents of a low dam for flood-control purposes in the San Gabriel Valley was won by the high dam side yesterday.

Judge Anderson, who is hearing injunction suits against both plans simultaneously, ruled that the Board of Supervisors made a big mistake when it voted to change from high dam to low dam. The mistake was in not showing a record of having taken evidence to show there had been a "change of conditions" since the voters, at the bond election, had approved the high dam plans. The law says a "change of conditions" must have taken place to give the board jurisdiction to alter a mandate of the electors.

Roy Linn, attorney for the California Taxpayers' Association, which is promoting the suit to enjoin the building of the high dam, had argued for two days that the recorded fact that the board had adopted a resolution changing the plans conclusively established that it had done all the necessary things precedent to taking that action.

RESIDENTS SUSTAINED

Counsel for San Gabriel Valley residents, who are strongly in favor of a high dam because of the water it will conserve, held that the board did not exercise judicial functions in such manner as to warrant any such presumption, and Judge Anderson agreed with them.

This means that the court will hear evidence as to whether there actually was any such change of conditions as would warrant the board in altering the mandate of the electors. The low dam people rely upon the fact that special engineers who reinvestigated the whole situation after the voters had approved the high dam plan set forth in an opinion that the low dam was the proper design, and that the high dam would cost more than the $25,000,000 voted for this purpose. The argument will be whether an engineer's opinion is a "condition." The high dam faction is sure "conditions" have something to do with actual physical facts.

ARGUMENT ASPHYXIATED

Judge Anderson's ruling may have choked to an untimely death another lusty argument which Flood-Control Counsel Dowds has been restraining with a lot of impatience all during the discussion so far. If Judge Anderson had said the board had jurisdiction to change the plans, Dowds was ready with a new one. For the board, after changing from high dam to low dam, changed back from low dam to high dam with another resolution, and it was Dowds's idea to assert that all the preceding argument had just been a lot of words.

The switch from low dam to high was was by a 3-to-2 vote and it was at this juncture that the board split, Supervisors Graves and Bean holding out for the low dam and the other three going high dam. Graves and Bean are sure that the board could not take any action at all on the plans, under the law, by a vote of less than 4-to-1.

EVIDENCE, NOT ARGUMENT

The taking of evidence was started yesterday after Judge Anderson made his ruling. James W. Reagan, former chief engineer of the flood-control district, who drew the high dam plans, took the stand and testified as to what the "conditions" were that prevailed when the voters approved them, so that the court might know what "conditions" had been changed, if any.

Taking of evidence will be continued today. Judge Anderson's ruling yesterday was taken to indicate that the case will be at trial for several weeks, for it opened the gates for a flood of evidence.

Trial Date for Lewis Fixed in Promotion Case

Another echo of the promotion of Atascadero was heard yesterday in United States District Judge McCormick's court when the trial of Edward O. Lewis, promoter of the project, and three lieutenants was set for the 24th inst. It is charged Lewis and the others used the mails to defraud in the making of asserted personal loans. The amount involved is said to be about $1,300,000. The other defendants are Maj. Henry L. Kramer, John E. Hoblit and William Ahrens.

Lewis and Kramer now are facing sentences in Federal prison in connection with a campaign conducted by a Lewis publication, in which subscriptions were sought. Lewis received a six-year sentence and a fine of $15,000 and Kramer received two years and was fined $2500. Each defendant appealed. All men involved were officers of the corporation of which Lewis was head.

Both Kramer and Lewis have stated they will act as their own attorneys.

General Motors Building Rumors Stir New Denial

Despite rumors on the matter that have persisted for several weeks, denial again was made yesterday that negotiations are in progress for the purchase of a tract of land at the harbor by the General Motors Corporation.

One report was that the motor corporation was dealing with the Consolidated Lumber Company for the purchase of the tract, which lies within the limits of Los Angeles and on the water front. The Consolidated Lumber Company denied that such a deal is on. Later reports that the tract was to be purchased from the Union Pacific Railroad were denied by officials of that company, who stated that no deal of that nature is pending with their organization.

The rumors are said to have their foundation partly in the understanding that General Motors will make a move to install a plant along the lines of the Ford plant to be built at Long Beach.

GIRL WINS JUDGMENT FOR INJURY

Pianist Hurt in Auto Accident Granted $7700 Damages Against Driver

As a sort of delayed New Year's gift, Eileen McCarthy received from Judge Sproul in Superior Court yesterday, a judgment for $7700.

On the eve of December 31, 1926, her complaint recites, Miss McCarthy set forth with Roy E. Farlee to attend a party on Forty-eighth street. They were in Farlee's car. Miss McCarthy said she protested against the reckless manner in which she said the car was driven but that Farlee paid little attention to her remonstrances.

At Thirtieth street and Angeles Mesa Drive, she said, the car turned over and she was pinned underneath and seriously hurt. Her injuries wrecked her career as a professional pianist, for which she had prepared, and also ruined what she considered to be bright prospects in motion pictures.

Farlee was not there to contest the action and judgment was entered against him by default.

NOT GUILTY PLEA MADE IN SLAYING

Trial of Husband Held for Shooting Wife to Death Set for February 7, Next

John Joseph Malone, charged with shooting his wife to death in a downtown restaurant when she refused to yield to reconciliation advances, pleaded not guilty to the charge of murder yesterday when he was taken before Superior Judge Hardy.

Judge Hardy fixed Malone's trial date for February 7, next.

According to officers who investigated the death of Malone's wife, Ruth, the fatal quarrel occurred December 13, 1927. Malone is said to have entered the restaurant where his wife was employed and attempted to effect a reconciliation. When she refused to live with him longer, Malone, officers say, left the restaurant threatening to come back and retaliate.

Friends of the woman advised her to leave the place, according to officers, but she remained at her work. An hour later Malone returned and once more attempted to smooth out their domestic troubles. Failing in this he is asserted to have taken a pistol from his pocket and started firing at his wife. He chased her to a rear room where he fired the fatal shot, officers state, and then fired another shot into his own head.

For weeks Malone lay in the General Hospital near death but physicians eventually saved his life and he was ordered to stand trial immediately.

Cat Club Show Has Prizes for Alley Fighters

The twenty-fourth annual show of the Los Angeles Cat Club will be held at 720-722 South Main street the 13th and 14th inst. with the prize felines competing for an enviable list of cups and prizes including those offered under the rulings of the American Cat Association, of which the local club is a member.

Cups are offered for the champion of champions, best cat bred by Los Angeles exhibitor, mother and litter, best novice and a separate prize of five pounds of raw beef for the winner in the "foreign legion" class, whose prowess on back-fence battlefields has made them outstanding.

The show opens at 10 a.m. and closes at 10 p.m.

Child Injured in Traffic Dies

Virginia Cleveland, 12 years of age, 6707 Parmelee street, died yesterday at Angelus Hospital as the result of injuries received Saturday night when she was struck by an automobile driven by Thomas Cline of 1874 Putney street, at Sixty-sixth street and Compton avenue. Witnesses say the child ran into the path of Cline's machine and the accident was unavoidable.

HOSPITALS WIN FIRST LEGAL TILT

Mental Case Retreats Get Temporary Injunction Against Interference

The city ordinance prohibiting operation of hospitals for the treatment of insane persons and sufferers from nervous disorders outside a certain district probably is "unreasonable, unwarranted, discriminatory and arbitrary," Superior Judge Gates held yesterday when he granted an order temporarily restraining the municipal authorities from enforcing it against three complainants, Emil Wittman, E. B. Jones and Jerrold A. Stern.

The plaintiffs operate hospitals in the Mar Vista section of the city, which was annexed last March. In August the City Council passed an ordinance restricting the operation of such hospitals to the central downtown district and the San Fernando, shoestring and west-coast additions.

The plaintiffs showed that they had made large investments in plant and equipment, that the district in which they are operating is sparsely inhabited, whereas the permitted districts are to a large degree closely built up, and that conditions in Mar Vista are unusually adapted to hospitals.

Judge Gates ruled that their showing indicated a "strong probability" of success in their litigation and ordered the city to let the hospitals alone until the cases are tried.

LONG JAIL TERM GIVEN TO PARENT

Father Must Break Rock 540 Days for Failure to Take Care of His Son

Convicted by a jury in fifteen minutes of failing to provide for his minor child over a period of six years Aubrey Brooks, 35 years of age, a dairyman, yesterday was sentenced by Municipal Judge Blake to 540 days in the City Jail, the heaviest ever imposed in local courts for such an offense.

The sentence followed breaking down of Brooks's contention that he is subject to epilepsy and cannot get steady employment. Dr. Rose Bowers of 417 South Hill street testified she had examined Brooks and found him feigning illness.

Mrs. Malvine B. Brooks of 1663 North Alvarado street declared she was divorced from Brooks in 1920, when he failed to support her and their 12-year-old son, Aubrey, Jr. She received no money for support of the child since 1921, she said.

Judge Blake declared the case one of the most flagrant ever to come to his attention. As a result of the sentence Aubrey, Jr., will receive $2 for each day his father works on the recently created rock pile. The money will come from the appropriation made by the City Council for these cases.

TOO LAZY TO WORK, GETS YEAR ON ROCK PILE

Unable to support his six minor children for the last four years for one reason or another, William Manson, 43 years of age, was sentenced to a year's labor on the rock pile yesterday by Municipal Judge Georgia Bullock.

Manson defended himself by saying he was too sick to work, but physicians from the city health department testified they believed him "too lazy" to work. Manson described himself as a laborer.

Mrs. Margaret Manson of 1532 San Pablo street, wife of the defendant, declared her six children, who range in age from 11 months to 10 years, have been dependent upon the county charities for support since 1923.

Funeral Rites of Robert Skeel to Be Thursday

Funeral services for Robert A. Skeel, San Francisco book-store man and former An... o, will be conducted at 3 p.m. Thursday at B...see Brothers' funeral parlors. Mr. Skeel, who lived in San Francisco for the past three years, died Sunday in Philadelphia, where he was attending a conference. His death followed a sudden illness.

ROBERT A. SKEEL

He leaves his three-month bride, the former Mari Hagen of Minnesota; a sister, Miss Laura Skeel, and a brother, Dr. Donald Skeel, the last two being residents of Los Angeles. Mr. Skeel came to Los Angeles thirty years ago from his home in Illinois. He was graduated from the Los Angeles public schools and the University of Southern California.

He was recognized as an authority upon books and was employed by Fowler Brothers for seventeen years, leaving that position to manage the Presbyterian book store at San Francisco.

Cryer Vetoes Ordinance to Widen Sunset

Mayor Cryer yesterday vetoed an ordinance passed by the City Council providing for the widening of Sunset Boulevard between Normandie and Bronson avenues. The measure called for the setting back of curbs five feet on either side.

The Mayor sent a message to the Council with his disapproval of the legislation, stating that in his opinion a majority of the property owners in the district affected oppose the widening and that while the city fathers are not bound to respect this opposition he feels it should be taken into consideration.

Setting the curbs back would necessitate cutting down valuable trees, Cryer said, adding that the street is already as wide as Broadway at Seventh street, without the car tracks which take up much space, and is of sufficient width to take care of its share of traffic for years to come.

LOST MOTION

PASSION FOR PACE

The doctor tells us not to accept hurry as an essential of modern life. But when folks are clamoring for cars that will do eighty miles an hour on the open road the itch for speed is thickly implanted. Men and women indicate a passion for haste that is not real. They insist that they are in a hurry when they really have no place to go. The urge for action is a false alarm. But there it is and it is not to be denied. Without just warrant we have become a race of speed maniacs.

PEACE AND GOOD WILL

It is a custom in Germany and some other lands to begin the year on terms of good fellowship with all men. To that end they have the habit of hunting up those with whom they have had quarrels or differences and ironing them all out. Visits are exchanged and acquaintanceship smoothed and extended. Hatreds are forgotten, insults forgiven and friendships revived. This is a fine spirit in which to enter the season and the whole world would do well to emulate it.

GROUNDS FOR DIVORCE

The fact that a husband shut himself behind the sporting pages of his newspaper and there remained for hours is not of itself reason for divorce. This is the casual opinion of the court. If a man is so occupied with the news of the ring and the diamond that he cannot see or hear his spouse she has a right to feel affronted, but she cannot secure a legal separation. The pink sheet is not evidence in a divorce case. It is neither cruelty nor desertion. If it lead to nonsupport that is another proposition.

HIGH MARKS

The Australian air service is also making a good showing. Australia is a country of magnificent distances and few railroads and aviation should there be at its best—as a commercial proposition. It is said that during the last year the regular planes in the Australian service covered more than 500,000 miles without an accident to a pilot or passenger. It is a highly creditable record. The regular service makes no attempt at trick formation in the heavens. The only rule is safety first.

NO GRAFT IN ITALY

There are to be no political assessments or passing of the hat in the official life of Italy. This is the latest pronouncement of Boss Mussolini and for once it finds general favor. The public service in Italy is not richly paid—since the war, and those in office are not in position to extend benefactions to their superiors or meet party demands. The rule, therefore, is that there shall be no grafting and no assessments. If this can be maintained it is quite a step in higher and purer politics. Mussolini might spread his recipe over larger territory.

EASY TO DIGEST

Some dietitians say that hot mince pie is not necessarily indigestible—if the digestive apparatus is functioning normally. Yes, it is not necessary not to digest hot mince pie. The best procedure after eating a double portion is to relax on a lounge and close the eyes as in slumber. The airplane crashing through the window will zoom over the forehead in time to avoid the elephant entering the music room, where the guns roar as the jazz orchestra glides melodiously over the rushing cataract and settles gently on the wasps' nest despite the patriotic protestations of the Senator from North Virginia. Upon waking, resume the daily tasks as if nothing had happened. It is not necessary to suffer.

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW

Soldiers of this and other days hail joyously the announcement that Maj.-Gen. John Archer Lejeune is on his way to the scene of Marine operations in Nicaragua. Gen. Lejeune stands high in the estimation of present and former service men; a standing won by definite performance and a dynamic personality.

He is, in short, a dashing, crashing, fighting man, a soldier with a tremendous fighting heart and a leader the fighting American soldier loves to follow. He worked fast at Vera Cruz in April, 1914, and occupied the city with characteristic Marine Corps dash. With his "devil-dogs" gathered close to him in the Second Division, he made himself a popular hero in the A.E.F. with his leadership at St. Mihiel, in the Champagne offensive, and in the Meuse-Argonne drive. No man in the Army of Occupation was more generously admired.

The Marine Corps commander was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1888, and from the Army War College in 1910. He became a major-general July 1, 1918, and 61 years old this month. His arrival in Nicaragua will be no mere military gesture, for Maj.-Gen. Lejeune is at once the aegis and the eagle of the soldiers "first to land." It won't be long now.

IMMIGRATION LAWS

Smuggling aliens into this country is a once rapidly growing industry that has suffered a sharp relapse, by reason of the increased efficiency with which the immigration officials are functioning. This in turn is due in a large part to the experience of the three years during which the present laws, termed drastic abroad, have been in force. The situation also discloses the exceptional position in which this country is placed, in relation to most of the rest of the world.

As a land of opportunity the United States stands in a class apart. This is not due so much to more favorable climatic conditions and a more productive soil, as to superior governmental and social conditions. Whatever else may be urged against prohibition, it is apparent that it has not caused this country to be avoided by those living elsewhere. Even though accustomed to drinking, there are tens of thousands who would rather be dry here than wet in the communities where they now reside.

In Canada is agricultural land that compares favorably with most of that in our own country. The immigration laws of Canada are as mild as those of the United States are drastic; yet there has been no rush of immigrants to the dominion north of us, and strict surveillance along the border is necessary to keep those who come to Canada from surreptitiously working their way south.

In Mexico there are vast areas that would respond to well-planned and intensive cultivation with generous harvests, and Mexico possesses an almost inestimable treasure in undeveloped minerals; yet it is on the Mexican border that a majority of the smuggled aliens were caught.

Investigation by the immigration authorities has disclosed that a very considerable portion of those seeking fraudulent entry are not seeking employment on the land or in industries. Some are radical agitators coming to foment discord and discontent, and others, criminally minded, expect to live through violation of the law—to make a quick stake here through trickery or violence and slip away again.

There was a time when it was easy to become a resident of the United States, when all could acquire American citizenship who desired. But the millions of acres of what were once rich government lands are now occupied, and most of them under cultivation. There is no shortage of labor and to provide employment for the millions who look upon this country as a land of promise would be to increase unemployment among those already residents, most of whom are citizens. Employment, like charity, must begin at home.

Forty years ago the great majority of the immigrants were from the British Isles and from Northern and Central Europe. Many came to escape political persecution; but the whole formed a sturdy, enterprising class who were willing to begin as farm laborers or factory workers, who came with the intent of building up the country, not exploiting it and tearing its government down.

But it developed during the last ten years of "mild" immigration laws that the criminal element among the immigrants was increasing, that radicalism in Europe was seeking to overflow into this country, and that we were receiving foreigners faster than we could assimilate them. The experience of the last three years has amply proved the necessity for more stringent immigration restrictions.

Scores of bills have been introduced during the present session of Congress having for their purpose the modification of the present immigration law. It is possible that some technical changes might be made for the good of the service; for all laws before they are tested are more or less experimental. But the suggestions for modifications should first have the approval of the Department of Immigration. Secretary Davis and his assistants have won the confidence of the country, and they are the best judges of what changes, if any, are necessary.

A GARDEN'S DESECRATION

That master gardener, Luther Burbank, left behind his estates at Santa Rosa where he cherished the best products of life. And now the announcement comes that they are to be cut up for building lots.

The subdivider is to go in with his steam shovels and wreck all sentiment at so much a cubic yard. Priceless treasures in plants are to give way to alleys and garages. Shrubs and trees, the pets of the great planter, are to be sacrificed for streets and stores.

We have allowed the massacre and desecration of our big trees in the mountainous districts for the hungry maw of commerce. Growths that ages cannot replace are turned over to money-grabbers. But even here a second growth is possible for a less insane progeny.

But nothing can ever replace the sacrilege of the gardens of the wizard of Santa Rosa. At these sylvan altars the marriages of fruits and flowers have been consummated. Here the nuptials of even vegetables have been celebrated and new families of plants founded.

The experimental station of 600 acres at Sebastopol has prospect of being taken over by Leland Stanford University. There has even been thought that the gardens at Santa Rosa might be included. But the raising of funds languishes.

The sensitive hands of Luther Burbank are gone and his assistants can hardly be expected to have the genius of the master gardener. The completion of his unfinished work is as far beyond his disciples as the realization of a masterpiece by a student out of a hasty sketch of Rembrandt or Raphael.

But the destruction of the Santa Rosa gardens seems so unnecessary. What a memorial they would make for the community! From a commercial standpoint they would be a show place and financial asset for generations. But if the locals are dead to values, the State could honor itself and initiate a movement to save this Mecca of a grateful people. Every bush in that garden is a burning bush and every foot of earth is holy ground!

STATE RIGHTS

Gov. Smith of New York doesn't like the Volstead Act, but he promises to do his duty in enforcing it as long as it is a part of the Constitution. He is a stickler for State rights and is very sure that there should be no amendment to the national Constitution without first having a popular referendum in the States. It must be admitted that the New York Governor knows his Democrats.

LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

THE meanest grafter bobbed up at Fifth and Broadway the other day. He stood on the corner, close to the newsboys. Those indomitable hustlers were selling papers fast when a woman stepped up, holding out a $10 bill. The grafter stepped forward, just as if he was boss newsboy on that corner, handed her a paper, took the bill, murmured that he would get change—and vanished. When the woman had waited ten minutes she complained to the real newsboy—and he made good the $10!

Wonder how many other Los Angeles business men would have done that?

Moral: Don't ever buy a paper from a supposed newsboy who is keeping still. Real newsboys never do.

Descriptive

Sir: Next time we change some street names, why not give San Fernando Road a really appropriate designation—say, Billboard Boulevard?—J. B.

Not so good: people might think they were on it when they struck Los Feliz.

Modern Miracle

It happened on a Vineyard car. Six women were standing when two more, both old and in shabby black, got on. None of the seated men saw them, but a lovely vision in gray arose swiftly and smilingly pressed one of the old women toward her seat. Instantly sight was restored to three men who offered their seats to the other old woman—and then seven more sprang up to offer theirs to the vision in gray. In a minute every woman on the car had a seat, and ten men, swaying but thrilled by their own chivalry, stood the rest of the way downtown. So shines a good deed in a naughty world—if the doer happens to be a vision in gray.

He Means Figgeroar

Dear Lee: You mentioned some conductors who don't call streets but whisper 'em. Yet the worst whisperers, I've noticed, usually put the "roar" in Figueroar.—Melville Townsend.

It's a Burning Question

Dear Mr. Sider: See you don't care for political comments—unless they're good. But isn't it true that Russia has set fire to its whiskers and wants to think it's the light of the world?—R. B.

Bigger Than Irwin Cobb's

We don't envy many people. But we saw a man in the Subway Terminal yesterday who made us jealous. He had a mouth so big that he could drink with ease from a sanitary fountain without fear of missing.

Bikes for Ever

Not only has the automobile failed to banish the horse but it has failed to rout the bicycle. Thousands of bicycles were sold in Los Angeles just before Christmas, and a dealer tells us there are twenty-three bicycle shops here, besides which bicycles are sold in a number of other stores. Messenger boys make a steady demand for them, and all boys love them. As long as there are boys, the dealer asserted, there will be bicycles.

May Come Back

"In Europe," he said," "bicycles still are popular with grownups, and hundreds of thousands of Europeans go touring on them annually. They see the country far better than motorists do, and at minimum expense—and get some of the exercise most of us need during our vacations. But in this country prosperity is so general that men who would get more fun out of pushing pedals are afraid of looking cheap and drive cars instead. At that, it would only take the leadership of a few important people—say, in a bicycle club making runs to points of interest every Sunday—to bring the bicycle back"

Reminds Us

In the biggest bank in Guadalajara, Mex., recently we saw twenty-three bicycles which tellers and clerks had ridden down to work. Only the president had come in a motor car. And they told us that defaulting bank clerks were unknown there.

WHY PICK ON POWER?

Senator Walsh of Montana, always alert for any opportunity to make any kind of an investigation that promises publicity, has introduced a resolution calling for a Senate inquiry into the electric power business. If the Senate grants his request, he will proceed to dig into questions of finance and control, without regard to whether the companies to be investigated are interstate or intrastate in character. So far as the intrastate companies are concerned, such an inquiry would be of doubtful legality, considering the supposed limitations of the Federal government; but that aside, why pick on power?

The power companies of the United States last year sold some $450,000,000 worth of electricity, at prices considerably less in most cases than prewar. During the same year American smokers paid $1,500,000,000 for tobacco and tobacco products, American candy eaters paid out $689,000,000 for sweets; sodas, soft drinks and ice cream were sold to a tune of about $900,000,000, and jewelers rang up on their cash registers between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000.

If the size of the industry has any relation to the need for investigation, it is plain that the tobacco, ice cream and candy businesses should first be probed in the order named and that the jewelry business has at least an equal claim to the Senate's attention.

Considering the relative importance of electricity in modern civilization, the fact that its producers contented themselves with $450,000,000 as compared with more than three times as much taken from the public for tobacco, is a pretty good indication that nobody was gouged, at least by the power industry.

THE DAILY DOZEN

At a recent meeting of the Teachers' Institute in Los Angeles Mrs. Dorsey, among other agencies for promoting discipline and building character, laid special stress on the value of the "daily dozen," as now practiced in our educational institutions. The daily dozen, she asserted, is a practical method for developing the sane mind in the sane body—the acknowledged goal of all true educational systems.

Prevention is at all times better than cure. When Mrs. Dorsey, who continuously has her finger on the physical, mental and moral pulse of every school child in the city, claims for the daily dozen that "its rewards are more than physical fitness; they amount to an ethical stimulus," it is well worth while to adopt the system in homes and other institutions. Whatever has been said of discipline in Germany, no observer, historian or critic has ever claimed or ever will claim that the people of the "fatherland" are a criminal people. Disciplinary traditions have kept down the crime ratio in Germany to a very low rate. As law-abiding citizens in the United States disciplined Germans have made a low record in criminal annals.

Physical discipline paves the way for mental discipline. The mind may best be disciplined in youth when impressions leave a lasting mold. The ethical stimulus referred to when properly originated is an abiding influence. It is the result of the reaction of a healthy body on a mind still in process of being formed.

The Los Angeles school system is headed in the right direction and other civic institutions might copy its system to advantage. The discernment and adjustment of sluggish reaction among pupils at school to disciplinary efforts may go a long way to avert incriminations in courts afterward when it is too late.

PERFECT TRAFFIC SYSTEM

Many experts and commissions have struggled with the traffic problem, but it remained for a Massachusetts newspaper to solve the problem effectively. The Worcester Telegram sets forth in these words its proposal for a simple solution:

"It is simply a question of turning on the red light for a parking space of thirty minutes on a seventy-second cycle, in a progressive wave, with no left turns in the restricted period, except with overlapping flashes of the amber following right or left turns on the green, with the proper synchronization, plus the ringing of a bell for a warning that left-hand turns are to be followed only where right-hand turns are not allowed except on amber, green and red lights, provided that the alternate red and amber flashes correspond with the three-second interval between the combination right-and-left turn in proceeding backward."

This highly illumined formula should suffice for every tangle except in the hypothetical paradox involving an accumulated morass of parallel caravans blocked through interstitial retardation encompassing no less than four adjacent intersections, and in this contingency the correlation of ordinances and bifurcated alternative tends to suggest the inclination to interrogate an officer concerning the amount of the fine to be paid while backing around forward.

FACTS AND PHILOSOPHY

By James J. Montague

Will Durant says that men after thirty are incapable of real love

I own that Mr. Will Durant
Is master of his topic,
He has a quite delightful slant
On subjects philosophic.
His grip on logic is above
The reach of disputation,
But when he seeks to limit love
He's off his reservation.

It's not in youth that love is blind,
And splendid lives are blighted
When now and then their owners find
Affections unrequited.
When Tommy learns that Geraldine
Is deaf to his entreaty
He seldom even makes a scene,
But finds another sweetie.

It's after thirty that a chap
Has lost all circumspection,
And never can resist a trap
That's baited with affection.
And if the bait is but a snare—
To wit, a mere flirtation—
His paroxysms of despair
Defy all consolation.

When after thirty people fall,
They dote with love unshaken
Nor fancy, maybe, after all
They might have been mistaken.
And maidens who are worldly wise
And would evade disaster
Will always pick the older guys—
They're easier to master!

Revised Calendar

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Jan. 1.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Because the year 1933 will begin and end on Sunday, it is proposed to simplify the calendar by means of an international conference of government representatives being assembled by the League of Nations during 1928 or 1929, to agree and by international treaty prescribe, that the last day in 1933 and every following year shall be observed as an extra international Sabbath day, for which the name "Year-day" is suggested. It would not bear any present week-day name, but would be inserted as the eighth day ending the fifty-second week, to permanently fix Sabbath and week-day names to the 365 perpetual dates in every year.

The many other benefits all people will derive from use of the simpler calendar of equal months, each four weeks long, will secure its adoption by all nations. It will maintain six work days between each of the regular fifty-two Sabbaths in every year, and provide that leap day in leap years shall be similarly inserted as an eighth-day Sabbath ending leap week. Then Christmas Day would always come on Monday, preceded by Saturday's half-day and Sunday's rest with New Year's Day always preceded by the year-day Sabbath and Saturday half-holiday's rest.

Girl Scouts, Too

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Just a word of appreciation for the article that appeared on yesterday's editorial page commending the Boy Scouts and the youth of our land. It was like a gleam of sunshine after gloom, and we wish we might have more such wholesome articles.

It might be added that what is true of our Boy Scouts is also true of the Girl Reserves. When we come to know them we find them efficient, fearless and wholesome, and in the background we see our splendid corps of teachers, instructors and conscientious fathers and mothers. Let us not forget that this species still exists, in spite of all we see and hear to the contrary; and with this unity of spirit and co-operation the New Year opens, promising even better things than the past has given us.

Blue Sunday Laws

PASADENA, Jan. 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The Lankford Blue Sunday bill, as you know, is again before our National Congress. Its sponsors are on the ground with a heavily reinforced and well-financed lobby, boldly asserting that they have money enough to force its passage at any cost.

Many Congressmen who are against this bill say that it can be defeated only by arousing the public to petition against it, and by a mighty protest against it from the press throughout the country. If the religio-politicians can carry this bill for the District of Columbia through to victory, they know that the conquest of every State in the nation will be easy.

Leaders Wanted

CLEVELAND (Tex.) Jan. 3.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I wish to compliment you on one of your editorials that I find copied in the Houston (Tex.) Post-Dispatch of January 2, 1928: "Let Murderers Hang." This is the most sensible article I have seen on the subject and one that I believe to be absolutely correct as well as just to the people whom you serve—the public.

As to age, I am rather an old man and have seen our country undergo many changes politically, socially, financially and otherwise, but for swindling, stealing, robbery, killing and nonenforcement of laws to prevent such, I do not believe I have seen a worse time than the present; and such conditions seem to be growing worse instead of better. Property, virtue, life nor anything else seems to be safe.

Now, my opinion is that conditions will not change for the better until our prominent newspapers, preachers and teachers unite in a fight against these conditions in a plain, aggressive, forceful manner like you have done in this editorial. You know there are not many leaders for the betterment of conditions; and yet the people will not make a move without leaders. So it seems to me the duty of our editors is to accept this leadership and thereby lead the people into what must be done before there can be any improvement made. DR. O. M. BROWN.

Vicious Mad Animals

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A million of mothers are waiting to see adequate (if such there is) punishment meted out to the fiendish criminal who tortured and murdered little Marion Parker. If he is allowed to escape after confessing and boasting of his numerous crimes, then there is no justice in the Los Angeles courts. If he is mad then he should be dealt with as any other vicious mad animal is, lest he commit other crimes.

QUEEN LIKES STAGE MURDERS

When the Queen of Spain comes to Paris she never fails to patronize the Grand Guignol, a theater that specializes in lurid melodrama. There are often several murders in an evening's entertainment, so striking are the horrifying scenes that it is not unusual for spectators to faint. Doctors are kept on hand for such emergencies. Queen Victoria seems to get the "kick" without the horror.—[Pathfinder.

CALENDAR PADS

BY FAITH HOLMES HYERS

"Calendar pads marked 'Season's Greetings, 1928' have arrived on 50,000 office desks and countless escritoires and secretary's tables," sighed the Philosopher of the Breakfast Nook. "Here is an appalling thought—366 fair white sheets to fill for better, for worse. A third of a thousand new leaves to turn—a sheaf of unsullied unwritten days waiting for dates and deeds. It is enough to make the most thoughtless linger and cogitate."

"And the old pad to be discarded, turned down, relegated to the past, is no less momentous," replied the Little Lady of the Coffee Cups. "A year completed with its measure of full and empty days, days of rushing smartly about on silly errands, days lightened by surprise visitors or thoughts. Seems almost unfriendly to lay them aside."

"I always bind my pad carefully and place it in the back of the top drawer to remind me of plans gone astray, believing that some day I will take it out and jot down the schemes that languished for lack of time. But there is nothing surer than the passing of time and we can't turn the leaves backward, try as we may."

"One thing you can be thankful for," smiled the Little Lady. "As a happy Benedict, you need have no worries on the score of the 29th of February thrown in for good measure. Think on the unhappy bachelor maids and men who must look before they leap."

"I'm thankful enough that our wedding bells rang in the good old days when compassionate marriages were the rule rather than companionate matings, and people, like days, were joined together for better, best or worst. It must be very unsettling to try and live up to these modern contract affairs. Besides who wants to be acquiring new wives and new ways every five years. It's hard enough to give up an old coat or a friendly pair of shoes. I'd hate to think I was such a poor wife-picker that I had to turn her in on a new model every few moons. It's bad enough to keep up with the new cars and the new license numbers and taxes and assessments and writing an eight in place of a seven, without taking of a new woman."

"Doubtful compliments," smiled the Little Lady, "but accepted for what they are worth. It may be a sign of middle-agedness to be so loath to contemplate change, or perhaps it is a bit old-fashioned of it is just possible that is an indication of true love. And such loyalty extends even to the faithful little calendar pad that is replaced by the unwritten days."

"Well, I reckon it doesn't pay to hanker too much for the 'dear, dead days beyond recall'," sighed the Philosopher, cheered by his second cup of excellent coffee and his favorite marmalade. "I suppose I'll go right on planning a thousand more things than I can carry out. But half the joy is in the planning, anyway. And what else is the New Year for?"

EYES OF ARDATH

BY H. A. LeBARON

In the mythical "Fields of Ardath" 'tis said, in the fragrance of incense-laden breezes, on moonlight nights, love flowers, like babies' faces, grow, and all women who walk in these fields of love and fall under the spell of these baby faces, are forever blessed with the "Eyes of Ardath."

When I speak of the "Fields of Ardath" being mythical, I do so advisedly, because there do exist Fields of Ardath not mythical, though they are bounded not by marks of man. Wherever on this earth women walk with the love of little children in their hearts they are in the midst of these elysian fields and the glory of it is mirrored in their eyes. Little children are quick to recognize this love even when lost to the eyes of the most observing adult.

"I love her," a little 3-year-old girl said, pointing her chubby finger at a woman the first time she saw her. "Why?" I ask. "'Cause her has mama eyes" was the astonishing answer. The woman occupies a position which brings her into contact with many people each working day, most of whom, it seems, have some complaint to make to her, though hers is not the complaint department, nor is she responsible for the shortcomings, if any, of the firm for which she works. Nevertheless, so many unthinking people do vent their anger on her unprotected head that her inner self has erected a barrier of ice around her soul and spread a mask of indifference over her face.

"Frozen face," uncharitable people call her. But I saw the mask of indifference drop away like magic and the barrier of ice melt under the warm glow of a great mother love as she hugged the little 3-year-old.

FIRST WOMAN BALLOONIST

The first woman—or child—to make a balloon ascension in this country was the mother of Irene Castle, the famous dancer, who tells that her mother went up in a balloon at the age of 13, in an article in Liberty.

"I've heard there was quite some difficulty in getting my grandmother's consent, which doesn't surprise me," continues Miss Castle. "In those days air travel was considered anything but safe.

"There were several men on that trip, starting from New York, but no other women," she relates, and mother was put out a little after dusk, somewhere in Connecticut, after they had dragged the anchor, let out gas, and gesticulated wildly to farmers in an effort to get help in making a landing. People were so afraid of the unfamiliar sight of a balloon that the anchor had to bump along through stone walls and haystacks for several miles before anyone could be induced to take hold of it and help fasten it to some firm foundation."

OR THEY RIDE SIDE BY SIDE

Dean Inge, discussing the term "obey" in the marriage ceremony, said: "I don't think it is the law of God that a wife shall obey her husband, but when two ride on one horse one rides behind."

The comparison or analogy is rather antiquated. The one who obeys today often takes his orders from the back seat.—[Boston Transcript.

PROBLEM STORIES

One would fancy, after publishing problem tales, as publishers do, that the hearts of all are bleeding who have made the marriage noose. Gents and girls go forth to marry, all according to the rules; then through weary years they carry problems that numb their hearts. Problems that no solution cause a lot of daily bringing angry elocution 'twixt husband and the wife. Problems that sane pairs could settle in course of half an hour, if they weren't on their mettle, full of language stale and sour. Problems stories make the sledding rough for married folk, you think that every wedding is the latter's foulest stroke. Yet people people marry and like beasts behave, and in wedded bonds tarry till they teeter to the graves. Problems weighty they are often in dismay and grief, do not see them clearly writers for relief. Within the fair Ophelia, and he long days slide, that he have married Celia, who is his kind of bride. Here's a lem deep, and fearful; but in no vain distress; he'll be cheerful, and his never guess. Marriage and Religion Held Nearing Extinction

BY MYRA NYE

"If we accept this latest device of so-called companionate marriage, we shall have women without wifehood, children reduced by animalism, hurt more or less by legalism, motherhood an empty sisterhood, a misfortune, a disgrace and a public charge," said Judge F. Bledsoe, speaking at the Ebell yesterday before the Women's Forum of the Ebell Club.

Judge Bledsoe, speaking directly of the dangers that beset the home and the nation at the present time because of sentiment in favor of doing away with law and its enforcement, said:

"It may be old fashioned to stand up for the old-fashioned marriage laws, which some people seem to want to cast on the scrap heap, but I tell you women plainly that the very foundation of our life is in danger. Civilization is in danger. We are discarding the good for that which is less good and that which is evil.

"The subversion of the law and the violation of all feeling in smaller violations have brought this Hickman case as a terrible climax. I cite this as only one of the results of lack of law and law observance," said Judge Bledsoe as he emphasized at length the unspeakable chaos that is sure to follow prolonged disregard of the law in the matter of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution.

"There is one murder for every 10,000 persons in the United States, which is three times the number of murders in Italy. It is twenty-five times more than the murders in Great Britain. There is in this country a loss of $3,000,000,000 annually for financial crimes. These criminal youths will, of course, have no respect for the first laws if we have no respect for the least of the laws.

WORK FOR WOMEN

"Election day is coming, and it is the job of every good woman to take a definite stand to obey the law to the letter herself, to talk, to vote, to work for an administration which shall be in complete sympathy with complete law enforcement."

Judge Bledsoe divided his talk into three parts, each one captioned by an evil which he asked the women to combat. Two mentioned were companionate marriage and the violation of the prohibition amendment. The third evil he mentioned was the work of the atheistical organizations, whose members are, according to the speaker, "people educated beyond their capacity to think."

"In our own high schools in this city," he said, "there are youths called 'the Devil's Angels,' whose proclaimed purpose is to 'pull God down from the sky.' Can you wonder that youthful crimes increase and that our prisons are filled with boys?

ENFORCE OR CONFESS

"If we can not enforce the law of the Eighteenth Amendment we can not enforce any. We then acknowledge that we are absolutely incapable of a government by the people. But the law can be enforced. It must not be repealed. It must be enforced by individual effort.

"There are at least two things that can not be done by collective bargaining—allegiance to God and loyalty to the flag of the United States. These things must be done individually. In this way only is liberty under law attainable. At present we are not living in liberty but under stress of great fear because of numberless violations of all law, especially among the young."

The classes are held in Room 104 of the school on Tuesday and Thursday from 7 to 9 o'clock. Signora Rocco graduated in Italy and has taught Italian in England, France and Holland as well as in the United States.

LIQUOR SAMPLERS BARRED

Judge Refuses to Reinstate Rum Case Jurors After Lengthy Deliberation

Sixty-five hours of consideration on the asserted misconduct of nine jurors who drank up the evidence in a liquor case Friday afternoon failed to shake the decision of Municipal Judge Ambrose, it was indicated yesterday when he announced he would not reinstate them for jury service.

The jurors were discharged by the magistrate when they refused to deny consuming a pint of liquor, the evidence against Joseph Bevan, hotel clerk charged with violating the Wright Act. They deliberated over Bevan's guilt for three hours and then found him not guilty.

FIVE WOMEN ON JURY

Judge Ambrose had discharged the jurors Friday morning, but promised to reconsider his decision after Attorneys Wallace Davis and Henry Huntington, appointed by him as court officers, appealed to him to reinstate the five women and four men of the panel on the grounds that their action was with honorable intent.

Studying the situation since Friday at 5 p.m., Judge Ambrose brought his anxiously awaited decision to the talesmen yesterday at the opening of the court day.

"After carefully reviewing the facts in this case and giving due consideration to the evidence presented in open court I have decided in the interest of justice to dispense with the service of these nine jurors," he said.

DRINK CHARGE DENIED

Prior to the magistrate's final decision, Deputy City Prosecutor Margid who prosecuted Bevan, stated in court he had made no such remarks attributed to him to the effect the jurors were drunk upon emerging from the jury room.

The jurors discharged were: Mrs. Alba C. Hubbard, 4928 Axtell street; Stephen J. Freeman, 6825 Hawthorne avenue; Florence M. Hampton, 6233 Saylin Lane; Michael J. Manning, 214 East Eighty-fourth street; Mrs. Josephine Fisk, 9519 South Hoover street; Mrs. May B. Tebo, 1169 Locke avenue; William Raynor, 1760 Kane street; Minnie L. Holubek, 1066 South Mesdowbrook avenue, and A. A. Huelester, 6237 Country Club Drive.

SMART ALEC TREND STIRS GIPSY SMITH

Preachers With Any Real Power Declared to Need Ingrained Goodness

"You have no right to preach the gospel unless you are a good man, no matter how clever and cultured you may be," Gypsy Smith told 400 members of the Ministerial Association, gathered at the First Methodist Church yesterday to try to learn how an ignorant gypsy boy became one of the world's greatest evangelists.

"You may be an eloquent scholar, a trained theologian and a great wit and get a big congregation but you'll have no power unless you are a good man and you can't have goodness unless you surrender yourself to Christ," he said. "There is no incompatibility between the highest culture and the most progressive evangelism but these smart-Alec ministers who babble for hours about things that neither they nor their audiences understand, calling it metaphysics, lack the spiritual power needed to save human souls."

In his sermon at the First Church yesterday at noon Mr. Smith amplified the sentiments expressed in his morning address, declaring the cultured sinner is the devil's best servant.

"It is not enough to be educated, even though you add to your learning a high morality and church membership," said the speaker. "The humblest ditch digger or stoker, if he is a Christian, is spiritually superior to the wisest man on earth who has not experienced the new birth."

BREAKFAST CLUB TO HEAR EVANGELIST

Tomorrow will be ladies' morning. On the entertainment program are Rosalie Barker Frye, contralto; John Claire Monteith, baritone, and William Fleckenstein's Orchestra. The hosts will be Will E. Morris and Harry G. Johansing.

SERVICE FOR DR. McLAREN TO BE TODAY

Final Honor Will Be Paid to Minister After Years of Work for Church

Funeral services for Dr. James Henry McLaren, 64 years of age, who died Sunday at his home, 55 North Chester avenue, Pasadena, will be conducted today at 2 p.m. at the undertaking establishment of Turner and Stevens, Holly and Marengo avenues, in that city. Rev. W. H. Hopkins will officiate, assisted by Dr. Hugh K. Walker.

His pastorates were at Phillips, Me., 1890-2; Attleboro, Mass., 1893-6; Racine, Wis., 1897-8; Princeton, Ill., 1898-1902; Anamosa, Iowa, 1902-04; Windsor Park and West Pullman, Chicago, 1904-7; Riverside, Cal., 1907-9 and Central Park, Chicago, 1909-11.

After leaving his pastorate at Central Park Dr. McLaren came to make his home at Pasadena, spending considerable time in Chatauqua and lyceum work.

He had written a number of books and from his bedside had sent a hymn which he had written, "Triumphant Faith," to the Olivet Church which was used in the corner-stone service.

At the time of his death he was writing a book on the conversion of the Jews.

Dr. McLaren leaves his widow, Glennie Lane McLaren, one sister, Mrs. Harriet E. Boody, Charlestown, Mass.; and one brother, William Albert McLaren of Pasadena.

Mystery Beauty Amnesia Victim

Apparently suffering from amnesia, a pretty young woman, clad only in pajamas, a bathrobe and one boudoir slipper, was found early yesterday at Twelfth and Maple streets by Patrolmen Berry and Sanderson, who called an ambulance and had her taken to the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital.

She told hospital attaches her "name might be Blanche Rose," and she had vague recollections of having a husband and two children. She was unable, however, to give her address, and had not been identified last night.

MILES MURDER JURORS PICKED

Bandit Suspect Trio on Trial in Druggist Killing

State to Ask Death Penalty, Questions Indicate

Six Women and Six Men Finally Selected

Charged with first-degree murder in connection with the killing, November 1, last, of A. R. Miles, druggist of 2329 West Jefferson Boulevard, Mike Garvey, Harvey Lesher and Phil Rohan went on trial yesterday before Judge Aggeler in Superior Court.

The greater part of the day was consumed in selecting a jury, six women and six men finally being accepted by both State and defense to pass on the guilt or innocence of the accused trio.

STATE TO ASK HANGING

While both prosecution and defense attorneys waived opening statements, it was indicated in the examination of veniremen that the State will ask the death penalty. A number of prospective jurors were excused during the selection because of voiced prejudices against capital punishment.

Two witnesses were examined before adjournment was taken. These were Fred C. Kohl, deputy county surveyor, and County Autopsy Surgeon Wagner.

Through Kohl the prosecution introduced a map of the drug store where Miles met his death at the hands of the asserted bandits. Dr. Wagner testified that Miles apparently died of a skull fracture inflicted by violence.

Miles is said to have met his death when he resisted the efforts of three men to hold him up. According to police reports of the case, Miles attempted to obtain a revolver in a rear room of his store when the bandit trio attacked him, inflicting injuries which proved fatal.

WILL OFFER ALIBI

Defense Attorneys S. S. Hahn and Thomas J. Martin said yesterday they will attempt to establish an alibi for the accused men on the ground that they were twenty miles distant from Miles's store at the time of the slaying.

The case is being prosecuted by Dept. Dist.-Attys. Menzies and Crail, who declare they will place an eyewitness to the crime on the stand this morning.

Nona Lesher, wife of Harvey Lesher, appeared before Superior Judge Hardy yesterday and entered pleas to six felony counts rising out of an investigation of her asserted connection with the gang accused of slaying Miles.

Mrs. Lesher pleaded not guilty to two counts of extortion and two counts of forgery, and one count of receiving stolen property. She pleaded guilty to the first charge of receiving stolen property and the ruling on her application for probation will be given the 31st inst.

SENTENCE DEFERRED

Frank W. Zeah, convicted of manslaughter for the death of Paul M. Freithoffer by a jury in Judge Frick's department of the Superior Court, will be sentenced the 13th inst., a continuance to that date having been granted yesterday when the defendant came up to hear his fate. Freithoffer, a musician, was run down by Zeah's automobile on North Broadway last September 26.

Irvine Wins in Round One Over Alimony Boost

Mrs. Madeline Irvine must accept the $500 a month awarded her when James Irvine, Jr., obtained a divorce several months ago, or get along without it pending her appeal, Judge Bowron ruled yesterday.

Irvine submitted that he was ready to pay her the $500 a month allowed in the decree, but said she would not accept it. Mrs. Irvine replied that she feared its acceptance would prejudice her appeal, wherein she asks for $1000 a month.

Judge Bowron could find no warrant for interim alimony and denied the application. He allowed $1600 as costs and attorney fees, however.

'Fight-Special' Battle Goes Second Round

The litigation over just what happened on the "fight special" to the Dempsey-Tunney bout, which was organized by John P. Mills, came up again yesterday before Presiding Judge McLucas of the Superior Court when he signed an order requiring Mills to make his deposition in the office of Attorney Ben F. Griffith.

Griffith is counsel for Mrs. Allyce L. Campbell, whom Mills has sued for $4500. She has filed a cross-complaint demanding from Mills $6725 which she says she lost in a little "game" in which she and other passengers on the train whiled away some time. Mills also is required, by the same order, to supply a list of the passengers on the train.

Arcady Opens for Occupancy

The Arcady Apartment-hotel on Wilshire Boulevard at Rampart, recently completed, is open for occupancy. It has 400 rooms arranged in three, four and five-room suites, with a few single apartments. It offers a complete hotel service. What is called the Pompeiian Room is open to the public as well as to Arcady guests as a dining place. On the main floor, in addition to the dining-room, are located the men's and women's clubrooms, billiard and card rooms and executive offices.

Woman Kills Self in Hotel

After improvising a death chamber by drawing the bedclothes over her head and inserting the end of a gas hose in her mouth, Mrs. Florence Foster, 40 years of age, was found dead in a rooming-house at 931 South Alvarado street yesterday by William McCoy, another roomer, and police officers.

Little is known of Mrs. Foster, who had roomed at the address about two months. She is believed to be the widow of an automobile salesman who died in the East several years ago. Police last night were making an attempt to find relatives. She left no notes and no reason was given for her act.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

The most colorful figure in the polo season at Del Monte, which is just starting, is the Marquis de Portago, Comte de la Mejorada. The Marquis and Marquesa have been the center of social activities on the Monterey peninsula ever since their recent arrival here.

The Marquesa, previous to her marriage in September, was Mrs. Mackay, widow of the late Frank Mackay, Minneapolis millionaire.

There will be many famous polo-players at Del Monte this winter, including such brilliant stars as Thomas Hitchcock, J. Cheever Cowdin, Averill Harriman and Louis Stoddard, but the Marquis, although a beginner at polo, probably will get most of the limelight.

He is a dashingly picturesque scion of one of the oldest and most distinguished noble families of Spain, an intimate of King Alfonso, who first introduced him to polo. He plans on returning to the continent following the winter polo season at Del Monte to play on the King's own team at St. Ander. He also will play at Madrid, London and Biarritz.

The Marquis was raised in the saddle and is one of the finest horsemen in Europe. Consequently he is making rapid strides in polo. It is his ambition to become as expert at polo as he has already made himself at golf, boxing, shooting and other outdoor sports.

"I would rather excel in one sport than be moderately good in several, and now polo is my real ambition," says the Marquis. The Spanish grandee represented Spain in the international golf matches, is one of the best shots in his own country, and for eleven years held the amateur boxing championship in Spain.

Both the Marquis and Marquesa de Portago are in love with California in general and the Monterey peninsula in particular, and plan to return here again next year, and if possible to induce the King of Spain to come with them.

BOA FUR COLLARS

PARIS (AP)—Signs are pointing toward a revival of fur boas in the near future.

Worth's coat models with boa fur collars are one of the most successful style features of the midseason. They follow a vogue of feather boas, part of last summer's style. The next logical step, say fashion experts, is a return of separate fur boas.

Mrs. Allen M. Scaife of Pittsburgh, whose recent wedding attracted wide attention, has purchased two new sports coats with fur boa collars. She intends to wear them at St. Moritz where she and her husband are going for the winter sports.

OMELET LATTARD

Peel, and cut up one cupful of eggplant in dice, one cupful of bacon, cut in dice, one-half a cupful of apple cut in dice; place in a saute pan two tablespoonfuls of butter. When melted add the bacof, eggplant and apple. Cook all until tender, season with salt and pepper, remove carefully from the pan with a skimmer so as to leave the butter in the pan. Separate five eggs, beat the yolks until light and creamy, add one tablespoonful of cold water. Beat the whites until stiff and dry, combine the two mixtures, pour into the omelet pan, allow to set on the bottom, constantly folding over with a spatula. As soon as the eggs begin to harden place in the oven and bake until a crust is formed on the top. Have ready a hot platter, place half of the omelet on it, pour over the eggplant, bacon and apples, fold. Garnish with parsley and serve very hot.

LAMB TURNOVERS

Chop one pound of cold lamb, add salt, pepper and a little cinnamon to taste, and one onion chopped fine. Cook in a saucepan with two tablespoonfuls of butter until heated through and the onion is tender. Make a good puffe pastry or short pie crust; roll it thin, cut into squares and fill with spoonfuls of the meat. Wet the edges, pinch together, brush with melted butter and bake in a hot oven for fifteen or twenty minutes. Mound on a hot platter, serve with a good caper sauce and garnish with a border of parsley.

APPLE BALLS

Peel and chop five large apples. Add two tablespoonfuls of butter, six tablespoonfuls of sugar, the rind and juice of a lemon. Cook and stir until smooth, add the yolks of three eggs, well beaten, and four tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, cook slowly for twenty minutes, press through a sieve, spread on a platter and let cool. Make into balls, dip in egg and crumbs, fry brown in deep, hot shortening. Put a bit of angelica or citron in the end of each to imitate a stalk, dust with sugar, arrange on a dish and serve cold with a pineapple sauce.

CHESTNUT STUFFED APPLES

To two and a half cupfuls of white stock add a bay leaf, broken up fine, one teaspoonful of minced onion, half a teaspoonful of salt, and a little cayenne pepper. Simmer for twenty minutes and strain. Pare and core ten tart solid apples, place in the bottom of a saucepan, pour the strained stock over them and simmer until they can be pierced with a fork. Carefully remove ribbed from the stock and set aside to cool. Blanche, one pound of chestnuts, remove the shells and brown skin. Slice, cover with the stock, add four teaspoonfuls of currant jelly and simmer until tender. If the meats are too moist, drain well, and mash. Fill the center of the apples with the chestnut mixture and serve with the roast pork.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

FOR CHILDREN

Mrs. M. L. C. asks: "My baby is five and one-half months old. Are there any constructive toys to be given as first playthings, or is this theory of constructive toys a false one?"

Answer

Constructive toys are those which are suitable to the child's abilities at the age at which they are given, and have possibilities for helping him develop. I sound like a dictionary, but this is my idea of a constructive toy. One that is usable and stimulating to the child.

At six months, we will say, the child can grasp toys, can look at them, put them in his mouth, make clumsy efforts to throw them, and listen to them. They should be light enough to be handled easily; have no sharp points, or contain anything which the baby can bite off or swallow. The list becomes pretty small then for this aged child and limits itself to rubber, celluloid and wooden toys of the large beads (strung on twine) and washable dolls or animals and picture books. Some six months old babies will look at picture books though this is a later interest.

Those are the toys one can buy, but any kitchen, as mother has no doubt discovered for herself, contains limitless possibilities for entertaining the baby. All the numerous pots and pans and lids, which are small enough for him to handle, like pepper and salt shakers of aluminum, or small cups, or small lids and jelly molds, all in this light, bitable material, make entrancing toys for the small child.

Everyone has used empty spools and clothes pins for children to play with. At first the baby may do little with his toys but bang them, or bite them, but later he'll discover that he can fit one inside of another, or roll them about, and all these are steps in an upward development.

Any toy which the small baby can handle, which is not so elaborate as to be confusing and thus tiring to him, and which he can manipulate in various ways, is a constructive toy for this child.

As a general indictment of toys, children usually have too many and often they are so far in advance of the child's abilities at the time they are given to him, that in despair he throws them away and howls. And then his mother points to his dozens of playthings and says: "He is the most dissatisfied child, nothing suits him." Rather we would say nothing is suited to him.

FASHION RECRUITS FLOWERS

PARIS (AP)—Buttonhole posies made of beads are new favorite boutonnieres with American women in Paris. Enterprising shops are duplicating for the foreign trade bead flowers which have been traditional table decorations and funeral ornaments in France and Italy for many years. The sun-proof, wind and rain-proof blossoms formed of beads strunk on fine wire are a well-developed phase of French flower making. It only remained for foreign purchasers to see their possibility for personal adornment to carry them from their original purpose to fashion.

Good the Second Time

The leftover roast may be sliced and the slices dipped in egg and crumbs and then fried in deep fat until a delicate brown. This is a very good and also an economical method of using up any sort of roast.

What Women are Doing

BY MYRA NYE

Paul Harvey, student of international relations, is still speaking to audiences of unparalleled size in the Moroseo Theater, his lecture, "Why Fascism Came in Italy and What of the Outcome?" drawing an unusual number of Women's City Club members yesterday.

The eyes of the world have been properly turned upon Italy, according to Harvey, who stated that under the brilliant and dynamic leadership of Mussolini the old type of state as we know it is being scrapped and a new type is being formed, the occupational, syndicalist state, a kind of proportional representation under a grand council or hierarchy.

"Because Italy has been galvanized into action a new Italy is arising," said Harvey. "And because business is good, trains run on time, hotels and food are better, and there are no unemployed, the traveler, who gets only a superficial report, says that conditions in Italy are good. Others get the opposite view and the public is befuddled as to the true state of affairs. The only safe way to find out what the conditions in Italy really as is to interpret from cause, in relation to the historic background."

Harvey then traced Italian history from the formation of a united Italy in 1870 through the efforts of Garibaldi, Mansini and Cavour, to the end of the war when returned Italian soldiers, badly treated by the Socialists, linked forces with Mussolini to form the party which grew into the present ruling body in Italy.

Mrs. C. Edward Winn, club president, who introduced the speaker, announced that Monday, the 16th inst., Judge Oldfield will speak on "Twenty Years on the Chautauqua Circuit" at the breakfast meeting of which Mrs. M. H. Green will be in charge.

We Wan Club will open the new year with the annual Composers' Day program, featuring eminent composers of Southern California, tomorrow at 12:30 when the first luncheon meeting of 1928 is conducted in the Palm Room of the Biltmore by President Frances Arnold Greenwood.

Carter, president of Pro-Musica, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Raab, Carrie Jacobs Bond, Mrs. Rufus Von KleinSmid, Mme. Ragna Linz, Mrs. Walter Goodfellow and Mrs. W. R. Mabee. Three well-known women composers whose works will be presented on the program are Alice Barnett of San Diego, Mary Carr Moore and Mrs. M. Hennion Robinson. Other guests include Patterson Greene, and Frank Colby, editor of the Pacific Coast Musician.

Following the luncheon a program will be given in the foyer by Cheora Wood, San Diego soprano; Rosa Monyikon, Mezzo-soprano, and the Madrigal Octette. Luncheon reservations may be made with Mme. de la Plate, GRanite 8417.

SOUND AUCTION BRIDGE

by Wilbur C. Whitehead
The World's Greatest Authority

Each day is published a complete hand presented by Mr. Whitehead. These hands may be played with cards by one, two, three or four players. Fill out a chair of your cars and compare it tomorrow with Mr. Whitehead's play. Do this each day and carefully read Mr. Whitehead's explanation, and you will find that your knowledge of the game will progress rapidly. Compare your bidding and play with that of your friends—the comparison may be illuminating.

Salient Points of the Bidding

West's holding suggests the advisability of an introductory Diamond bid, as the high card strength outstanding is sufficient to warrant the presumption that a Minor suit bid will not be left in. East, with five Diamonds and no Spades, assists his partner's Diamond bid, in the belief that with Diamonds the trump suit, the combined hands might will produce game, should West hold some high card strength in Hearts and Clubs in support of his Diamond bid. Following North's bid of three Spades, East and West both pass as further persistence in bidding Diamonds would be useless, unless willing to go to five Diamonds to save game, a bid not warranted by their holdings.

Salient Points of the Play

Trick 2. West reads his partner with five Diamonds originally, and shifts the suit to avoid giving the adversaries a ruff and discard.

Trick 4. North throws West in to force the lead of another Diamond or a Heart.

DIET A POTENT FACTOR IN EVERY DISEASE

This is the second of a series of articles in which I will try to explain to you the part which food plays in the cause and cure of all of the common disorders. As explained, I am taking up these various disorders one by one, on down through an alphabetical list, the closing paragraph in the introductory article having covered High and Low Blood Pressure.

Bright's Disease, or Nephritis, is due to faulty metabolism. This is likewise true of diabetes. A cure depends almost wholly upon dietetic treatment.

Bronchitis and all similar derangements of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat are the result of too liberal a use of mucus-forming foods, such as sugar, starches and fats. A change of climate may be tried—the tonsils and adenoids removed—and still these catarrhal troubles will continue until these mucus-forming foods are entirely eliminated. Hay fever is likewise caused by the irritation of this mucus, which is often of an acid reaction, irritating to certain delicate types of mucous membranes.

Constipation is developed from a multiplicity of causes, chief among which is the use of too much starch, and a deficiency in the diet of the leafy green vegetables and fruits.

Deafness, when not of accidental origin, is due entirely to catarrh of the nose and throat and this, in turn, as I have said before, to wrong food.

Defective circulation of the blood is often due to a sluggish blood stream, thickened with excesses of food materials not needed by the body. It is surprising to note how quickly the circulation will improve when the blood is thinned to the proper consistency to more easily pass through the hundreds of miles of blood vessels winding in and out of the different tissues of the body.

Digestive disorders of all kinds are, of course, induced by various dietetic indiscretions, such as using indigestible foodstuffs, inharmonious mixtures of even good food, overeating, eating without hunger, eating when exhausted by worx or nerve strain, improper mastication, and irregularity of meals. These are the principal causes of gastritis, and stomach and intestinal ulcers, and the many digestive disturbances included under the name of "indigestion." Everyone understands this to be true, as the discomfort after a meal gives an immediate clew to the cause of the trouble. It even seems that nature is kind to the one whose digestive system is easily upset, as the cause is so apparent, which is often not true in other disorders also really produced by the same errors in diet, but which are not so easily traced to the same origin by one whose knowledge of physiological chemistry is not sufficient to understand this fact.

Eczema and psoriasis are skin disorders actually produced by hyperacidity of the stomach, due to improper food combinations. No lotion or salve can reach far enough to eliminate the unquestionable digestive reasons for these unsightly and persistent eruptions.

Epilepsy is a serious affliction occasioned by a toxemia generated in the colon by the decomposition and excessive fermentation of food materials. It disappears as soon as this morbid contamination of poisons is eliminated.

I have written special articles dealing in greater detail with each disease mentioned in this day's article. Any of these articles will be sent to you if you state which one you want and write to me care of this paper. Please inclose a stamped, self-addressed, large envelope.

To be continued in tomorrow's article.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: Subscriber writes: "My child was given toxin antitoxin a year ago. Do you advise having the test given the child to prove if he is immune from diphtheria?"

Answer: The test you refer to has a very doubtful value, and many of those who formerly advocated it have discontinued its use. Keep your child clean inside and out, and you need have no fear of his developing diphtheria.

Q.: Mrs. McL. asks: "Does Junket with a quart of milk (which makes a custard of a real thick consistency) make a good food used as a dessert?"

A.: Junket is a good food and makes a good protein to be used in place of meat, fish or fowl. If used as a dessert, only a very small amount should be eaten.

Q.: Miss C. W. E. writes: "Why is it that when I am full and eat at intervals I feel fine and can work hard, but the minute I am the least bit hungry I have a dizzy feeling or light-headedness?"

A.: The hunger you complain of is due to gastritis and overacidity of your stomach. You should stop eating, and drink only water for a few days, and the dizzy feeling and headaches will disappear. If you will then adopt a sensible diet you will not have any return of your trouble.

FEATHER ORNAMENTS

Prevents Freezing

When pipes are exposed and there is rather a chance of their freezing in zero weather a way to prevent this is to mix equal parts of glycerine and paraffin and paint the exposed pipes with this.

NANCY PAGE

By Florence La Gasse

During the Christmas holidays Nancy had taken life as easily as possible. She was doing this under doctor's orders. He did not want her to overtire herself, nor undo all the good that the previous lessons at the prenatal clinic had enforced. She drank milk, ate green vegetables, had plenty of orange juice and water, and took a small dosage of cod liver oil daily. He pronounced her a model patient.

STOMACH BINDERS

He suggested that she begin some of her layette purchasing. She chose tiny woolen vests that afforded double protection in front. The upper part lapped over the under and tied well on the side. This obviated fussing with tiny buttons that simply would not go into the right button holes. The old-fashioned flannel band is still recommended, she found, with certain changes. It is no wider than four inches and tape like the vest. It is tied on the left side with soft tapes. These are not tied into hard knots.

For the three-month-old baby a knit band of lisle or silk and wool is recommended.

One can't start too early in getting into the right frame of mind regarding child care. Write to Nancy Page, care of this paper, and ask for her leaflet on the subject. Inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

PLANT ODDITIES SENT TO GARDEN

Shipment Comprises Items from Whole World

Botanic Marvels Will be Planted in Canyons

Many Types Require Study Before Given Site

Regarded as one of the largest shipments of its kind ever made by the United States Bureau of Plant Industry, 850 living plants, embracing 150 varieties gathered from all over the world, were yesterday delivered to the California Botanical Garden in Mandeville Canyon.

Dr. E. B. Copeland, assistant director of the garden, who received the shipment, said many of the varieties received do not exist in the United States. The collection is valued at several thousand dollars.

PLAN PLANTING

At the present time seventy-five acres in the garden proper have been cleared preparatory to planting and a number of the plants received in the shipment will be placed in ravines and various other spots designated for the planting of certain types of flora. The gardening staff at the scientific garden is gradually being enlarged under direction of Dr. Copeland. With the arrival of the big shipment yesterday it was stated a number of men will go to work at once transplanting certain of the plants in experimental beds before they are placed in permanent locations.

In carrying out the planting program a huge map has been prepared by the scientific staff in order that certain plants may be located according to their various families and species. Certain of the plants from foreign countries must first be placed in the plant introduction garden for careful experimentation and study to insure thriving after permanent planting.

BUILDING COMPLETE

The garden administration building, located a quarter of a mile from Beverly Boulevard entrance to the garden, was completed a few days ago. This building, in addition to housing the offices for the administrative staff, will care for a large plant reference library and an herbarium containing thousands of specimens of dried plants for study in connection with the work of introducing live plants of the same family.

Tomorrow 180,000 specimens for the herbarium will be transferred from storage to the administration building and a staff of botanists will be set to work classifying them. This collection of dried plants was obtained by the garden through gift and purchase, the specimens coming from all parts of the world.

Other plants will be obtained from time to time for planting in the garden from the eleven expeditions employed to get material. The expeditions are operating in Asia, the South Seas and Central America.

COUPLE WED FIFTY YEARS CELEBRATE

Anniversary Jubilee of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Sniffen Ends After Two Weeks

SAMUEL T. SNIFFEN

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Sniffen have just completed a celebration of their golden wedding anniversary lasting nearly two weeks. Although the date of their wedding was December 27, their friends have been making merry with a series of gatherings in their honor, among which was a Christmas party at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, with which Mr. Sniffen is connected. The Sniffens were the honored guests and were presented with a "shower of gold" in token of the anniversary.

MRS. SAMUEL T. SNIFFEN

The Westlake Masonic Lodge entertained for them a few days later. Mr. Sniffen's father was William Irelan, a "forty - niner," and the Sniffens were married in San Francisco, December 27, 1877. Later they moved to New York, where for twenty - five years Mr. Sniffen was sales manager for Brewster & Co., carriage makers.

They have lived in Los Angeles since 1904. Mr. Sniffen is 74 years of age, and Mrs. Sniffen is 71. They have no children, having lost two daughters in childhood.

Spring Fashion Show Will be Opened Today

Paris dressmakers might well suffer a twinge of jealousy could they be in Los Angeles to attend the spring style show to be held on the third and fourth floors of the Biltmore today, tomorrow and Thursday, under the auspices of the Los Angeles Dress Manufacturers' Association and the Millinery and Jobbers' Association.

About eighty-five local exhibitors have engaged space and mannikins will model gowns, hats and wraps throughout each day. It is expected that more than 2000 out-of-town buyers will attend. Department stores all over the city are co-operating with window displays of clothes designed and made in Los Angeles, with especial emphasis given to styles suitable to California.

Officials of the organizations in charge of the show report that during 1927 approximately $75,000,000 worth of Los Angeles-made apparel was shipped from this city to all parts of the world.

Features of the exhibit will be a style-review banquet and ball tonight and tomorrow night at the Biltmore and an evening of entertainment to be given on Thursday night.

BEACH CITY PLANS HELP TO HOSPITAL

Two Performances Will Be Given in Santa Monica to Aid Building Fund

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 9.—The Los Angeles Children's Hospital, where miracles of surgery have been performed to save the lives of unfortunate tots, or to make deformed little children normal and happy, will benefit by one of the largest charitable undertakings in the history of the Santa Monica Bay district. Next Wednesday and Thursday night two performances of the "Junior Jollies," with sixty-five young men and women in the cast, will be given in the Criterion Theater, Third street and Arizona avenue, here.

The Santa Monica Bay auxiliary of the hospital society is sponsoring the event, and the West Coast Theaters have supported it in a manner to make it an outstanding revue.

A new wing is to be added to the Children's Hospital in Los Angeles soon, auxiliary workers say, and the Santa Monica Bay group is to pay for the dining and schoolroom of the addition. Nearly a score of Santa Monica and Venice women have been devoting their time to this work. Miss Antoinette Delmas is president of the auxiliary here. Harry Baker is directing the "Junior Jollies" production, for which tickets are on sale here, in Los Angeles and Hollywood.

CAR THEFT SUSPECT IN DEATH NET

Tattoo marks and a scar on the arms and hands of Cecil C. Miller, 29 years of age, arrested Sunday night as an automobile theft suspect, yesterday led to a comparison of fingerprints by Samuel W. Davis of the Police Identification Bureau, and revealed, according to Davis, that Miller is William O. Murrell, wanted for the murder of a bank cashier at Melbourne, Ont., in a hold-up April 11, 1921.

The prisoner, according to detectives of the Wilshire division, has confessed that he is Murrell, but vigorously denies that he had any part in the murder. Circulars broadcast in 1926 by the police of Toronto, Can., say the asserted slayer's brother, Sydney, was executed for the death of the cashier and another member of the gang is serving a life sentence for the crime.

He was arrested about 10 o'clock Sunday night at Tenth avenue and Adams street by Patrolmen Stanley and Keppler when they saw him driving a car reported stolen.

A reward of $1000 was offered by Toronto police for his arrest, and authorities there will be notified of the capture.

Woman Found Dead in Home

Miss Delia Blunt, 65 years of age, reputedly wealthy, who lived alone in an apartment at 1377 1-4 Sunset Boulevard, was found dead about noon yesterday by Clifford MacDougall of 3236 Descanso street, when he called at her home to inform her of the death of a friend. She was last seen alive last Friday, according to neighbors, and had complained frequently of heart attacks. Death is believed to have been due to natural causes.

The body was taken to the County Morgue and relatives in West Union, Iowa, were notified. Miss Blunt had lived in California about ten years, according to friends.

TOM MIX HEARS ECHO OF PAST

Olive Stokes, Actor's First Wife, Who Knew Him When—Breaks Eleven Years' Silence to Get Part of Present Millions for Child

Olive Stokes, first wife of Tom Mix, cowboy film actor, who has not raised a voice in the courts since she got her divorce nearly eleven years ago, raised it yesterday. As a result the actor is scheduled to face Judge Bowron on the 26th inst. and show whatever good reason he can think of why he should not pay $1500 for the support of his daughter Ruth Jane Mix, instead of the $50 a month allowed for the child's support by the decree of divorce.

Presiding Judge McLucas made this engagement for Mix yesterday on reading an affidavit, signed by the first Mrs. Mix, and submitted to him by her attorney, A. P. Michael Narlian.

MEMORIES OF PAST

Memories of the early days of the motion-picture industry were evoked by presentation before Judge McLucas of the complete file of the Mix divorce case. The complaint was filed by Mrs. Mix on September 22, 1916. Even from the rosy viewpoint of a wife seeking an alimony order, Mix's fortune then was only $33,000. His income Mrs. Mix estimated at $1000 per month, of which he earned $600 as a salary at the rate of $150 a week, and the balance by renting out his horses to producers.

In her present affidavit she says Mix is worth $3,000,000 and enjoys an income of $20,000 a week. His increased prosperity is cited as the main reason for an increase of the allowance for the child.

CHARGED DESERTION

The records show that Mrs. Mix obtained her divorce on a charge that Mix had deserted her on October 31, 1916. Their marriage date was given as January 10, 1909, and the place as Medora, N. D.

In 1921 Mix started proceedings to obtain custody of his daughter, who had been awarded to the wife in the interlocutory decree of divorce, granted April 24, 1917. In his supporting affidavit he related that he had been contributing far more than the $50 monthly for the child's support, levied against him in the decree, estimating his average monthly contribution as $150. These proceedings were dismissed.

In explaining his side of the story, Mix last night asserted he had provided every comfort for the child during the years and had added automobiles to other luxuries afforded her. He says he is anxious to have the girl receive a good education.

Health Officer Shows Need for Increased Fund

Health Officer Parrish yesterday sent a communication to the City Council calling attention to the recent grand jury report which showed the low cost of the city health department. Dr. Parrish said the report is the source of great satisfaction to the health department since many cities allocate 85 cents annually per capita for such departments, while Los Angeles now is appropriating only 58 cents.

Dr. Parrish said, however, that 68 cents per capita is necessary to meet the increased demands on the department. He will urge that in the preparation of the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 the Mayor and Council give consideration to the department's needs for additional personnel and increased salaries.

HOLD-UP LINKED TO MURDER PAIR

Clark and Salovich Said to Have Been Bandits

Slayer and Victim Identified in Redondo Robbery

Defense Plea Given Backing by Friend of Youth

Sheldon Clark of Los Angeles, who is said to have confessed to the murder of Don L. Salovich near Gunnison, Utah, and his victim, were identified by photographs yesterday as the men who held up a Redondo Beach storekeeper and his wife on December 29, last, and obtained $275 in cash and $2000 in jewelry.

SHELDON CLARK

Alexander Smith, who operates a grocery store at Cornelian and Gertrude streets, Redondo Beach, and his wife, were both positive in their identification of the pair as the ones who robbed them, according to Sheriff's officers.

Clews pointing to Clark and Salovich as the possible bandits were uncovered by Capt. Bright of the homicide department and his men while working on the case at the request of the Salt Lake City authorities. The checking of the automobile license of Salovich's car with the number taken by Smith as the license number of the car driven by the hold-up men revealed that they were probably the hold-up men, Bright stated.

PLEA CORROBORATED

"If Clark did commit the crime I am sure he did it in self-defense to save himself from an attack by Salovich," said Charles Walters, Ocean Park drug clerk, in a letter given to Capt. Bright yesterday. Walters went into detail concerning his knowledge of both men.

He also set forth that Clark had told him after he became associated with Salovich that the latter, who once was employed as a butler by Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin, wanted to put up the necessary financial backing for a business venture.

Clark and Salovich left this city Tuesday in an automobile and Friday Clark beat Salovich to death, when the latter attempted to attack him, according to his confession to Manti, Utah, and Salt Lake City authorities. The fight occurred near Gunnison after which Clark took the automobile and drove to Manti, Utah, where he was arrested. He had $2000 in his possession when taken into custody.

MONEY GIFT DENIED

Lloyd Wright, attorney for Charles Spencer Chaplin in his recent divorce suit against Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin, denied yesterday that he had ever given Salovich any money as was reported in wire dispatches from Utah quoting Clark.

"He most certainly did not obtain $15,000 from me," he said, "I never gave him a dime. I saw him two years ago when he asked my advice regarding an estate supposed to have been left him and I never saw him after that. He had no connection with any cases ever handled by me."

Reports of Salovich having been left a large estate in the south of France are considered mythical by authorities. His entire estate amounted to $11,200, it was said yesterday.

According to a petition for letters of testamentary filed in probate court yesterday by Jesse E. Jacobson, creditor and attorney, the slain man's estate consists of $5000 in cash, $5000 in notes and a $1200 automobile.

RECALL MOVE TO DRAG ON

Foes of Cryer Start Well-nigh Hopeless Task of Getting 18,766 More Signatures

Faced with the work of obtaining 18,766 signatures of registered voters within the next ten days in an effort to make the recall petition against Mayor Cryer sufficient to call a special election, proponents of the recall are scheduled to start today on their practically impossible task.

It was the general opinion at the City Hall yesterday that the present recall is dead, following the reading to the City Council of City Clerk Dominguez's report that the original recall petition is insufficient.

MANY NAMES LACKING

His report shows the petition as filed bore 36,067 names as asserted signatures and the check of these shows 13,313 genuine signatures of registered voters. A total of 32,079 signatures is required to call the recall election.

Under the law the proponents of the recall have ten days beginning today to circulate and file a supplemental petition. As even the most carefully circulated petitions shrink at least 20 per cent on checking, to be safe it will be necessary for the recall proponents to procure and file 23,000 or more signatures.

The filing of the City Clerk's report with the City Council precipitated a long discussion, although Assistant City Attorney Whitehead advised the Council that it has no power or authority to review the City Clerk's check.

ACTION PROPOSED

Councilmen Randall and Martin said some action should be taken against those recall petition circulators on whose petitions there were many forged signatures. City Clerk Domingues, however, pointed out that any such action for perjury against petition circulators should be brought to the attention of the grand jury, District Attorney or City Prosecutor by the recall proponents as they are the ones imposed on by petition circulators who swore to and filed purported signatures. City Clerk Dominguez said that he followed the requirements of the law and the charter in his checking, and Assistant City Attorney Whitehead verified the City Clerk's statement.

Mrs. Estelle C. Holman, who started the recall last summer filed a protest against the acceptance of the certificate of insufficiency, but the Council merely could file her protest.

Councilman Martin called attention to the fact that 22,754 names on the petition were thrown out in the checking.

"ONE OF THE WORST"

This was expected as the City Clerk's force said that the petition was "one of the worst ever filed at the City Hall." There were many errors in the precincting, which is done by the petitioners, as required by the charter, as well as the obvious forgeries.

The City Attorney is to determine whether the supplemental petition must be signed only by voters who have registered since Tuesday or whether voters of the old registration which ended December 31, also may sign it. In any event, it is considered at the City Hall that the recall proponents have an impossible task before them to obtain the necessary signatures before midnight of the 19th inst. which is the time limit for filing the supplemental petition.

HOOVER-STREET PROJECT AIDED

City Engineer Gets Orders to Find Out Costs

New Route South Proposed by Council Group

Hope Felt for Cutting Down Expense of Work

The great Hoover street opening and widening project, one of the largest in the major traffic street plan, was announced yesterday by the City Council, which instructed City Engineer Shaw to make engineering studies and obtain cost estimates for the route of the widening south from Thirty-second street to Exposition Boulevard.

North of Thirty-second street to the terminus of the improvement at Los Feliz Boulevard the route has been agreed on. The Council is hopeful that south of Thirty-second street a route can be worked out that will be satisfactory to the property owners in that section, and that will provide a wide traffic artery at a reduced cost over previously suggested routes.

ORDERS GIVEN

The entire Hoover-street opening and widening project is 3.4 miles in length, the street to make a 100-foot traffic artery throughout its length. The estimated cost of the widening is $3,448,200, toward which the city has agreed to appropriate $551,712, because of the general benefit to be derived.

The Council's action yesterday was taken on recommendation of the Street Opening Committee, made up of Councilman Shaw, chairman, and Councilmen Davis and Sanborn. The committee's report was to instruct the City Engineer to make surveys and cost estimates for the routing of the new Hoover street south of Thirty-second street, as follows:

"First—Extend Hoover street due southerly from Thirty-second street, passing to the west of the library instead of to the east, as originally contemplated; omitting the circle plan of treatment at Jefferson Boulevard, but including the circle plan at Exposition Boulevard.

"Second—Widen Royal street at a new width of seventy feet, between Thirty-second street and Jefferson Boulevard, as against the former width of ninety-two feet proposed for this section.

"Third—Widen Jefferson Boulevard between Royal street and University avenue by the acquiring of an additional ten-foot strip along the north side instead of the twenty-foot strip between Royal street and the proposed circle, as included in the present plan.

"Fourth—Extend old Hoover street northerly from Jefferson Boulevard to Thirty-second street, at a width of sixty-five feet. Old Hoover street dead ends on the north at Jefferson Boulevard, and it is felt that this additional extension joining with new Hoover street, as proposed to be widened, would be of great value to traffic.

IMPORTANT PROJECT

"Fifth—Widen McClintock avenue from Thirty-second street to Exposition Boulevard at a new width of eighty feet, including a new diagonal extension to connect Menlo avenue at Exposition Park Boulevard with McClintock avenue at Thirty-seventh street, and also including the extension of McClintock avenue from Thirty-second street northeasterly to Hoover street at Twenty-ninth street, the new width to be eighty feet.

"Your committee feels that the widening and extending of McClintock avenue is of particular importance and must of necessity be made, as this street is but fifty feet wide over all, and this, together with the fact that a car line traverses the same, renders it extremely inconvenient and dangerous to traffic.

"This extension also is included in the first unit of the major traffic street plan as a portion of the Fremont avenue extension, and it is, therefore, further recommended that when the engineer reports upon this extension he also submit a revised assessment district enlarged sufficiently to include the McClintock avenue extension with the Hoover street project.

COST ESTIMATES

"It also is recommended that the City Engineer be instructed to submit comparative estimates of cost covering the revised lines as herein suggested, as against the former lines, and also that he make a traffic study in conjunction with Ralph T. Dorsey traffic signal engineer, covering a plan for bringing Hoover street to a connection with Figueroa street at the angle point opposite Thirty-seventh Place, under which plan the proposed circle at Exposition Boulevard will not be required.

"Your committee is further of the opinion that the lines for widening and extending Thirty-second street and the lines of that portion of the Hoover street extension lying northerly of Thirty-second street be reconfirmed, in accordance with former instructions of the City Council."

SOUTHLAND COAST FAR OUT AT SEA

Los Angeles is a midland city located as far from the actual edge of the continent as it is from the Arizona State line, declared Dr. Oscar L. Triggs, Ph.D., member of the Seismological Society of America, in his address before an assemblage at the public library last night.

In explaining his statement Dr. Triggs pointed out that the actual coast line is located off the shore of Southern California, and that although it now is submerged, the islands off the coast are upper parts of it. The entire thing is moving upward, or surfaceward, at the rate of four feet a century.

Dr. Triggs also told of the cause of earthquakes, why California has had 2000 major and minor disturbances since the record of earth shocks was taken up. He pointed out, however, that Southern California is much more immune from major shocks than Northern California.

He also suggested means of fighting the earth shocks by earthquake-proof buildings and more thorough research.

CULT TO BE SUBJECT OF NEW INQUIRY

District Attorney Orders Investigation of Hindu Educational Center

Dist.-Atty. Keyes yesterday issued orders to his chief investigator, George Contreras, to start another inquiry into the rites and teachings of the Mt. Washington Educational Center, conducted by Swami Yogananda and Swami Dhirananda.

Following the conference with the District Attorney, Contreras said the investigation will be merely to establish if any juvenile laws are being violated at the Hindu cult headquarters. Other than that, he said, there will be no interference with the teachings of the religion.

"Several months ago," Contreras said, "this office made an investigation of the two Hindus and their practices. There was nothing criminal there. Unless juvenile delinquency is definitely established there probably will be no interference now."

Aged Man Held Over Two Checks

After having cashed two asserted valueless checks for $1500 each, and in the act of attempting to obtain a like amount from a third bank, Otis B. Gates, 74-year-old transient, formerly of Tulsa, Okla., was caught yesterday at the Bank of Italy, 501 West Seventh street, police report. He is booked on suspicion of forgery.

Gates had obtained $1500 from the First National Trust and Savings Bank, Seventh and Spring streets, and the same sum from the Merchants' National Bank across the street, according to police. They report he was about to receive several thousand dollars from the Bank of Italy, when officials there became suspicious and Detective Lieutenants Wells and Bates were called. Gates is said to have confessed his guilt.

Two Men Hurt in Auto Mishaps

Two men were taken to the General Hospital yesterday critically injured as the result of automobile accidents. They are Henry Pfanger, 80 years of age, who lives at 993 North Broadway, and Samuel Rainat, 79, an inmate of the Jewish Home.

Pfanger was struck at Main and Mott streets by a truck driven by C. J. Jordan, 814 East Twenty-ninth street. He has concussion of the brain and is suffering from shock. Rainat's skull and several ribs were fractured and he also has concussion of the brain. Both have slight chance of recovery, owing to their advanced ages, hospital authorities said.

EXPERT ON BIRD LIFE SUCCUMBS

Luther E. Wyman, County Museum Ornithologist Dies at Home in City

Luther E. Wyman, ornithologist and archeologist for the Los Angeles County Museum at Exposition Park for the last fourteen years, died last night at his home following a brief illness. He was 57 years of age.

Mr. Wyman was known throughout the United States as a bird lover and nature enthusiast, having for ten years been secretary of the Cooper Club, a national organization of bird-study experts, and for two years president of the club.

He was born in Sycamore, Ill. For a number of years he was a member of the Chicago Board of Trade. Following a nervous breakdown in Chicago he came to California and took up nature study. His first work here was in connection with the excavation of the La Brea pits on Wilshire Boulevard, which disclosed fossils of prehistoric animals.

Later, Mr. Wyman took over the ornithological work at the Los Angeles County Museum and was active in the nature-study department of the Los Angeles public schools. His friends included thousands of school-children to whom he had explained the life and habits of birds.

Besides his widow, Mr. Wyman leaves five brothers, Cecil, Edmund, Leonard, Vincent and Ralph, all of whom reside in the East. Funeral services have been set for 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Pierce Brothers' mortuary, 720 West Washington Boulevard.

THIS and many other costly situations might occur in connection with your estate if you fail to appoint a trust company as your Executor and Trustee

The reason is obvious. An individual Executor has outside interests demanding his attention...while a trust company's sole business is the economical and efficient management of estates. It will place you under no obligation to consult with our trust officers.

PRACTICAL RECIPES

RIPE OLIVES

A. E. S., Avon, Cal.: I do not [illegible] by mail. Please do [illegible] envelope.

Use ripe, well colored olives. Prepare a lye solution consisting of three ounces of lye to each gallon of water. Treat the olives in an earthenware or wooden bucket, and leave them in the lye until penetrated to the pit. This can be determined by making an olive open lengthwise for a demonstration of the color between the skin. Drain the olives and put in a fine weather container, covering the olives entirely to the top with the lye solution. They should remain in this solution for seven or eight days, depending upon the lye solution used with one gallon of water to each two gallons of solution to produce the olives. Stir occasionally to watch the treatment until the olives are soft enough to remove the pit. Then remove the olives to the water and change water daily, until the olives are no longer bitter. This will require from six to eight hours. Cover the olives with a salt brine of one pound of salt to the gallon of water. Keep the olives in this for three weeks. If the brine darkens after the first day, change it for fresh brine of the same strength.

Note—If the olives are to be placed in quart jars they must be processed or cold packed.

APPLE COBBLER

The printers sure got it twisted; herewith the recipe:

M. P., Van Nuys, Cal.: Mix five cupfuls of peeled and diced apples with three-quarters of a cupful of sugar. Two teaspoonfuls of ground cinnamon, half a teaspoonful of salt, and half a teaspoonful of ground mace. Place in a deep buttered baking pan, dot with three tablespoonfuls of butter, broken in small bits, and pour over three-quarters of a cupful of water. Cover with a short biscuit dough, brush with melted butter, cut three slits in the top and bake in a moderate oven twenty minutes. Pour over the syrup made by boiling three-quarters of a cupful of water with one and a half cupfuls of sugar and one tablespoonful of grated lemon rind.

PINEAPPLE SHERBET

J. H., Beverly Hills, Cal.: One can of grated pineapple, one quart of water, two cupfuls of sugar, and the juice of one lemon. Rub the pineapple through a strainer, put the sugar and water on to boil for five minutes, and set away to cool. Extract the juice from the lemon and mix this with the syrup, add the pineapple and juice and strain all through a thin muslin cloth. Turn into the freezer and proceed as for ice cream. This sherbet is also made by using instead of the pineapple fruit and juice, two tablespoonfuls of pineapple extract.

MAPLE LAYER CAKE

A. L. B., Los Angeles, Cal.: Beat to a cream one-third of a cup of butter, add one and a quarter cupfuls of sugar. When well creamed beat into them the well-beaten yolks of two eggs. Beat well, and add gradually three cupfuls of sifted flour, sifted with five level teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Add alternately with the flour two-thirds of a cupful of milk and one teaspoonful of vanilla. Beat well, pour into buttered and floured layer cake tins and bake in a moderate oven. Cover with maple frosting.

MAPLE FROSTING

Boil one cupful of maple syrup until it will spin a thread when dropped from the tip of a spoon. Beat the whites of two eggs stiff and dry and gradually beat into them the boiled maple syrup. Beat until cool and spread between the layers and over the top and sides. Decorate the cake with halves of walnut meats.

Mrs. A. L. B., Los Angeles: Note: There are many other cakes such as sunshine, sponge cake made with the yolks of eggs. If this is not the cake you want let me know and I will be glad to answer. You ask for recipes made with dried mushrooms without the use of tomatoes. You can use them in macaroni dishes, also in the Chinese dishes and other different ways. It is not necessary to use them with tomatoes.

MARSHMALLOW COCOANUT FROSTING

S. I. M., Long Beach: Twelve marshmallows, one cupful of granulated sugar, three tablespoonfuls of water, one egg white unbeaten, one can of cocoanut, southern style.

Cut the marshmallows with the scissors into small pieces, put the sugar, water and egg whites in a double boiler and beat with a rotary egg beater for seven minutes. After the water is boiling underneath. Remove from the fire, pour over the marshmallows and beat until thick. Stir in one-half of the cocoanut, spread quickly between the layers and on top of the cake and sprinkle over the top with the remaining cocoanut.

It is according to how thick you put the filling in the cake, as to how thick it is. Do not know just what kind of candy you mean by rocky road, as I am not a candy maker; but think if you will try this one, called chocolate marshmallow fudge, you will find it very nice.

CHOCOLATE MARSHMALLOW FUDGE

Two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of top milk, two squares of unsweetened chocolate, three tablespoonfuls of butter, one teaspoonful of vanilla, ten marshmallows, nuts.

Put the sugar, milk and chocolate in a saucepan; heat gradually to the the boiling point and let boil until the mixture will form a soft ball when tried in cold water. Remove from the fire, add the butter and as soon as the butter is melted, beat until creamy. Add the vanilla and fold in the marshmallows, cut into small pieces. Butter a shallow pan, strew with chopped nut meats, pour over the chocolate mixture, cool and cut in cubes.

WESTCOTT'S TRIAL RESET FEBRUARY 1

Life Sentence Recipient Again to Face Court on Charge of Patricide

Carl Westcott, charged with the murder of his aged father, Charles G. Westcott, October 20, 1926, will be tried in Superior Court a second time on the charge February 1, next. Superior Judge Hardy yesterday fixed this date for trial when Westcott was brought before him.

The defendant was once convicted of first-degree murder and was given a sentence of life imprisonment upon the recommendation of the jury. Later the conviction was reversed by the Appellate Court and a new trial granted.

The original conviction was obtained largely on circumstantial evidence. Prosecution attorneys charged that young Westcott killed his father to gain control of his estate after his father had cut off his allowance.

According to Westcott's own admissions when he was sentenced to Folsom prison, he previously had served a term in that institution and another in Stillwater penitentiary in Minnesota.

FILM-FIGHT CASE AGAIN POSTPONED

Prosecution Acquiesces in Delay for Nigh and His Servant Accused by Usher

Without protest, the prosecution yesterday acquiesced in the second continuation of the assault charges against William Nigh, film director, and his chauffeur, which were filed by Edward Usher, Jr., former Michigan football player. The case was called in Municipal Judge Baird's court.

The preliminary hearing was continued until the 23rd inst., on motion of Claire Woolwine, attorney for Nigh or Amil Kruscke, on the grounds that he is busy in another court. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Holland then supported the request. Counsel for Nigh also sought the first continuance December 12. It was explained Nigh was busy directing a picture for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios and would not be at leisure to attend his preliminary for four or five weeks. As in the case yesterday, the prosecution approved the continuance.

Usher, the complainant, was the only witness at yesterday's hearing, and his testimony required less than ten minutes. Nigh and his chauffeur, Burt Trowbridge, at liberty on $5000 bail each, were present and heard Usher accuse them of assaulting him with a gas pipe in Laurel Canyon on November 27.

Briefly, Usher testified he, Miss Jean Jarvis, dancer, and Hugh Anderson emerged from a residence in the canyon to be accosted by the defendants and an unidentified person, known in the complaint as John Doe. Anderson was backed against a tree with a revolver held by the third man while Usher was being beaten over the head by Nigh and Trowbridge, according to the deposition taken from the complainant following the asserted attack.

Usher said Nigh was jealous of him because he had won Miss Jarvis's affections. During the altercation, the dancer fled from the scene.

JURY HOLDS BEACH BOY FOR MURDER

Richard Haver, Who First Confessed Slaying, Then Denied It, Indicted

Richard Haver, who once pleaded guilty to the murder of Frank E. Foster, aged Long Beach man, and then changed his plea to not guilty, yesterday was indicted by the grand jury on the same charge and on a charge of burglary.

Haver is only 16 years of age, and is accused of beating Foster to death while robbing his home. In his asserted confession to officers, however, Haver said he did not strike the blow that killed Foster, but that the man fell and struck his head.

The indictment, according to court attaches, was issued to expedite Haver's trial, which, under the complaint issued by the District-Attorney, would have to be given a preliminary hearing before trial. With the indictment he can be brought to trial without a preliminary hearing.

Foster was killed September 6, 1927.

USE OF MAILS ASKED BY MEDICAL CONCERN

Hearing of an application made by the C. F. Aycock Medical Company for an injunction to prevent Postmaster O'Brien from interfering with its use of the mails was transferred yesterday by United States District Judge McCormick to Judge Henning. The latter will listen to arguments this morning. The company and its subs diaries were forbidden the use of the mails by Postmaster-General New.

RANSOME TAKES CALTECH CHAIR

New Instructor President of American Organization

Recognized as Authority on Leading Ore Fields

(By a "Times" Staff Correspondent)

PASADENA, Jan. 9.—Dr. Frederick Leslie Ransome, geological authority of international reputation and president of the American Society of Economic Geologists, has just arrived at the California Institute of Technology to take the chair of professor of economic geology, the institute announced today.

Dr. Ransome, the sixth member of the institute's geological staff, comes from the University of Arizona, where he has been teaching for the last four years. Before that he was a member of the United States Geological Survey for many years. While with the government he carried on a number of highly important investigations in mining districts and also was prominent in the administration of the department.

He is considered an authority on such mining regions as the motherlode district of California, the Bisbee and Globe districts of Arizona, the Goldfield and Terrington districts of Nevada, the Cripple Creek in Colorado and the Coeur d'Alene district of Idaho, and has published his findings in these regions. He is a graduate of the University of California and a member of the National Academy of Sciences.

Dr. Ransome will continue to carry on original studies in various mining districts while on the institute's staff.

STATE-BIRD CONTEST OPENS

Ornithological Club and Other Bodies Join in Plan to Select Official California Representative

In line with a movement throughout the United States to elect State birds, the Cooper Ornithological Club, the California Audubon Society and kindred organizations have announced the opening of a State-wide campaign for an official bird for California.

Schools, women's clubs, Boy Scouts, laws and is known and loved throughout California. Camp Fire Girls, men's service clubs, the Young Women's Christian Association and the Young Men's Christian Association and all organizations interested in the wild life of the State have been asked to co-operate and the movement is being sponsored by such persons as Dr. Joseph Grinnell, director of the Museum of Vertebrate Zoology at Berkeley, Dr. H. C. Bryant of the California Fish and Game Commission, Dr. C. C. Abbott of the Natural History Museum at San Diego; L. E. Wyman of the Los Angeles Museum of Science, History and Art, and many others.

Several States already have chosen official birds. Maine has the chickadee, New York the bluebird, Wisconsin the robin, Kansas the eastern meadowlark, Nebraska the western meadowlark, Texas the mockingbird, and Kentucky the cardinal.

CALIFORNIA'S PROBLEM

Then comes the problem of California's choice. The State bird committee believes the choice should be commensurate with the fact that California is a State greatly favored by nature with a history of great adventures and big achievements.

"Mt. Whitney, the highest mountain peak in the United States, is in California," the committee argues. "The Sequoia gigantea, the largest tree in the world, is native only of California. The condor, largest living species of bird life, is found nowhere else in America.

"Let us do the characteristic big thing in this campaign by choosing a native feathered son whose life is so exemplary that it lives under the protection of our Federal and State

CO-OPERATION URGED

"Emblems aid community of thought, unity of purpose and appeal to the special senses which they are intended to stimulate," continues the statement of the committee.

"Let us choose a State bird to represent our golden sunshine, our open-handed hospitality, our high aims and pride in the integrity and honor of California's State seal and her living emblems."

All organizations, whatever their creed, are cordially invited to join in this State-wide campaign, and are requested to send the name of their favorite feathered candidate to Mrs. F. T. Bicknell, chairman of the State bird campaign committee, 319 South Normandie avenue, Los Angeles.

Peace Proposal Originator Here

S. O. Levinson, Chicago attorney and author of a proposed readjustment peace plan adjusting German reparations and fixing amounts for Allied and inter-Allied war debts, is at the Ambassador.

His plan calls for a general world treaty under an agreement by nations not to make use of war for sixty-two years in the settlement of any difficulties.

Egg Stains

Soak egg-stained linens in cold water before they are washed. Hot water will set the stains and make them hard to remove.

'Bug' Tours to Find Solace in Golf Ban

Doctors have sent many a novice to the links for exercise and health, but here is a real golf "bug" who has been denied his favorite pastime by his physician.

He is Howard W. Perrin of Philadelphia, past president of the United States Golf Association. He and Mrs. Perrin came in from New York on the Dollar globe-belting liner President Van Buren yesterday for a rest.

"My doctor won't let me smoke, play golf or violate the Eighteenth Amendment. What else is there to do?" he sighed, steeped in pity for himself as he puffed on a black cigar.

Perrin will stop at the Biltmore and hunt up George Thomas, golf architect of Beverly Hills, and a lot of former Princeton "cronies." He will proceed to Honolulu in six weeks for more rest. He refereed the last match between George Von Elm and Bobby Jones in the East.

Actress to Face Car Death Trial Later in Month

Pleading not guilty to a charge of manslaughter arising out of an automobile accident in which Ethel Helen Knudson was killed last December, Hope Phillips, actress, and John Schultz yesterday heard the date of their trial set for the 27th inst. by Superior Judge Hardy.

Miss Knudson, according to officers, was struck by Schultz's automobile, driven by Miss Phillips, at Vermont avenue and Eighty-third streets. She was killed instantly.

Immediately after their arrest both Miss Phillips and Schultz stated another man was driving the automobile at the time of the accident, but he ran away. Later, however, officers said that Miss Phillips admitted that she was driving the car.

BOYKIN CASE SUBMITTED TO JURYMEN

Failure to Reach Verdict Results in Their Being Locked Up for Night

The fate of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Boykin, Lawrence J. Daw, Tom Williams and Fred Oliver, accused of embezzling Ford accessories from J. Benjamin Fahy, Los Angeles automobile dealer, last night was placed in the hands of a jury which failed to reach a verdict and was locked up for the night.

The trial came to a close yesterday afternoon in Superior Judge Edmond's court after three weeks of legal conflict. All but two days of this time was used by the prosecution attorneys, Fred Shelley and W. O. Russell, deputy district attorneys, who presented the evidence. The defense closed its case in less than forty-eight hours by placing the defendants on the stand and entering general denials to the charges.

Daw and Williams, Fahy's employees, are accused of having allowed actual discounts of 33 1-3 per cent to Boykin by supplying parts over and above the orders submitted when they were entitled only to 25 per cent. Fahy charged that he has lost approximately $11,000 from his storerooms through this method during 1926.

Tien Lai Huang, Entry for Flight, Lands at Beach

Completing his airplane tour of the United States, Tien Lai Huang, who proposes to fly from Los Angeles to Hongkong in May, landed at Long Beach at 5:30 a.m. yesterday from Salt Lake City.

TIEN LAI HUANG

"We have $130,000 subscribed for this proposed goodwill flight and it is all Chinese money," he said at the Rossiyn. "We expect to make the fund $160,000."

Huang is 32 years of age, a graduate of Peking and Syracuse universities and holds a doctor of philosophy degree from Columbia. He was delegate to the 1922 peace conference. He has spent the last five months in America, his longest flight being from San Francisco to St. Louis with three landings.

"The plane to be used on the attempt to China will be built by the Ryan Corporation of San Diego," he said, adding, "I expect to return to Los Angeles in April and hope to hop off early in May."

Another Beauty on Way to City

Miss Dale Austen, Australian beauty, who was selected as Miss New Zealand by popular vote in the dominion, is on her way to Hollywood. She left Honolulu on December 30, and is coming directly to Los Angeles.

DALE AUSTEN

Following her triumphs in a number of contests where the most beautiful girls in Australia strove for the honor of being named Miss New Zealand, the winner sailed from Auckland on December 20 aboard the Aorangi of the Union Steamship line. Ten days later she reached Honolulu, and after receiving a formal welcome to Hawaii, sailed to complete her journey to the cinema capital. Miss Austen's home is in Dunedin, Australia.

Lapique Fails in Final Effort on Land Claims

John Lapique, who from 1914 to 1925 established a record in filing cases on his own behalf in the local courts and, incidentally, lost every case, yesterday failed in an effort to get the Supreme Court of the United States to take action in his fight for title to land owned by the estate of Laurent Etchepare, of which Frank E. Walsh is administrator, near Elizabeth Lake, said to be worth $1,000,000. The court dismissed the appeal for lack of jurisdiction.

Lapique, who based his claim to the land on documents covering the De Leonis estate, subsequently purchased by Etchepare, acted as his own attorney during the hearing in the Los Angeles courts. In ten years he filed fifty-two actions in regard to his claims, eventually being imprisoned on charges of preparing false evidence regarding them.

Pair Deny Guilt in Fight Causing McCarty Death

Oscar Mullen and E. L. Church, charged with the murder of John McCarty November 26, 1927, yesterday pleaded not guilty to the accusation before Superior Judge Hardy. Their trial date was fixed for the 25th inst.

The two men are accused of shooting McCarty to death in a quarrel over Church's wife following a party at the home of F. H. Vaughan at which Mullen, McCarty and Clarence Weigand were present.

Weigand and Vaughan were freed of implication in the shooting, but will be called to the stand to testify.

Attorneys H. L. Geisler and Herman Shapiro represent Mullen and Church.

ARCHITECTS TO SEE PLAY

The annual meeting of the American Institute of Architects in Los Angeles will be held tonight in the new Windsor Square Theater of the Ebell Club, when students in the school of architecture of the University of Southern California are to present "The Melancholy Pierrot" as the entertainment feature of the gathering.

FLASHES

DIX GETS VEHICLE

STAR'S NEXT BY OWEN DAVIS; DUNCANS SEPARATE

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Richard Dix is to have a lot of stage money to spend during the next few weeks. Jesse L. Lasky announced yesterday that the Paramount star will shortly start work on his new production, "Easy Come, Easy Go."

The screen story will be adapted from the stage play of the same name by Owen Davis. Gregory La Cava, who has been responsible for the direction of many of the Dix successes, again will direct the star.

Duncans to Part

Those professional Siamese twins, the Duncan sisters, Vivian and Rosetta, are going to part, almost for the first time in their lives.

VIVIAN DUNCAN

According to report received yesterday, Vivian is to go to Italy for rest and vocal study, and Rosetta is to visit some friends on an Arizona ranch.

The talented sisters have been steadily at work for many years. At present they are in vaudeville, and will fulfill contracts at the Pantages theaters here and in San Francisco before taking a vacation. They arrive at home here within a fortnight.

The vacation will occupy only a few weeks, however, after which they will again join forces, this time in pictures.

Marshall Neilan Abroad

Unless negotiations fall through, Marshall Neilan will go abroad shortly to make a picture for a certain English producing firm. He will be accompanied by his wife.

Since the English law demanding that 10 per cent of all pictures exhibited in that country be British made, it is likely that many of our stars and directors will take a little jaunt abroad, especially as the law says nothing about who makes the pictures so long as they are made on British soil and financed with British money.

Charles Rogers With Universal

Universal is just bent on getting the cream of the players for "Cream of the Earth," it appears, and so it went as far afield as Paramount yesterday and signed up Charles Rogers to play opposite Marian Nixon.

CHARLES ROGERS

Mel Brown is directing the picture, with Arthur Shadur supervising. An especially strong cast will support the above principals, and Universal is planning to make the film one of the best of this year's output.

Carmel Myers Back

Maybe you don't know why Carmel Myers went east. She returned from New York Sunday and we found out.

Miss Myers, in addition to being a very successful actress, has gone and turned song-writer, several of her compositions have been purchased by Harms Publishing Company and by Leo Feist's organization, with most of them destined to be sung in Broadway shows during the next few months.

The player has lost fifteen pounds and looks very well indeed.

Lilyan Tashman in It

Now It Is "Street Angel"

The angels are popular in pictures these days—in titles. There have been "The Angel of Broadway," "Hell's Angel" and others, and now Fox has decided to call "Lady Cristalinda," which Frank Borzage is making, "The Street Angel."

Warners Sign Herbert

Having completed his first role in the Vitaphone sequence written by him for "Tenderloin," Hugh Herbert's option has been taken up by Warner Brothers, and the popular vaudeville actor and author is now a full-fledged member of the film colony.

Herbert is the holder of a unique contract, calling for him to write the Vitaphone dialogue of feature productions, to write one-act Vitaphone plays, and to act in both the feature pictures and the short plays. He has just completed a comedy for Vitaphone with Murray Roth.

Buddy's Father Disappointed

As much disappointed as the kid who is denied a trip to the circus at the last minute is B. H. Rogers, father of Charles Rogers. The reason is that Rogers, Sr., came west to view the opening of "Wings," with Charles in the cast, at the Biltmore on the 15th inst., but a wire from the newspaper in Olatha, Kan., of which he is editor, makes it imperative that he return home at once. So Buddy won't have his dad here to slap him on the back when the curtain falls on the premier screening.

Ewart Adamson Works

Ewart Adamson has begun work at his new desk at the Columbia studios, where he is writing the continuity of his original story, "A Lover in Damascus." No director or cast has yet been assigned.

Moses to Lead Democrats Out of Wilds Hunted

A Democratic Moses to lead America out of the political wilderness of "dollar diplomacy," as he put it, is the desire of Judge John Hessin Clarke of Cleveland, associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States during President Wilson's regime, who arrived from New York yesterday on the Dollar globe-belting liner President Van Buren. The former jurist indicated he would upset things considerably were he to be that Moses.

He quit the bench in 1922, he said, to battle for world peace and he wants peace so badly he is willing to fight for it, but not in Nicaragua.

The judge went on to San Francisco on the liner, where he will ship to Honolulu for a long rest.

SPRINTER TRAINS FOR LONG SOUTHLAND RUN

Dr. John Seiler, physical-culture expert, is scheduled to depart for San Diego today, where he will begin training for a nonstop run from San Diego to Los Angeles. He expects to start from San Diego on the morning of the 23rd inst. and estimates it will take him between twenty-two and twenty-four hours to thread his way through the traffic to a central point in Los Angeles. Recently Dr. Seiler completed a run from Atlantic City to Los Angeles. His efforts, he said, are put forth as informative of physical training and endurance.

GEN. CUSTER, WITH THE SEVENTH CAVALRY, NUMBERING ABOUT 600 MEN, A MULE TRAIN, 50 ARIKARA SCOUTS CALLED "REES", A FEW WHITE SCOUTS, AND ACCOMPANIED BY SOME NEWSPAPER MEN, LEFT GEN. TERRY'S CAMP ON THE POWDER RIVER ON JUNE 22, 1876. CUSTER SOON CAME TO THE INDIAN TRAIL LEADING TOWARD THE BIG HORN COUNTRY.

MOVING AT A RAPID PACE, THE COLUMN FOLLOWED THE TRAIL, WHICH WOUND THROUGH THE "BAD LANDS" AND INTO THE LITTLE BIG HORN MOUNTAINS. ABUNDANT SIGNS OF INDIANS WERE EVERYWHERE TO BE SEEN.

THE GENERAL CLIMBED TO THE TOP OF THE RIDGE WITH HIS SCOUTS, AND LOOKED INTO THE VALLEY OF THE LITTLE BIG HORN FAR OFF TO THE NORTH, THROUGH A HAZE OF SMOKE ROSE SKYWARD, THE SIGNS OF MANY CAMPFIRES, BETRAYING THE PRESENCE OF A BIG INDIAN ENCAMPMENT.

NEW RADIO HOUR ON AIR TONIGHT

Broadcaster's Applications More Complete

Wireless News Gleaned From World Points

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

A new sponsor to Don Lee's KHJ comes on the air tonight for its initial program, although the organization has consistently staged programs from various independent stations and networks the past two or three years.

Tonight the Maxwell House coffee program, the Cheek-Neal Company, will be on the air through KHJ from 8 to 10 o'clock. Hereafter the Maxwell program will be an hour broadcast each Tuesday evening at 8 p.m., immediately following the reading of minimum temperature reports for the citrus growers.

OPERATIC PROGRAM

The first hour of the Maxwell broadcast will find Pryor Moore leading the Maxwell concert orchestra in a program of light-opera hits, with Mary Brian and Ralph Riley as soloists of the program.

The second hour will be devoted to Southern melodies in which the orchestra will be assisted by the Gamut Four male quartet.

The Maxwell hours have everywhere become popular radio features. Nathaniel Shilkret, who conducts the Maxwell concert orchestra for its Eastern hour network programs, has written a new song hit, "Moments With You."

Their initial KHJ broadcast, this evening will be eagerly awaited with much interest by radio fans up and down the coast.

HISTORY OF STATIONS

The new application blanks which the radio stations are making out this week for renewals require the broadcasters to give an entire history of the station as well as full and intimate data regarding their methods of operation.

This will include the complete information from the date the license was first issued as well as a digest of the program structure, that is, the amount of time given to religious, commercial, educational, agricultural and fraternal programs.

More intimate details, perhaps, include whether the station hooks up with any chain; the extent direct advertising is used; whether prices are quoted via radio; whether time is sold, and so forth.

Then the commission also wants to know something about the finances of each broadcaster including the current quotation for talent, the net income, exclusive of talent, the weekly pay roll, number of hours on the air, printed program and other material in an effort to give the commission a complete history of each station in the country.

FRENCH AMATEUR CATCHES MADAGASCAR

VERNON (France) Jan. 9. (AP)—M. Pepin, local amateur, is the first to communicate by wireless with the French possession of Madagascar. He used a short wave length. The Governor-General of Madagascar has sent him a telegram of congratulations.

AMERICAN AMATEURS TO ENTER SENDING TESTS

HARTFORD (Ct.) Jan. 9. (AP)—Radio amateurs of the United States and Canada will participate in the second annual international transmission test next month.

Conducted under auspices of the American Radio Relay League, the test is held to enable communication with radio enthusiasts abroad. It is designed to promote international fellowship and good will and to permit amateurs to try for distance records.

WEATHER MAP TRANSMISSION LAGS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. (AP)—There is still need of improvement in the transmission by radio of weather maps, between shore and ship and between points on shore, Capt. T. T. Craven, chief of the naval communication service, declares in his annual report.

The equipment at present does not give enough detail nor is it sufficiently rapid, the report states.

FATHER OF RADIO NOT INTERESTED NOW

PARIS, Jan. 9. (AP)—Wireless is out of fashion for Edouard Branly, who in France is credited with being the "father of radio." Branly doesn't even have a set. It doesn't amuse him and it doesn't interest him. "I no longer follow the improvements in it. My researches are in another direction," he said.

STATISTICIANS WILL HEAR PROF. TITUS

Prof. Charles H. Titus of the University of California at Los Angeles will speak at a meeting of the Western Statistical Association tomorrow evening on the twelfth floor of the Brack Shops Building. Among other things, he will tell how statisticians estimate the population of cities in the absence of an authoritative census by the Federal government. The meeting is to be open to the public, it is announced.

WOMEN INDORSE BILL TO AID WAR OFFICERS

TYSON-FITZGERALD MEASURE GIVEN BACKING AFTER TALK BEFORE CLUB

Support of the Tyson-Fitzgerald bill for the retirement of disabled emergency army officers of the World War was urged yesterday by Capt. Joseph T. Watson, member of Hollywood Post, American Legion, in a talk before the Hollywood Woman's Club at a luncheon meeting at the Camel Inn.

Failure to provide retirement benefits for the small body of disabled emergency officers is the single exception to the universally fair treatment accorded to American soldiers by the government throughout history, Capt. Watson said.

At the conclusion of his address the club passed a resolution indorsing the measure, providing that a copy of the resolution be brought to the attention of the California legislators in the Senate and the House of Representatives, and urging the Republic Central Committee to pass a similar resolution. Mrs. H. G. Redwine presided.

NEW RICHES BLAMED FOR LOVE WRECK

Wife Says Mate's Sister, Married Millionaire and Then Broke Up Her Home

Charges that the marriage of Thomas Ball, an attorney, was broken up by the machinations of his sister, Mrs. Jessie Ball Dupont, wife of Alfred Dupont, said to be a member of the wealthy eastern family of that name, are contained in an answer filed yesterday by Mrs. Mary Ball to the divorce suit Ball instituted here recently.

Recent acquisition of wealth by Ball's sisters, Mrs. Dupont and Mrs. Elsie Ball Wright, is cited by Mrs. Ball as one of the reasons for their asserted interference with her family affairs. According to the answer, they "feel that their recently acquired wealth gives them unlimited right to interfere with the lives and destinies of other persons."

The answer was filed for Mrs. Ball by Attorney Lorrin Andrews.

The couple will meet in court on the 19th inst., when Mrs. Ball's application for temporary alimony of $500 a month will be heard.

Seven others, assertedly implicated in the same case, pleaded guilty to the charge. The five are Lieut.-Col. Bruce Butler, Maj. Donald McRae, Maj. Harry Brown, Joseph Walsh and M. A. Morrison.

STORM DRAIN CAUSES GRIEF

San Diego Councilmen Row Over Cost

Charge Made That Former Administration Erred

Property Owner Scores Officials' Methods

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 9.—Arguments of property owners protesting against paying for an expensive storm drain on Atlantic street gave Councilman Frank Seifert opportunity again to launch accusations against a former city administration of making mistakes proving costly when it developed before the common Council this morning that the Atlantic-street property owners are to pay for a drainage system intended, it was stated, to drain the greater part of Mission Hills.

"This is the third time this Council has been called upon to pay for engineering mistakes by a former Council, some costing as high as $15,000, and there is no telling how many more are to bob up before we are through," Seifert declared.

"Why don't you suggest something that can be done?" Councilman McMullen asked.

"I have several times and didn't get to first base, even," Seifert replied.

When Seifert further stated that the seat of the trouble was caused by city employees and engineers going outside their official duties to take up private practice, Mayor Clark hushed further anticipated outbreak by saying that such conditions at the City Hall have been eliminated entirely.

H. D. Sharples, one of the protesting property owners, also "started something" when he declared that he "found it hard to get anything done in San Diego for the reason there are so many interferences with plans.

"When I started this Atlantic-street improvement I worked for weeks and weeks to make it a go. I found that a majority of the property owners wanted concrete paving, but instead we were made to take black paving.

"When it came to installing ornamental lights I was told we would have to take marbelite, as there was an understanding between the marbelite and the metal standard people that they had the town divided, one part going to marbelite and another to metal standards. I wanted metal posts, but we had to take marbelite."

When asked by Councilman Maire, who was responsible for his accusations, he named the former City Manager and Engineer.

Other property owners entered protests against paying for the storm drain installed. One protestant was insistent that the drain cost $47 per foot and that it "was of no use to anybody."

The Council finally overruled all protests and on a suggestion that the property owners be rebated from the emergency fund for a part of the storm-drain cost, refused to entertain any such motion.

Oil Men in Fall With Airplane

TAFT, Jan. 9. — Charles S. Franklin, assistant geologist for the Associated Oil Company in the Kern River oil field, and P. S. Stark of the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company in Taft, will recover from injuries they received Saturday evening when they fell 100 feet to the ground in Franklin's airplane, unless unforeseen complications develop in their wounds, it was stated by physicians at the West Side Hospital today.

Both men were badly hurt when the plane went into a nose dive over the Taft Airport while Franklin was taking Stark on a flight over the city. Stark probably will lose the sight of one eye, his most serious injuries being to his face. Franklin received a cerebral concussion and a fracture of the nasal bone, but his condition was not described as dangerous today.

The injured men were extricated from the wrecked plane by visitors at the airport who witnessed the crash, and were taken to the hospital where they were treated by Dr. Charles Hawkins.

Ontario Votes on Bonds Today

ONTARIO, Jan. 9.—Whether Ontario will support a $75,000 bond issue for providing further school facilities for the rapidly growing school population will be decided tomorrow when qualified voters of the school district go to the polls to vote on the issue.

The bond issue, if successful, will provide the following additional facilities, according to C. W. Randall, Superintendent of Public Schools: An addition to Lincoln school to cost $20,000; a new site in the northeast section of Ontario to cost $10,000; a new site for a Mexican school to cost $10,000; a new building for Mexican school to cost $85,000. Increase of school children in six years was 1010, according to Superintendent Randall. Estimated enrollment in 1928 is 2400 and will be 3600 in 1929, said Mr. Randall.

Should this estimate prove correct, a new eight-room building will be needed by September, 1930, in addition to the building program proposed through the $75,000 issue this year.

ANOTHER LANDMARK ON HIGHWAY DOOMED

DUARTE, Jan. 9.—Another Monrovia-Duarte landmark that has stood for many years, was being destroyed today in the cutting of the huge oak tree on the north side of Huntington Drive near the east city limits.

Said to be more than 500 years old, this tree is being cut down by the owner, E. H. Bode., now living on East Lemon avenue for the State Highway Commission, who will start soon to improve that road. The tree has been dead for some months, and was declared a public menace. Recently, the city started action to have the tree removed, but the work was not started when it was learned that the State Highway Commission would cut down the tree, which will be used for firewood.

FIRE BURNS UP OLD VALLEY HOME

Wendell Wiser, Runaway Ontario Youth, Wiser When Parent Arrives With Deputy Sheriff in Response to Telegram

ONTARIO, Jan. 9.—It's a pretty hard proposition for a son to "slip something over on his mother and get away with it."

Wendell Wiser, 501 South Laurel avenue, is back home today and is a wiser Wendell Wiser than he was yesterday. Early last week Mrs. Wiser appealed to Ontario police to help her find Wendell, her 15-year-old son, who, she said, had run away from home. Rudolph Flick, 15, of Cucamonga, was supposed to be in his company. Saturday evening Mrs. Wiser received a telegram from her son. It came from Brawley and made a short, strong plea for $10. She wired back that she could not send it then, but it would be at the telegraph office in the morning.

Then she and her daughter and Deputy Sheriff J. A. Larson made a night run to Brawley, and when the telegraph office opened Sunday morning the $10 was there, but it was in Mrs. Wiser's purse. Wendell was extremely surprised at the reception committee awaiting him and at once expressed penitence for his act.

Deputy Sheriff Larson was eager to find Flick also, as he carried a warrant for his arrest on a charge of forgery. The boys parted company Thursday, Wiser told the deputy sheriff.

Another Ontario youth wants to find Flick. He loaned a pair of his best pants to the youth and they haven't come home yet.

FIRE REPORTS FLATTERING

Past Year's Losses in San Diego Ninety Cents a Person and But $1.38 Per Capita at Tulare

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 9.—San Diego's fire loss per capita in 1927 was the lowest in city history, being less than 90 cents per person, according to Fire Chief Louis Almgren, who is preparing his annual report for submission to the Mayor and Council. The Fire Chief considers this record about the best in the United States, and he looks for as good, if not better, a record this year, because, he says, three new fire stations will be built and equipped with modern apparatus by May 1.

The new stations now building are Five Points, Normal Heights and Woolman avenue, Logan Heights. Two new fire engines have been ordered for two of these stations, while an old engine has been entirely made over in the local shops for the other new station, the Chief said.

With the new stations in operation in May, the Chief is of the opinion that fire insurance rates in those districts may be lowered by next fall.

The new central fire alarm station in Balboa Park also will be ready for operation by May 1, the Chief said.

TULARE PROTECTED AGAINST CONFLAGRATION

TULARE, Jan. 9.—With a total fire loss of only $8501.25 during the year 1927, with all but a few hundred dollars covered by insurance, Tulare is regarded as one of the best and most adequately protected cities of its size in California. Based on the latest population estimate of 6200 people, the city fire loss is only $1.38 per capita.

Figures for the year were prepared by Fire Chief B. E. Rounsaville for submission to City Manager W. J. Andrews.

A total of only forty-four alarms were turned in during the twelve months, an average of less than one a week. Of these, only five fires resulted in damage amounting to $10,000. In only eleven instances was there damage exceeding $50, majority of the alarms being for small kitchen blazes and automobiles with faulty ignition circuits.

Only one false alarm was recorded and that was during the annual Halloween pranks.

The volunteer firemen "strung" over a mile of hose in battling fires during the year. Most of the small blazes were controlled without water, a total of 475 gallons of chemicals being being used for this purpose.

Of the forty-four alarms turned in, forty came by telephone and only four from the boxes. The 1927 fire loss is the lowest for several years. A number of improvements have been made in the water system and in fire fighting equipment of the city and every precaution will be taken during 1928 to maintain this high record.

The body of Compton, slumped down in the seat, was found at daybreak today by police officers.

Compton left a note explaining, "My wife is Emma Compton. She has brought an action in Judge Albaugh's court for hearing Monday. Her attorney is Mr. Cox."

Mrs. Compton, residing in San Bernardino, had filed suit for divorce, charging cruelty. She had also asked that Compton be restrained from taking their child out of her custody, as she said he had threatened to do.

Blackburn Tells Improvement in Steel Industry

PASADENA, Jan. 9.—General business prospects for the country in 1928 are good, according to indications as received by the steel industry, says W. W. Blackburn of Pittsburgh, veteran official of the United States Steel Corporation, who arrived in Pasadena today to spend the winter at the Hotel Huntington.

"Conditions in the steel trades are showing steady improvement," he said today. "Large orders are coming in from the railroads which anticipate demands for more rolling stock to handle greater volumes of business. Other industries, including the automobile, are likewise active.

"In general, conditions are as good as those at the start of 1927, and in some cases better. The only steep-tion of prominence is the oil industry, which is slowing up on account of past overproduction."

Blackburn entered the steel business when Andrew Carnegie was starting his rise to fame and power. He is an enthusiastic Southern Californian every winter and has been coming here for the last eight years.

The youths when arrested produced proof that they had purchased the car in Utah, but had not received a registration certificate or bill of sale. The authorities then started an investigation to determine whether authority had been received for driving the car out of Utah.

COURTHOUSE BIDS LOW

San Bernardino Supervisors Reject All Offers Made for Old County Building Site

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 9.—When bids fell $75,000 below the minimum price of $250,000 fixed as the value of the property the Board of Supervisors today rejected all offers received on the abandoned Courthouse site in the center of the downtown district.

The property, at the corner of Court and E streets, was placed up for sale on the auction block, the Supervisors asking bids on the entire site or on parcels of twenty-five-foot frontage. The total of the bids for the individual lots was $155,000, and the highest bid on the property received was made by F. E. Page, a real estate broker, who offered $175,000.

The Supervisors will probably call another auction within the next three months when the property will again be offered for sale. On appraisals of experts the Supervisors fixed a minimum of $250,000 as the valuation of the property, on which stood San Bernardino county's first Courthouse, erected in 1874. The building was abandoned a year ago when the new $500,000 structure was dedicated.

CITIZENS ACT ON FEES

Two Meetings Held in Ventura County Protest Assessor's Action

VENTURA, Jan. 9.—In two cities of this county the case of Assessor Jasper Barry, who is withholding $59,000 in fees that have been allowed him under a Supreme Court ruling, was the theme of two protracted secret sessions today. This forenoon the legislative committee of the county Chamber of Commerce met at Santa Paula behind closed doors and discussed many phases of the issue involved.

Mr. Barry and his attorneys, Clarke and Bowker of Los Angeles were present. The committee was augmented by representatives of the American Legion, Farm Bureau and other organizations and by a number of representative large taxpayers from various parts of the county.

No definite action was taken by the committee other than to name a smaller committee to appear before the Board of County Supervisors, in session at Ventura, and cry to arrive at some agreement as to a course to be pursued.

While no statement was forthcoming from any of the sessions, it is understood that an effort is being made to induce Mr. Barry to return voluntarily to the county treasury the $59,000 in fees so far withheld and to agree not to withhold others until the present faulty State law may be amended. Recall, the possible filing of criminal charges and a resolution by the Supervisors declaring the Assessor's office vacant, are steps that have been suggested by various organizations in case no agreement is reached with Mr. Barry.

SANTA ANA, Jan. 9.—How a mild-mannered cow won a traffic argument with two automobiles was written between the lines of an accident report filed at the Sheriff's office today by M. D. Sheely, 1118 Oak street, Santa Ana.

The cow, which belongs to Fred Stine, Bueno Park dairyman, was peacefully browsing off the asphalt south of that town last night when automobiles rushed upon her from opposite directions.

Bossy wasn't as sleepy as she appeared, according to Sheely's report. Noting the flank movement being executed against her, she leaped nimbly from the path of one car and concentrated against the other, which was being driven by Sheely.

The cow was unhurt but Sheely's car was badly wrecked.

HERE'S A MAN

A fellow who made last than $1500 in 1926 has earned more than $30,000 in 1927. That's the result of careful training and intensive effort. Now that man is showing others how it is done.

We teach the selling business to any young man who is free from bad habits and who is not muscle-bound above the ears. We can multiply the income of any man who has the stick-to-it-iveness to attend eight evening classes. There is a call for him at the end of that period or he is free to go to work for others. There is no charge for the schooling we give you.

Last year we ran a similar series of sessions, got thirty men and paid out nearly a quarter of a million dollars to that crowd in twelve months. We hope to pay out more this year.

Every evening at 7:30, except Thursday and Saturday evenings. Apply Superintendent.
